The Postmaster's Fleet.
With Hoover Sincerely.
The Pope on Education.
Charlie Boston Leaves.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MR. BROWN, Postmaster General, suggests a $78,000,000 program to build a fleet of North Atlantic super-ships for American passengers and mail.

The Postmaster demands "a service which could compete with any foreign flag service on the North Atlantic."

AMERICANS will congratulate Postmaster Brown and President Hoover on that proposition, and hope that they will not only compete with, but eclipse every foreign service on the North Atlantic and everywhere else.

Why should a country with the best engineers, from the President down, and with more money than anybody else, ever play second fiddle, on the ocean, or in the air.

PRESIDENT HOOVER believes "the great majority wish him full success." And he is right. Whoever does not wish him success is a poor American.

But to wish the President success, to respect his ability, and honor his devotion to the public welfare, does not, of course, necessarily, involve agreement with all methods.

THE President believes in commissions, "boards" of inquiry. They are useful. No man can be in several places at once.

But the greatest leaders, while they have appointed commissions, have done their own deciding, taking all responsibility, from Genghis Khan, conquering through Asia and Europe, to Theodore Roosevelt, building the Panama Canal, regardless when he made up his mind that it ought to be built.

Cromwell let Milton write letters for him. But Cromwell told Milton what to say, and he signed them "Cromwell."

No education can be sound, the Pope says, if it is founded on "negation of original sin."

The Pope condemns co-education and sexual education.

THE church, according to the Pope, is supreme in education, taking precedence over the family and the state.

THE late Charlie Boston, New York Chinese merchant, head of an important "tong" and doubtless in heaven at this moment, neglected no precautions.

Two Chinese bands accompanied him to the grave, to keep away evil spirits, and bits of paper were scattered along the route, perhaps with prayers written on them, to frighten the evil spirits more thoroughly. Two Chinese bands should have sufficed.

RICE, wine and chicken were placed in Mr. Boston's grave, with the body, that he might need nothing.

A Presbyterian clergyman, Chinese, read the Christian burial service.

It was planned to have a Taoist priest go through a Chinese ceremony to make sure, but no Taoist priest could be found.

Few arrive at the heavenly gates with such a good start.

A LONG ISLAND company will run "seeing New York airplanes" charging passengers one cent a pound, $2 for the fat man, $1 for the thin girl. That will help aviation and encourage temperate eating.

STEPHEN HARKNESS, public spirited Yale graduate, heir to a gigantic fortune, agrees to complete Yale's housing plan, which involving five new triangles, cost about $25,000,000.

MR. HARKNESS has already given ten millions to Harvard.

It is a good thing to have many drops of water collected at Niagara. Dropping together, they produce power.

It is a good thing to have many millions, collected in one bank account. Like Niagara's drops, those dollars have power, that small groups of dollars lack.

REPORTING to Congress through the President, Mr. Wickersham and his board of inquiry asks few jury trials, "tighter padlocking," to aid the dry law, and the transfer of prohibition enforcement from the Secretary of the Treasury to the Attorney General.

The commission expresses no definite opinion as to the wisdom of prohibition, taking that, apparently, for granted, and confining itself to methods of enforcing the law.

COLUMBIA COLLEGE in New York decides to approve the German language in spite of the war. Hereafter French and German will rank above Spanish and Italian in requirements for the bachelor's degree.

It was idiocy, war or no war, to discourage study of language that alone makes Goethe, Schiller and Heine accessible.

4 FIRED UPON AS ROBBERY SUSPECTS

Three of Prisoners Fled Home Here, Say Police; Found In Stolen Car at Latrobe

Four boys, three of whom escaped from the Juvenile Detention Home in Oakland last night, were arrested at the Latrobe (Pa.) flying field at noon today after, police say, they had robbed a Wilkinsburg store, stolen two autos and had been fired upon by a policeman.

This is the report on the boys made by Capt. McLaughlin, of the State police, stationed at Greensburg.

Escaping from the home, they made their way, with a fourth boy, to Wilkinsburg, where they stole a roadster in Stoner way.

FIRED UPON

They entered the F. P. Jones furniture store at 744 Penn avenue, by forcing a window.

They were loading loot valued at $700 in their stolen car when Patrolman Bliss Zoner saw them and fired a half-dozen shots.

They escaped, and abandoned their car. In the rear of 317 Trenton avenue, Wilkinsburg, they stole the auto of O. K. Johnson.

CAUGHT AT FLYING FIELD

They drove eastward. At the flying field state highway patrolmen saw them, recognized the stolen car and took the boys.

They said they were on the way to Reading.

They admitted the escapades, Capt. McLaughlin reported.

The boys will be turned over to Allegheny county detectives. They were arrested on January 8, suspected of stealing autos and robbing homes.

They are listed as Ivan Trainor, 15, and his brother, George Trainor, 13, of Cresson street, Wilkinsburg; and Joseph Rousseau, 15, of Mill street, Wilkinsburg, reported to have escaped from the Home; and Charles Brennan, 15, of Soho street, Pittsburgh.

2 LOST FLIERS' BODIES FOUND

COLCHESTER, Conn., Jan. 14.—(INS.)—The bodies of Pilot Daniel Marra and Observer William Kirkpatrick, who took off Friday morning from Farmingdale, N. Y., on an altitude test flight, were found in a woods on the shore of Lake Amston.

Their plane had burned, apparently when the crashed.

Max Lewally, superintendent of the Amston Lake Club, discovered the plane today when he started a search in an isolated section somewhat beyond the clubhouse.

The district where the plane crashed is one of the wildest in New England. The spot on which the plane crashed bears out the tips given yesterday by residents of the Great Hill district some miles to the west, who saw a plane struggling northeastward and watched it until the ship had cleared the mountain and gone out of sight.

DR. ROBINSTEEN FIGHTS DIVORCE

A bill of particulars is asked by counsel for Dr. Carl H. Robinsteen, well-known Schenley Farms physician, who has been sued for divorce.

Mrs. Robinsteen, a native of he Argentine capital, and Dr. Robinsteen were married February 26, 1925, in Paris. They separated last November 23.

Friends revealed that Mrs. Robinsteen was working as a salesgirl in a downtown gift shop, although she is reputed to be heiress to a vast Argentine fortune. Fellow workers declared she gave up her job two weeks ago She refused to discuss the case.

The husband is represented by Attorney Delmont K. Ferree, according to the libel.

Canary Sold in Error, His Mistress Seeks Him

"Mike," the pet canary of Mrs. C. G. Summers, of 240 Lemoyne avenue, is inadvertently occupying a strange cage, and his mistress is very anxious to get him back.

Just a few days before Christmas Mr. Summers took "Mike" to a pet shop in Smithfield street, where he was to be "boarded" during the holidays.

When he called at the shop Saturday to take "Mike" home he was told that a young clerk had sold him to a customer as one of the shop's birds.

"We have had Mike for three or four years and I became very much attached to him," Mrs. Summers said today. "He was a lovely singer. I am just sick about losing him.

"If the person who got him sees this article in the paper I am sure he will bring Mike back. The man at the store said he will give another bird to the buyer instead of ours."

"Mike" is a yellow canary with dark coloring on wings and head.

DEAN GOW HEADS FALK PITT FUND

Will Direct Expenditure of $10,000,000 Memorial to Philanthropist's Late Wife

Dr. J. Steele Gow, dean of administration of the University of Pittsburgh, will become director of the newly-created Falk Foundation. The formal announcement is expected in a few days.

Dr. Gow, confidant of Chancellor John G. Bowman and for 15 years identified with the administrative functions of the school, is expected to take over his new task within a few weeks.

The foundation, whose establishment was announced recently is a $10,000,000 memorial by Maurice Falk, philanthropist, to his late wife, Mrs. Laura Falk.

Seven managers functioning as a board wil expend the entire amount during the next 35 years for general welfare. The directorship, if patterned after the recent Buhl Foundation, will cover the executive direction of policies and expenditures as laid down by the board. Dr. Gow had had the confidence of the university in directing many of its staff activities since the ascendancy of Dr. Bowman to the chancellorship. He was a student of the university, graduating early in the last decade.

GLADYS MAE PARKS BAKER

Mrs. Baker, former night club hostess whose trial for the death of two little children is underway today at Camden, N. J. She protests her innocence and the state asks the death penalty.

'SPHINX' SLAYER TRIAL RUSHED

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 14.—Gladys Mae Parks Baker, the "sphinx woman" on trial for the murder of two babies, is manifesting no emotion over prospect of a conviction that would mean for her possibly death in the electric chair.

As calmly as if she were a spectator at a talkie melodrama, she sat in the Camden Criminal Court and listened languidly to Prosecutor Clifford A. Baldwin, in his opening address to the jury, portray her as "a cold-blooded murderer," "a sneaky, tricky, vicious woman," "a liar" and "the killer of two innocent babies."

The so-called "iron woman" is accused of killing two little children—Dorothy Rogers, 4, and Timothy Rogers, 2, children of Alan Rogers, an insurance agent of Woodbury, who had intrusted the babies to her care.

With machine-like rapidity a jury of 12 men was selected to try the woman. Then, with the characteristic speed of "Jersey justice" the prosecutor launched into his opening address and before the first day's session was over testimony got under way.

The first witness called to the stand was a little girl of 11, Genevieve McGuire, of National Park. It was Genevieve who found the skull of Dorothy in the laundry sheet that led to Miss Parks' identification.

WJAS MAY GET HIGHER WAVE

Transfer of a Philadelphia wavelength to this territory may solve the radio interference problem here. This was indicated today in the tests being made by W. J. Clearman, investigator for the Federal Radio Commission.

The WJAS wave of 232 meters may be exchanged for a higher wavelength of a Philadelphia station or perhaps the old wavelength of 285 meters now being used on the Pacific coast, it was suggested.

While the investigator refuses to commit himself, it is apparent that WJAS must be moved to a higher wavelength, between KDKA and WCAE, if conditions are to be improved.

Last night the investigator tested signals downtown, in Knoxville and in Wilkinsburg, and also visited the WCAE transmitting plant in the South Side. Today he will inspect WJAS on the Steubenville pike, near Crafton.

ARBITRATION EFFORTS IN STRIKE FAIL

Emergency Drivers' Permits Refused; 100 Cabs to Run Tomorrow, Officials Say

The Yollow and Green Cab Companies today sought to break the strike of 1,400 drivers by manning cabs with men recruited here and in Philadelphia with these results:

Twenty-three drivers and guards were arrested for not having city drivers' permits and held for a hearing in Traffic Court.

A dozen of those arrested were attacked on leaving Central Police Station by striking drivers, who hurled stones, nuts and bolts.

Cab company officials appealed in vain to Public Safety Director James M. Clark to waive the city ordinance requiring drivers to have permits, and were informed that all applications for such permits filed would be carefully scrutinized.

Efforts at arbitrating the differences on the new wage scale, which caused the strike, were unavailing.

The companies announced they would not attempt to operate cabs after nightfall, but would have 100 cabs in service tomorrow.

As Yellow and Checker cabs appeared on the streets today, police, on orders of Superintendent Peter P. Walsh, searched all drivers and arrested those who could not show city drivers' permits, With each driver was a guard.

Within two hours, 23 men had been arrested. Forfeit of $15 each was posted by a representative of the cab companies pending a hearing before Magistrate W. J. Soost in Traffic Court tomorrow.

GROUP ATTACKED

As a group of the men were leaving Central Station, police reported, a group of strikers hurled stones, brickbats and bolts at them in front of 51 Water street. Before aid could reach them, the group had dispersed. No one was injured.

Negro Cadet at West Point Among 64 Discharged

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Sixty-four cadets, including Alonzo Parham, Negro, of Chicago, were honorably discharged from the United States Military Academy today because of failure to pass mid-term academic examinations, Maj. Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent, announced.

Examinations were held for 137 cadets who were deficient in one or more subjects, Gen. Smith said. Forty-eight of those who failed to pass were members of the plebe or freshman class and the remainder were sophomores.

All of the cadets who were discharged also failed to pass the written general review held early in December, he said.

Cadet Parham was appointed to the academy by Congressman De Priest, Negro, of Chicago.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Representative Oscar De Priest, Negro Republican of Illinois, who appointed Alonzo Parham, Negro, to West Point, said today that he would appoint another Negro to the academy if Parham actually had been dropped for failing to pass his mid-term examinations.

"I understand that Parham has 60 days in which to make up his credits," De Priest said.

ALL CASES IN SAME FAMILY

Freeport Child, 9, Suffers Attack of Malady Blamed For Grandmother's Death

Another probable case of parrot fever developed today at Freeport, where Mrs. William Shields, 51, died Saturday presumably of the disease, and her daughter, Elaine, 18, is critically ill of the same malady.

Dr Charles A. Rogers, called last night to the bedside of Mary Walker, 9, a grandchild of Mrs. Shields, stated that the child shows symptoms similar to those of the other patients.

The Walker girl's illness was [illegible] following a consultation of Dr. C. B. Maits, director of the Pittsburgh Department of Health; Dr. W. H. McCaskey, of the bureau of infectious diseases, and Dr. T. N. McKee, director of health of Armstrong county, with Dr. Rogers at Freeport. It was learned by the physicians that all three victims had handled the sick parrot which was purchased in Pittsburgh, December 23.

REPORTS CALLED

Dr. Maits and the state health department representatives for Allegheny, Armstrong and Butler counties today will require physicians to report all cases where the symptoms and the environment of the patient indicate a possibility of the development of parrot fever. At the same time provision was made for the isolation of these cases and a thorough investigation by health authorities.

"Provision has not as yet been made for enforcing a quarantine," said Dr. Maits, "but we have arranged to post warning cards and write in the name of the disease. While it is an accepted fact that humans contract the disease from birds, the fact has not been so well established that it cannot be communicated from one person to another.

"This is the first opportunity we have had to study what in every respect appears to be a typical case of psittacosis (parrot fever), and the results should be valuable in medical science."

A search is being made for two other parrots which were sold by the same Pittsburgh dealer from whom William Shields bought the bird as a Christmas present for his mother.

"I noticed that the bird's feathers were ruffled and that it seemed to be suffering from a cold," said Shields. "Two other birds, which the dealer said had been received in the same shipment from South America, appeared to be suffering in the same manner. The dealer said it had a slight cold and that it soon would recover. I bought the bird and have been told that he sold the others. We hold nothing against the dealer. He knew nothing of its true condition or of the consequences."

2ND TOLEDO VICTIM DIES

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Miss Catherine Tierney, 67, housekeeper at the Good Shepherd Church pastoral residence, who died in a hospital here yesterday, is believed to be Toledo's second victim of parrot disease.

MAKE WIDE SURVEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—A nation-wide survey of the reported epidemic in some sections of the country of psittacosis or parrot malady was ordered today as four more cases were reported in New York and possible cases were uncovered in other sections of the country.

More than 30 cases have been reported throughout the country.

The death of one and the illness of four other members of a Queens Borough family was attributed today to psittacosis by Dr. Charles Bolduan, of the Health Department.

According to the policewomen, Thomas had sent out cards and had advertised for four girls to do light housework. Miss Smith informed police she had been a servant at St. Margaret's Hospital until Saturday. She answered Thomas' advertisement Sunday, she said, and was promptly engaged.

"He tried to mesmerize me and put me to sleep, but was unsuccessful," Miss Smith told police.

Thomas explained that he "talked patients to sleep" for the purpose of allowing the powers of his mind to be conveyed to theirs and their ailments thereby cured.

Mysterious disappearance of all papers in the case against George J. Haeck, of Option, charged with violating the Federal liquor laws, was reported today in United States District Court. Graham announced that the charges would be presented anew to the grand jury.

Haeck was indicted by the Federal grand jury on September 25, 1929. When the case was called for trial at the November term the original indictment, the United States attorney's copy of the indictment and all other papers were missing. By direction of Judge F. P. INQUEST OPENS IN MUNHALL BLAST

Witnesses Tell Coroner of Gas Odors in Wrecked Postoffice Building

"I heard kind of a noise; the floor came up and then something came down on me, and when I came to I was out on the street," was the testimony of George Thirkell, Lydia street, Pittsburgh, today when the coroner's inquest into the deaths of six persons in the Munhall gas explosion December 5, began.

Thirkell, who resided above the Munhall post office, where the explosion occurred, said he practically lost his voice in the explosion. Jurors had difficulty in hearing him.

"I smelled no gas," Thirkell continued. "The only thing I noticed before the explosion was the irregularity of the flow of gas."

Three other witnesses preceded Thirkell, but were unable to tell anything aside from the experience of the blow-up itself.

Several witnesses called shortly afterwards disclosed that for the past five years a stench had at various times filled the postoffice building. Sometimes the fumes smelled like gas, it was testified.

Mrs. Mary Flynn, a cleaner at the post office, who left her work shortly before the blast occurred, told the jury that she became dizzy and faint the morning of December 5, when she climbed a ladder to clean the ceiling. Gas fumes there made her ill, she dislosed.

A section of pipe taken from the building was entered as evidence by James L. Davidson, chief coroner's clerk. Identification of the pipe was made by Bert Feathers, official photographer of the Pittsburgh Railways Company. More than a score of witnesses still remain to be called, Coroner W. J. McGregor said.

After ordering a representative of the Ackerman Plumbing Company, plumbing repair men for the Munhall estate, to have records of pipe remodeling work done three years ago in the postoffice, brought in for inspection, Coroner McGregor adjourned the inquest until Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

LINK BLONDE IN ARIZONA CASE

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 14. — The latest clue in the search for the so-called blonde trigger woman, Irene Schroeder, today led to Chandler, Ariz., where a blonde woman and two men were sought for the shooting of two deputy sheriffs.

Capt. Jacob Mauk, hunting the slayer of Corp. Brady Paul, of the State Highway Patrol, reported that the woman generally answered the description of Mrs. Schroeder. He feels that one of her companions may be Glenn Dague, the Wheeling auto salesman, also wanted. He plans to communicate with Arizona authorities.

Deputies Joe Chapman and Lee Wright were the two seriously wounded in a gun battle. Chapman had been kidnaped by the woman at Florence, Ariz., when he tried to arrest her for not displaying ownership papers for her auto.

Chapman was forced into the car. At Chandler, Ariz., Wright and two other deputies tried to halt the car. The gun battle followed.

Mauk placed more hope in the Arizona tip than in one from Charleroi, where an abandoned auto was found on the Belle Vernon-Fayette City road. A man and a woman ran from the car, which police learned had been repaired recently at Youngstown, O.

Another tip that the "blonde" wanted for the murder of State Patrolman Brady Paul at New Castle, proved a "dud" today after state police took Mrs. Mildred Anderson, 24, of New Kensington, to Greensburg for questioning.

Authorities at Greensburg said, however, that the woman will be held for investigation. A blackjack found in her room in a New Kensington hotel, her presence in New Kensington and the ownership of an auto must be explained, it was said.

The woman said she had married in Birmingham, Ala., and that she came here some time ago with her husband. The husband is being sought, police said.

COOK'S PAROLE CONTESTED

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The parole application of Dr. Frederick A. Cook to be heard by the parole board now in session at federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., will be opposed by the Better Business Bureau of Kansas City, George M. Husser, manager, announced.

Huseer said the bureau here had co-operated with other bureaus in 1923 in procuring evidence to convict the explorer and his associates in an alleged scheme for using the mails to defraud.

"The bureau believes that to set Dr. Cook free now after he has served less than five years of a 14-year and nine-month sentence imposed at Fort Worth, Tex., would nuulify the victory won by state and federal authorities," Husser said.

"We do not desire to keep any man in prison except to protect the public. It does not seem to us that five years is sufficient atonement for defrauding the public," Husser added.

Man Adrift in Skiff Rescued by Steamer

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—William Larson, of Southport, N. C., who on last Friday was carried adrift in a small skiff from his fishing smack, and for whom shore stations and coast guards cutters have been searching ever since was reported safe aboard the steamer Ivy Olsen.

Larson was picked up off Cape Romaine, N. C., 200 miles south of position at which he was reported adrift to coast guards Friday. In view of weather conditions along the coast Friday and Saturday, the rescue was little short of a miracle, coast guard officials here said.

LOBBY STIRS HATRED FOR U. S.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Efforts of Cuban sugar firms to "stir up hostility to the United States in Latin America" were branded as the most reprehensible of a host of activities of groups working here in connection with a sugar tariff in a report made to the Senate today by its Lobby Investigating Committee.

The report specifically developed that no impropriety was found in activities in connection with which the name of President Hoover was brought into the inquiry. In this connection the commission said:

NO IMPROPRIETY

"It is quite likely that representatives of both the contending forces waited on the President to incline him favorably toward their views, respectively, and the sliding scale solution having been proposed, he suggested that they get together in an effort to work out some plan, and in that connection informed them that he would have inquiry made into the practicability of the idea by experts of the departments. In any event, it appears from the testimony that he did cause such inquiry to be made. In all this, your committee finds no impropriety nor anything open to censure or criticism."

Correspondence between H. C. Lakin, president of the Cuba Company, and associates, said the report, left the impression that the Cuban government itself was associated in the work against higher sugar tariff.

SMOOTHEST LOBBY

The report, submitted to the Senate in the midst of debate on sugar rates in the pending tariff bill, found the sugar lobby the smoothest working and most liberally financed of any operating here. It contained no recommendations for legislation. In general it was a summation of the work carried on by all the lobbies interested in sugar. Except for Lakin and the organizations working with him, the committee had no censure of the lobbying groups, except in so far as the charge of extensive lobbying work carried a shadow of criticism.

Even Mrs. Gladys Moon Jones, United States Sugar Association press agent, who charged the committee with playing politics, drew no adverse observations.

Championing a direct bounty to American sugar farmers, Senator William E. Borah (Rep.), of Idaho, warned the Senate shortly after the submission of the lobby report that free trade from the Philippines, Hawaii and Porto Rico with preferential imports from Cuba was slowly wresting home markets from American producers.

PROTECTION "ILLUSION"

Borah declared tariff protection on sugar was an "illusion" as American production had stood still since 1922 while all the islands heavily increased their sugar crops. With an increased tariff, he added, it would not be long before American sugar producers would be ruined.

The Idaho Senator indorsed a bounty direct to the farmers as the only means of protecting them against "cheap civilizations."

E. R. Pickrell, of the General Dye Stuff Corporation, of New York, denied today before the Lobby Committee that he had used the office of Senator King, (Dem) of Utah, as headquarters during consideration of the pending tariff bill.

Pickrell said he had written two or three letters in King's office.

Wales, Barber in Court Of Neptune, Ducked

S. S. KENILWORTH CASTLE, Jan. 13.—(Delayed.)—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales acted as court barber this afternoon at the traditional nautical ceremony of "crossing the line," when the ship bearing him to South Africa for a hunting trip crossed the equator off the coast of Africa.

The prince himself was initiated long ago and was therefore officially exempt from the duckings, scrubbings and shavings, not to mention paddlings, which even heirs to thrones undergo on this occasion. But he got a ducking in the end.

Dressed in white clothes borrowed from the chef, the prince wielded an enormous wooden razor that was daubed with red paint to represent the blood of the shaven. He carried out his duties with great zest, and the passengers occupying every point of vantage in the limited space around Neptune's throne were greatly amused.

Girl passengers as well as men went through the initiation ceremony. After a shave by the Royal barber they were tipped backwards into a canvas pool of water.

The prince, as barber, finally seized his assistant, and shaved him and ducked him, but was immediately dragged into the water himself. He emerged dripping and smiling in time to see King Neptune, in the person of Admiral Ellison of the British Navy, and his queen, a lady passenger, receiving similar immersion.

Commercial Aviation Life In Balance, Brown Says

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 14.—(INS.)—The very life of the air-passenger transport industry today is in the balance, Postmaster General Walter F. Brown told the Chamber of Commerce here today.

With a paying load of only 16 to 40 per cent of capacity, all closed the year with operating deficits of heavy proportions, he said.

"The American public was provided with facilities for flying from coast to coast before any considerable number of people had made sight-seeing flights over their native towns," said Brown. "It is significant that the only air passenger carriers who have apparently been able to make a profit are the ones who have been carrying passengers on short flights of from 10 to 30 minutes.

"When our people have made a few practice flights, when they have passed the toddling stage in the air. I believe they will be ready for their air marathons. But can the air passenger carriers hold out until that day comes?

"If Congress, which has always been ready to aid aviation, will give to the Postoffice Department the authority, and if we have the unreserved co-operation of the air transport industry, we believe a solution is at hand. In our judgment the method of determining the compensation of air mail contractors must be revolutionized. The system of paying by pound regardless of distance traveled is manifestly unsound. Such a system compels the contractor to gamble on the volume of mail he will carry and creates an inducement for him to swell his volume by unethical practices."

Brown said the department was urging that Congress authorize the Postmaster General to contract for the transport of mail by aircraft between such points as he may designate at fixed rates not to exceed $1 per mile for 1,500 pounds of mail capacity.

3 SLAIN IN DUEL OF ROBBERS AND POLICE

Apartment Holdup Surprised, 2 Bandits and Detective Die in Pitched Battle

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Two robbers and a detective were killed early today as the robbers, fleeing from an apartment they had just held up, ran into a police squad that had responded to a burglar alarm. A third robber who barricaded himself in the apartment house hallway, was routed by tear bombs and captured.

The three bandits, in entering the first floor apartment of Harry Sucherman, set off a burglar alarm in the adjoining apartment of Sucherman's brother, Joseph, who called police.

SURPRISED, TRAPPED

The robbers were trying to open a wall safe in the Sucherman flat, after lining up Sucherman's family with pistols, when a police squad car roared up in front of the building.

With escape cut off in front, the robbers ran to a rear window. They saw Detective Jerry Murphy, cutting off their flight. One of them fired three shots, and Murphy dropped, fatally wounded.

At the front door the robbers were met by blazing police guns. They returned the fire and Lieut. Edward Conroy fell, wounded in the shoulder.

THIRD BANDIT GIVES UP

The robbers retreated, and there was firing from both sides for many minutes. Tear bombs were tossed into the hallway to rout the gunmen.

Sergt. Richard O'Malley climbed in by a side window. He found one robber dead, and another dying. The third surrendered.

The bandit killed outright was identified only as "Holzman." Sam Wolfe, who was wounded five times, died an hour later in the Bridewell Hospital.

The robber captured identified himself as Samuel Waterman, 29.

Sucherman is head of the Vienna Sausage Company.

Three weeks ago another apartment in the same building was robbed.

BILL STRIPS MELLON OF DRY WORK

Introduction of Legislation Follows Recommendations Of Hoover for Reforms

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—The machinery of Congress was set in motion today to carry out the recommendations of President Hoover and his Law Enforcement Commission to tighten up prohibition law enforcement when Representative Williamson, (Rep.) of South Dakota, formally introduced a bill transferring the prohibition unit from the Treasury to the Department of Justice.

HEARINGS ON BILL

Acting on the joint request of both departments, Williamson announced that the House Committee on Expenditures in executive departments would begin hearings on the bill this week.

The bill placed before the House strips Secretary of the Treasury Mellon of virtually all power in prohibition enforcement excepting his supervision of the Coast Guard.

Although the industrial alcohol and medicinal whisky permit divisions remain in the Treasury, the Justice Department is given veto power.

"The granting of permits and the administration of the Internal Revenue Law will remain in the Treasury," said Williamson. "The Attorney General, however, may exercise what amounts to a veto power in the matter of issuing permits under regulations to be prescribed jointly by the Attorney General and the Secretary of the Treasury. It was thought that as the Attorney General will be charged with direct responsibility for enforcement he should have a voice in the matter of granting permits.

NO CONTROVERSY

"No controversy has arisen between department heads with respect to the proposed transfer. On the contrary, there has all along been the fullest cooperation with a view to such changes as might be of assistance in securing the best possible enforcement."

The entire prohibition bureau unit, under Dr. J. M. Doran, commissioner, would be transferred to the Justice Department. Doran would have the title of director of prohibition and a salary of $9,000 a year.

Among other bills introduced today was one "to reduce crime and general discontent and resentment on the part of law abiding American people against intolerable conditions" by repealing the national prohibition act, offered by Rep. Sabath (Dem.), of Illinois.

Two Lose Lives In Factory Fire

ALTON, N. H., Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Two persons were dead and two others in a serious condition here today following a fire which destroyed the factory of the Nox-All Shoe Company. Several buildings adjoining the shoe factory were damaged. The fire loss was estimated at $200,000. The dead: Mrs. Edith Davis, 60; Frank Young, 60. Both bodies were found in the ruins.

New Taxi Drivers Stoned, Arrested in Strike

Company, appealed to Safety Director Clark and Supt. Walsh late today to suspend the ordinance requiring drivers to have permits.

The police officials refused the request, but stated they would receive all applications which the company wished to file. All would be thoroughly investigated before permits were granted, they said.

NO CABS TONIGHT

"No cabs will be operated tonight, but we will have 100 on the streets tomorrow," Laird and Houston announced.

Laird declined to discuss a report that 150 men were brought in early today from Philadelphia and were taken under police guard to the company garages.

"We are hiring men," said Laird. "If men from Philadelphia ask for jobs we will take care of their applications just as we have always done. All of our drivers are duly licensed."

The drivers were reported to be receiving $10 a day and the guards $8.

COUNTY WARNED

B. V. Coffee, chief deputy sheriff, announced that he had been notified last night by the cab company that the county would be held responsible for any damage to the company property. No request for deputizing drivers had been received, he said.

The first cabs which met early trains had no difficulty in soliciting trade. Their first customers were the train passengers, most of whom were unaware of the strike. Pittsburghers apparently were skeptical about riding.

BOTH STAND PAT

With both sides standing pat after a series of conferences which culminated in a seven-hour deadlock last night, no settlement was looked for today. Neither were further parleys anticipated at this time.

Two outstanding demands of the strikers were cited as stumbling blocks to an early settlement of differences between the drivers and officials of both the Yellow and Green Cab companies. They were:

Recognition of the newly organized taxicab drivers' union.

Flat pay rate of 40 per cent of all fares collected.

Paul Toole, chairman of a committee representing the striking drivers, said the only concession the cab employers made at their meeting yesterday was to promise the striking drivers their tool kits without the customary $15 bond.

POLICE DRIVE ON 'POOLS' BEGINS

The expected general order for a police crusade against the horde of clearing house operators in the city was issued this afternoon by Director of Public Safety James M. Clark.

Superintendent of Police Peter P. Walsh, relaying the order to the inspectors, instructed them to arrest operators regardless of where they are located "even if they are in the Courthouse."

"Number writers," Walsh ordered his subordinates, are to be arrested no matter who they are, big or little.

The "big or little" is being taken in police circles as referring not to physique, but to size in the political pond.

The drive is to begin immediately, Clark said.

PASTOR OF ERIE CHURCH SOUGHT

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 14.—(INS.)—The board of trustees of the Harbor Creek Presbyterian Church today was attempting to locate the Rev. Raymond E. Muthard, pastor, who disappeared from his home on December 26.

Shortly after his diappearance a letter was received, bearing an Erie postmark, requesting the board to deliver the minister's pack pay to his wife.

Mrs. Muthard and her two-year-old daughter have since moved from Harbor Creek, an Erie suburb, to reside with her parents at Allentown.

A year ago he disappeared for two weeks, explaining when he returned that he had been in Indiana.

DEATH TOLL 42 IN BRITISH GALE

LONDON, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—With 42 persons dead and property losses running into thousands of dollars, Great Britain and the continent prepared themselves today to meet another violent gale reported to be approaching from the Atlantic.

Shipping in the English Channel and off the European coast was warned by the weather bureau to prepare for the gale, which is expected to equal in violence the terrific storms which took such a heavy toll of dead over the week-end.

The worst havoc of the storm occurred when the British naval tug St. Genny, bound for Gibraltar to join the Mediterranean fleet, was capsized while standing by in heavy seas 32 miles from Ushant. The captain of the tug had hove-to because of the mountainous waves, but the little vessel was unable to maintain its equilibrium in the howling gale and turned over.

The deaths inland in Britain totaled 14, most of the victims being killed by falling chimneys and trees and in automobile accidents. Five persons lost their lives when a motorboat foundered at Vestfjord, Norway.

Shipping is paralyzed, and communication facilities have been disrupted by the 80-mile-an-hour wind which raged for more than 48 hours without cessation.

SHOOTS SELF IN STORE

Thomas J. McCaughey, 35, of 755 Montclair street, was reported in a critical condition today in the Pittsburgh Hospital from a bullet wound in the chest which, police said, was self-inflicted.

McCaughey, according to police, walked into the Fort Pitt Loan Company at 6297 Frankstown avenue, purchased a wrist watch, and then inquired about a revolver. Louis Weisberg, 32, a clerk, obliged him with a set of revolvers and some bullets.

"I'm a racketeer, and I need a gun," McCaughey was said to have remarked as he examined one of the revolvers.

Weisberg began waiting on another customer when McCaughey shouted:

FEAR FELT FOR KIP, MAROONED

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Jan. 14.—(INS.)—With no word early today from the Kip Rhinelander rescue party, Harley Harmon, the wealthy New Yorker's lawyer directing the efforts to deliver Kip from his snow prison at Camp Charleston, admitted that he was greatly concerned over the plight of the youth and his two companions.

A truck and tractor have been battling the snow barriers for 60 hours and should have arrived at the camp yesterday.

The Rhinelander camp is known to be in need of food since the trio has been held prisoner for nearly one week.

2 YOUTHS HELD IN KIDNAPING

Accused of kidneping two girls after robbing their male escorts, and of two other robberies, John Dowling, 24, of 1518 Compromise street, and Paul Smith, 21, of 511 East Lacock street, were held for court in Morals Court today.

The two, together with a third boy sought by police, were pals of Andrew Wisniewski, Saw Mill Run youth, who died in South Side Hospital of a gunshot wound, said to have been inflicted while the boys were examining a gun.

Betty Siefert, 21, of 4032 California avenue, and Paul L. Meeder, of 1800 Wyndhurst street, identified the two as the men who held them up while they were seated in a car in front of the Seifert home December 31. Harry Arnold, 24, of Ross township, and Mildred Reidenbaugh, 19, of 1402 Dixon street, also said they were robbed, and the girl taken away.

Just before lunch time he discharged a jury that couldn't decide whether Hamilton L. Smith, of 4609 Center avenue, had taken or was given a diamond ring valued by Margaret Schenck, 209 South Negley avenue, at $345. The woman said he took it; Smith said she gave it to him when he loaned her $150.

The case went to a jury at 11 o'clock yesterday.

In another resolution Council has been asked to authorize City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt to petition court to design the territory of the former borough as the Thirty-second Ward.

NORFOLK AIR MAIL URGED

An active campaign has been launched to maintain the Pittsburgh-Cleveland air mail route and to urge the government to establish in connection with it a route between Pittsburgh, Baltimore, Washington and Norfolk.

This action was announced following a statement by Postmaster General Brown that new air mail rates in the postal regulations would necessitate the abandonment of airplanes where they could not compete with the railroads.

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce has given unqualified indorsement to the Pittsburgh-Norfolk route as an extension of the Pittsburgh-Cleveland line, and today it was stated that the full weight of the influence of Pittsburgh business interests would assist the movement to give this community additional air mail service. It is pointed out that the Pittsburgh-Norfolk route would give Washington a direct connection, through the Cleveland extension, with the trans-continental route.

The chamber's committee on postal affairs in its investigation of various air mail routes showed through a survey of potential patronage that the service to Washington was especially desirable. Economy would be effected by making the terminals at Norfolk and Cleveland, this being the distance of a day's flight.

It was stated at the Chamber of Commerce today that assurance could be given the government officials that Pittsburgh's increasing air mail patronage and local interest in aviation would justify immediate consideration of the Pittsburgh-Washington-Norfolk route.

WILKINSBURG FIRES POLICE

Councilman Harry Rowland, new police and fire committee head, of Wilkinsburg, at last night's Council meeting presented a motion demanding the resignations of all police employes.

The motion, which was carried by a vote of five to two, does not include Police Chief Wallace R. Bishop, who was reappointed at the reorganization meeting January 6.

All police sergeants, the lieutenant and 10 patrolmen are included in the order. They must present their resignations at the meeting January 27.

They will be allowed to apply for reappointment, but speculation was caused by the news that from 12 to 15 others will also apply for the jobs.

Speculation centered around the position of night lieutenant, formerly held by James Harris, reputed to have opposed W. M. Turner in his fight with J. R. Langley for burgess.

WATER SERVICE ASKED IN ROSS

Residents of the section of Ross Township recently annexed to Pittsburgh have asked Council to order water lines extended into their territory.

Coincident with the petition Public Works Director Edward G. Lang submitted to Council a letter stating that the department had set up $50,000 in the 1930 budget to finance the construction of water lines in the former territory of Ross Township but that Mayor Charles H. Kline cut the item out with the explanation that it more properly was a bond issue project.

Lang asked Council to provide funds for the water service lines.

Tarentum Council Names Committees

Forgiving Wives Banned at Jail

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 14.—Because wives are too forgiving, Sheriff W. B. Grimm has posted notices at the Harrison County jail barring them from visiting imprisoned spouses.

Most of the married man are in for non-support. Wives put them there in a fit of rage, Sheriff Grimm said, and before the ink is dry on their commitment papers, are mooning around the jail, trying to get them released.

The Model Garment Company, at 915 Fifth avenue, and the M. A. Berman Company, at 917 Fifth avenue, suffered slight damage from smoke. Deputy Chief Louis Conley estimated the damage.

SCHREINER OUT AT MT. LEBANON

Acting in the presence of more than 100 citizens who filled the commissioners' chambers in the Washington School, the Mt. Lebanon Township board last night fired Samuel A. Schreiner as township solicitor, a position he had held 15 years. They created the position of assistant township manager and superintendent of police and fire.

Re-elections, elections and swinging the ax was accomplished by the majority faction which had a majority of one on a board of five members.

The commissioners named Attorney E. B. Goldsmith township solicitor and gave the newly-made position of assistant manager to William A. Kane, a former Mt. Lebanon realty dealer. Citizens said after the meeting Kane's position would interfere with the powers of Police Chief Charles C. Baldwin. The township manager, George I. Irwin, and Engineer William Vegler were re-elected.

The commissioners gave two readings to a bill providing for re-zoning apartment house reconstruction upon request of Arthur Diggs who said he was interested in the erection of a $300,000 apartment in McFarland road. The board rejected the proposition a month ago.

Postmaster Locks Pet Cat In Mail Bag

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 14.—James McGuffie, postmaster at Deep Valley, sent his office cat 10 miles to Ned, as first class mail. Shortly before the mail bag was sealed the cat crawled into it for a nap, and when the bag was opened by Barnes Lemley, Ned postmaster, it jumped out, apparently none the worse for its trip.

5 ZONE SHIFTS PROPOSED

Council has received five ordinances amending the zoning laws by changing the classification of property in various sections of the city.

One measure would change from a residence to a commercial district, the property fronting on the northeasterly side of Sylvan avenue, between Home Rule street and lots Nos. 31 to 37, in the R. B. Coyle plan.

Another ordinance would change from a residence to a commercial district, the property on the southerly side of Stranahan street, being lots Nos. 178, 179 and 180, in the Oakhurst plan.

A third bill would change from a "B" residence and a first area district to an "A" residence and second area district, property at the southeast corner of Stanton avenue and North St. Clair, having a frontage of 80 feet on Stanton avenue and 165 feet on North St. Clair street.

The fourth ordinance would change from a residence to a commercial district, the property bounded by Penn avenue and East End avenue, by a line 120 feet south of Penn avenue and by North Braddock avenue.

The fifth measure would change from an "A" residence and a second area district to a commercial and third area district, the property bounded by Sandwich street and Sandwich way, by an unnamed alley 97 feet west of Norton street, by Gray street and by unnamed alley 100 feet east of Norton street.

PRIMARY TRIAL FOR MACHINES

Partial installation of voting machines this year was suggested to County Commissioners by Gilbert C. Cloonan, head of the County Election Bureau when he appeared at the budget session with the vote machine setup. The commissioners approved the plan.

Cloonan proposed installing 80 voting machines in the three small cities in the county and using paper ballots elsewhere at the primary election this year. In the general election he suggested the installation of 560 machines in the city of Pittsburgh and the three other cities in the county. On this basis the cost of the elctions will be $554,975, according to Cloonan.

A lengthy discussion of the voting machine in which Buffalo and New York City's experience with the voting machines was cited, ended in an agreement by Commissioners Joseph G. Armstrong and C. C. McGovern, and W. Heber Dithrich, that additional legislation is necessary to work out the practical installation of the voting machines.

STOWE DROPS 2 FIRE UNITS

Two of four volunteer fire companies were abolished at a meeting of the Stowe Township commissioners last night. Max Homer was elected fire chief succeeding David Simon.

The fire companies ordered abandoned were No. 1 in Frazier avenue, Norwood, and No. 5 in Helen street. The remaining companies are No. 2 located in Fleming avenue, Fleming Park, and No. 4 in Broadway, West Park.

The commissioners voted to advertise for bids for the laying of the proposed Elizabeth street, Mc-Road and Hanover sewers. President H. E. Miller presided and announced committee appointments.

They were appointed to vacancies caused last fall when Dr. Frederick resigned to manage Mayor Kline's campaign for re-election and Dr. F. C. Blessing resigned to support former Councilman James F. Malone, who ran against Mayor Kline.

J. Howard Devlin, Democratic party member of the commission, was retained.

U. S. Gas Masks Declared Best In World

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The chemical warfare service was credited by Representative Barbour (Rep.), of California, with having designed the best gas mask of all the world's armies.

Barbour, in charge of the annual War Department supply bill, made the statement during debate on the chemical warfare paragraph of the bill, appropriating $1,295,215 for that branch.

Questioned by Representative Ketcham (Rep.), of Michigan, Barbour said the sub-committee which held hearings on the bill had been assured the funds provided were ample for defense preparation.

BUENOS AIRES REDS ROUTED

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The police have launched a general investigation of Communist activities as the result of a demonstration in front of the Mexican embassy. They held under arrest 11 alleged leaders, only one of whom was described as a native of Argentina.

In the demonstrations about 30 persons stoned the building and broke several windows. They shouted, "Long live the Mexican Communist party; down with imperialistic Mexican Fascists." They threw printed handbills through the windows before police broke up the demonstration.

Germany to Honor Bennett, Heroic U. S. Flier

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Germany is planning to honor the memory of Floyd Bennett, American flier, who succumbed to pneumonia contracted in the effort to rescue the German transatlantic fliers who came to grief on Greenly Island at the end of the first east-to-west aerial crossing of the Atlantic.

The State Department has been advised that a committee of high German officials, headed by President Paul Loebe, of the Reichstag, has been formed to arrange the erection of a monument to Bennett at Tempelhofer Field, Berlin's airport.

MAWSON SCANS NEW AREA

By SIR DOUGLAS MAWSON,
Commander of the British, Australian and New Zealand Antarctic Research Expedition.

S. S. DISCOVERY, Jan. 5 (delayed).—This morning, while the aviators, Campbell and Douglas, were preparing for reconnaisance, the scientific personnel of the expedition conducted a complete marine investigation at a depth of 1,100 fathoms. Simmers, the meteorologist, observed our drift, sending the observation balloon to an altitude of 40,000 feet.

In the afternoon, Campbell, piloting the plane, and I examined the coastline land, which spread out as a magnificent panorama. The coastline, at the point of ascent, longitude 61 east, extends approximately along latitude 67 south.

TRACES COAST

I traced the coast outline 50 miles to the east and 80 miles to the west, beyond Kemp Land, to a new land heading toward Enderby Land. It was clear that these latter adjacent territories are portions of the continuous coastline of the Antarctic continent.

Before us we saw the rising slopes of the continental plateau, while along shore were frequent stretches of rocky coast which, in many places, were fringed by 10 or more miles of fast ice. A few miles inland we struck ranges of black rocky mountains of several thousand feet elevation; the most extensive being southeast of the ship.

The rocky outcrops and pack ice extend as far as visible both east and west, while the plateau summit fades in the dim distance to the south, relieved at intervals by strikingly sharp and protruding peaks.

From the air we also observed that the great region of heavy pack ice through which the Discovery has battled for weeks, now to the west gives place to waters comparatively unencumbered, and consequently we expect henceforth that the voyage will be less obstructed.

CRUISE TO COAST

S. S. DISCOVERY, Jan. 6 (delayed).—During the evening hours today the Discovery steamed to the southwest through the loose pack ice toward the coast, where we hoped to effect a landing.

In the glorious clear, calm evening, the fantastic ice rafts are glowing with every known hue, mirrored in the placid waters. Midnight presented a gorgeous spectacle, rendered more fantastic by the interest taken in us by the quaint denizens of these regions as they flitted past on ice floes.

Within a few hours the splendid scene was transformed into chaos by the sudden descent from the land of a summer blizzard of extraordinary strength.

Fortunately, there was open water nearby, into which the ship was headed, and where we managed to ride out the fury of the hurricane, evading with difficulty the passing bergs, seen dimly through the drifting snow and frozen drifts. Our instruments checked the velocity of the wind from 50 to 70 miles an hour. The wind later diminished, and now the danger is past.

437,348 VETS FACING LOSS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Commenting upon his proposal to amend the soldier's bonus act by abolishing the time limit for filing compensation applications, Representative Ludlow (Dem.), of Indiana, said in a formal statement that nearly 500,000 World War veterans would be adversely affected unless Congress takes action.

"I have called on the various services for information as to the number of veterans who have not filed applications," Ludlow said, "and I find that altogether 437,348 veterans have not been heard from."

The time limit under the present act expired January 2, and 3,700,578 veterans had made application up to that time.

Policeman Serving Warrant Shot Dead

BOSTON, Jan. 14. — (AP.) — Patrolman James Troy, of the Athens street station, was wounded fatally here last night in a pistol battle with an alleged thief on whom Troy and two other policemen were attempting to serve a warrant. James Threadgill, a Negro, was arrested soon after the shooting. The man who shot Troy escaped from the house after the shooting. Threadgill fled down the back stairs and was arrested later in a raid, led by Michael H. Crowley, superintendent of police, on a Back Bay apartment.

Agents Kill Rum Runner In Battle

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Juan A. Gomez, of Harlingen, Tex., alleged liquor runner, was shot and killed in a running fight with federal officers yesterday near Los Indios, Tex., close to the Mexican border.

Another man with Gomez in a truck loaded with liquor escaped, fleeing through heavy underbrush. The federal men said they flashed a stop sign across the road but the men in the truck opened fire instead of halting. Gomez was killed by the officers' answering volley, they said.

Weyer, acting president of Washington and Jefferson College, delivered a lecture on archeology and ethnology before the historical society of Washington County in the public meeting room of the county court house. FLOODS MENACE MANY TOWNS

CLEVELAND, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—A serious flood situation impended in Ohio today as many rivers, already swollen far above normal, continued to rise. Rain, which has fallen almost continually for more than a week, was falling again today in most parts of the state.

The greatest flood menace was at Youngstown, where, if the Mahoning River goes five inches higher, it will force the shutdown of many steel mills.

Lowlands at Warren were under deeper water today as the Tuscarawas River reached a height 52½ inches above the Warren dam. It was still rising.

Rowboats were used in some sections of Massillon today to take children to school and men to work.

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 14.—The Shenango River has reached the flood stage throughout this section, and with continued rains today, it is predicted that the river will be out of its banks here tonight.

Cellars in the main business section are flooded.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Flood-swollen rivers and tributaries, fed by masses of melting snows and rainfall, continued to do damage today throughout the central states.

Along the Wabash River, in the vicinity of Vincennes, Ind., volunteer crews toiled throughout the night banking crumbling banks that threatened to break under the strain of the swollen stream and flood the city.

MARKS, Miss., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—A huge gap was torn in the Cassidy Bayou Levee, two miles south of Belen, near here, by a charge of dynamite, set off during the night by unidentified persons.

MARTIN SOUNDS CRIME WARNING

America's crime wave has reached the point where citizens of this country must look the matter squarely in the face.

Judge Richard W. Martin, of Common Pleas Court, so stated in addressing members of the Retail Credit Men's Association in the Roosevelt Hotel last night. He personally favors the use of the same equipment for the police as employed by the crook to pilfer plunder and murder, in protecting home and fireside, he said.

The jurist stated that the problems which confront good government are not peculiar to any particular city. There is a vicious circle in all cities, he declared, which takes in jury fixing, gambling and protected vice of various kinds, and defeats the ends of justice.

He said it should be stamped out, expressed the belief that if a reasonable effort is not made to stop the crime wave, "our government is in danger."

He deprecated the fact that groups with influence enough to persuade where some particular man should be employed, should be allowed to exist and warned of its dangers. He said that everyone who reads the newspapers knows that crime is increasing, "and we can't blind our eyes to it."

Judge Martin said that various reasons had been assigned as the cause for the crime wave, even to blaming the courts, and he was not speaking to defend them.

"However," he said, "some of our legal systems need to be scrapped."

He particularly stressed the fact that lawyers in addressing a jury are not allowed to allude to the fact that "the defendant did not testify," and thus make capital out of that. He believes that such an idea has outlived its usefulness.

"In fact," Judge Martin asserted, "the main object of the prosecution of crime is not to put men away for long periods, but to see that they are properly punished. Some think that even the courts are cold blooded. If a thief deliberately walks into a store and holds up the person at the till at the point of a gun and kills him, the administration of stern justice to such would not be considered cold blooded in the eyes of the law. The same was true of the burglar, who robs your home."

Aids Husband Get Job to Pay Her Alimony

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Mrs. Elizabeth Tangredy is not averse to helping her husband get a job if it will help him pay her alimony, and she explained it to Judge Joseph Sabath.

Whenever she would ask about her $15 a week alimony, she said, her husband, Thomas, would reply that he was unable to get a job. Mrs. Tangredy then began looking over the advertisements and in no time at all had a number of situations for her husband. She showed Judge Sabath the letters yesterday. None of the jobs, she said, seemed to suit her husband.

The court told Tangredy to pay up his $546 back alimony by April 1 or go to jail.

"And it won't do any good," added the court, "to tell me you can't get a job."

Cleveland Manager Ousted by Council

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—William R. Hopkins, city manager of Cleveland for the past six years, was removed from office last night by a 14 to 11 vote of City Council on an ouster motion presented by a Democratic member. The vote followed nearly three hours of debate before a crowd of 1,000 citizens in the galleries. Nearly 4,000 more persons packed the corridors of city hall.

U. S. EXTENDS TREATY SCOPE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—(AP.) The scope of the remodeled arbitration treaties being negotiated by the United States with many foreign countries was extended by the signature of a treaty between the United States and the Netherlands.

The arbitration agreement supersedes the Root arbitration treaty of 1908, and is one of the 21 that have been signed since the revision was inaugurated by former Secretary of State Kellogg. During his administration it was decided to alter all of the arbitration treaties entered into under the Root administration. Fifteen of the new treaties have been placed in force by exchange of ratifications.

"New Herbal Flaxolyn Discovery Brings Amazing Power and Strength By Aiding the Action of the Liver, Stomach and Kidneys,"

Says Pittsburgh Doctor

DR. C. J. KRELLER, OF PITTSBURGH

Health Seekers Here Acclaim New Herbal Flaxolyn for Sound Sleep, Keen Appetite and Normal Bowel Functioning

That Dr. Luntz's new vitaminized Herbal Flaxolyn tones the stomach—drives out toxic poisons that form in the intestines—acts as a helpful diuretic to the kidneys and gives gentle stimulation to the liver, is shown by the remarkable statement of a Pittsburgh doctor.

Dr. C. J. Kreller says: "One of the beauties of Herbal Flaxolyn is that it activates the flow of vital digestive juices—it makes food taste good—it helps you digest what you eat, and assists your body in deriving the MOST benefit from each meal.

"Just as bread and vegetables and milk and eggs are Nature's food for mankind, so certain roots, herbs, berries, seeds, barks and salts are Nature's medicine for mankind. I have examined the Flaxolyn formula and know it contains many of these natural derivatives, fortified by approved medicaments.

"I have personally used Flaxolyn and have positively been amazed by the quickness of results. Sound, unbroken sleep, greater energy and vigor, as well as keen appetite and normal bowel action, have been quick to follow. The complexion quickly becomes alive with healthy color."

Penna. Gastro-Intestinal Specialist Praises Flaxolyn

Dr. V. P. Fleming, M. D., M. B.

Flaxolyn a complete success in rigid tests of celebrated health school. Its superintendent, Dr. Fleming, tells how Flaxolyn acts, bringing ruddy glow of health to cheeks, and strength to internal organs.

On the Lincoln Highway, at York, Pa., is a health school where people come from all over, to learn the greatest thing in life—How to Live. The director of this remarkable institution says: "We have carefully tested all sorts of health preparations submitted to us—mineral, saline, vegetable, etc. All of these we have rejected. Only Flaxolyn have we accepted and fully endorsed."

Doctor's Generous Guarantee

Every reader of this paper who would like to feel better, eat better, sleep better and look better, can obtain a bottle of the wonderful new Flaxolyn on this liberal offer:

If Flaxolyn does not bring satisfactory results by the sixth spoonful, you may bring back the partly used bottle and have the full purchase price refunded!

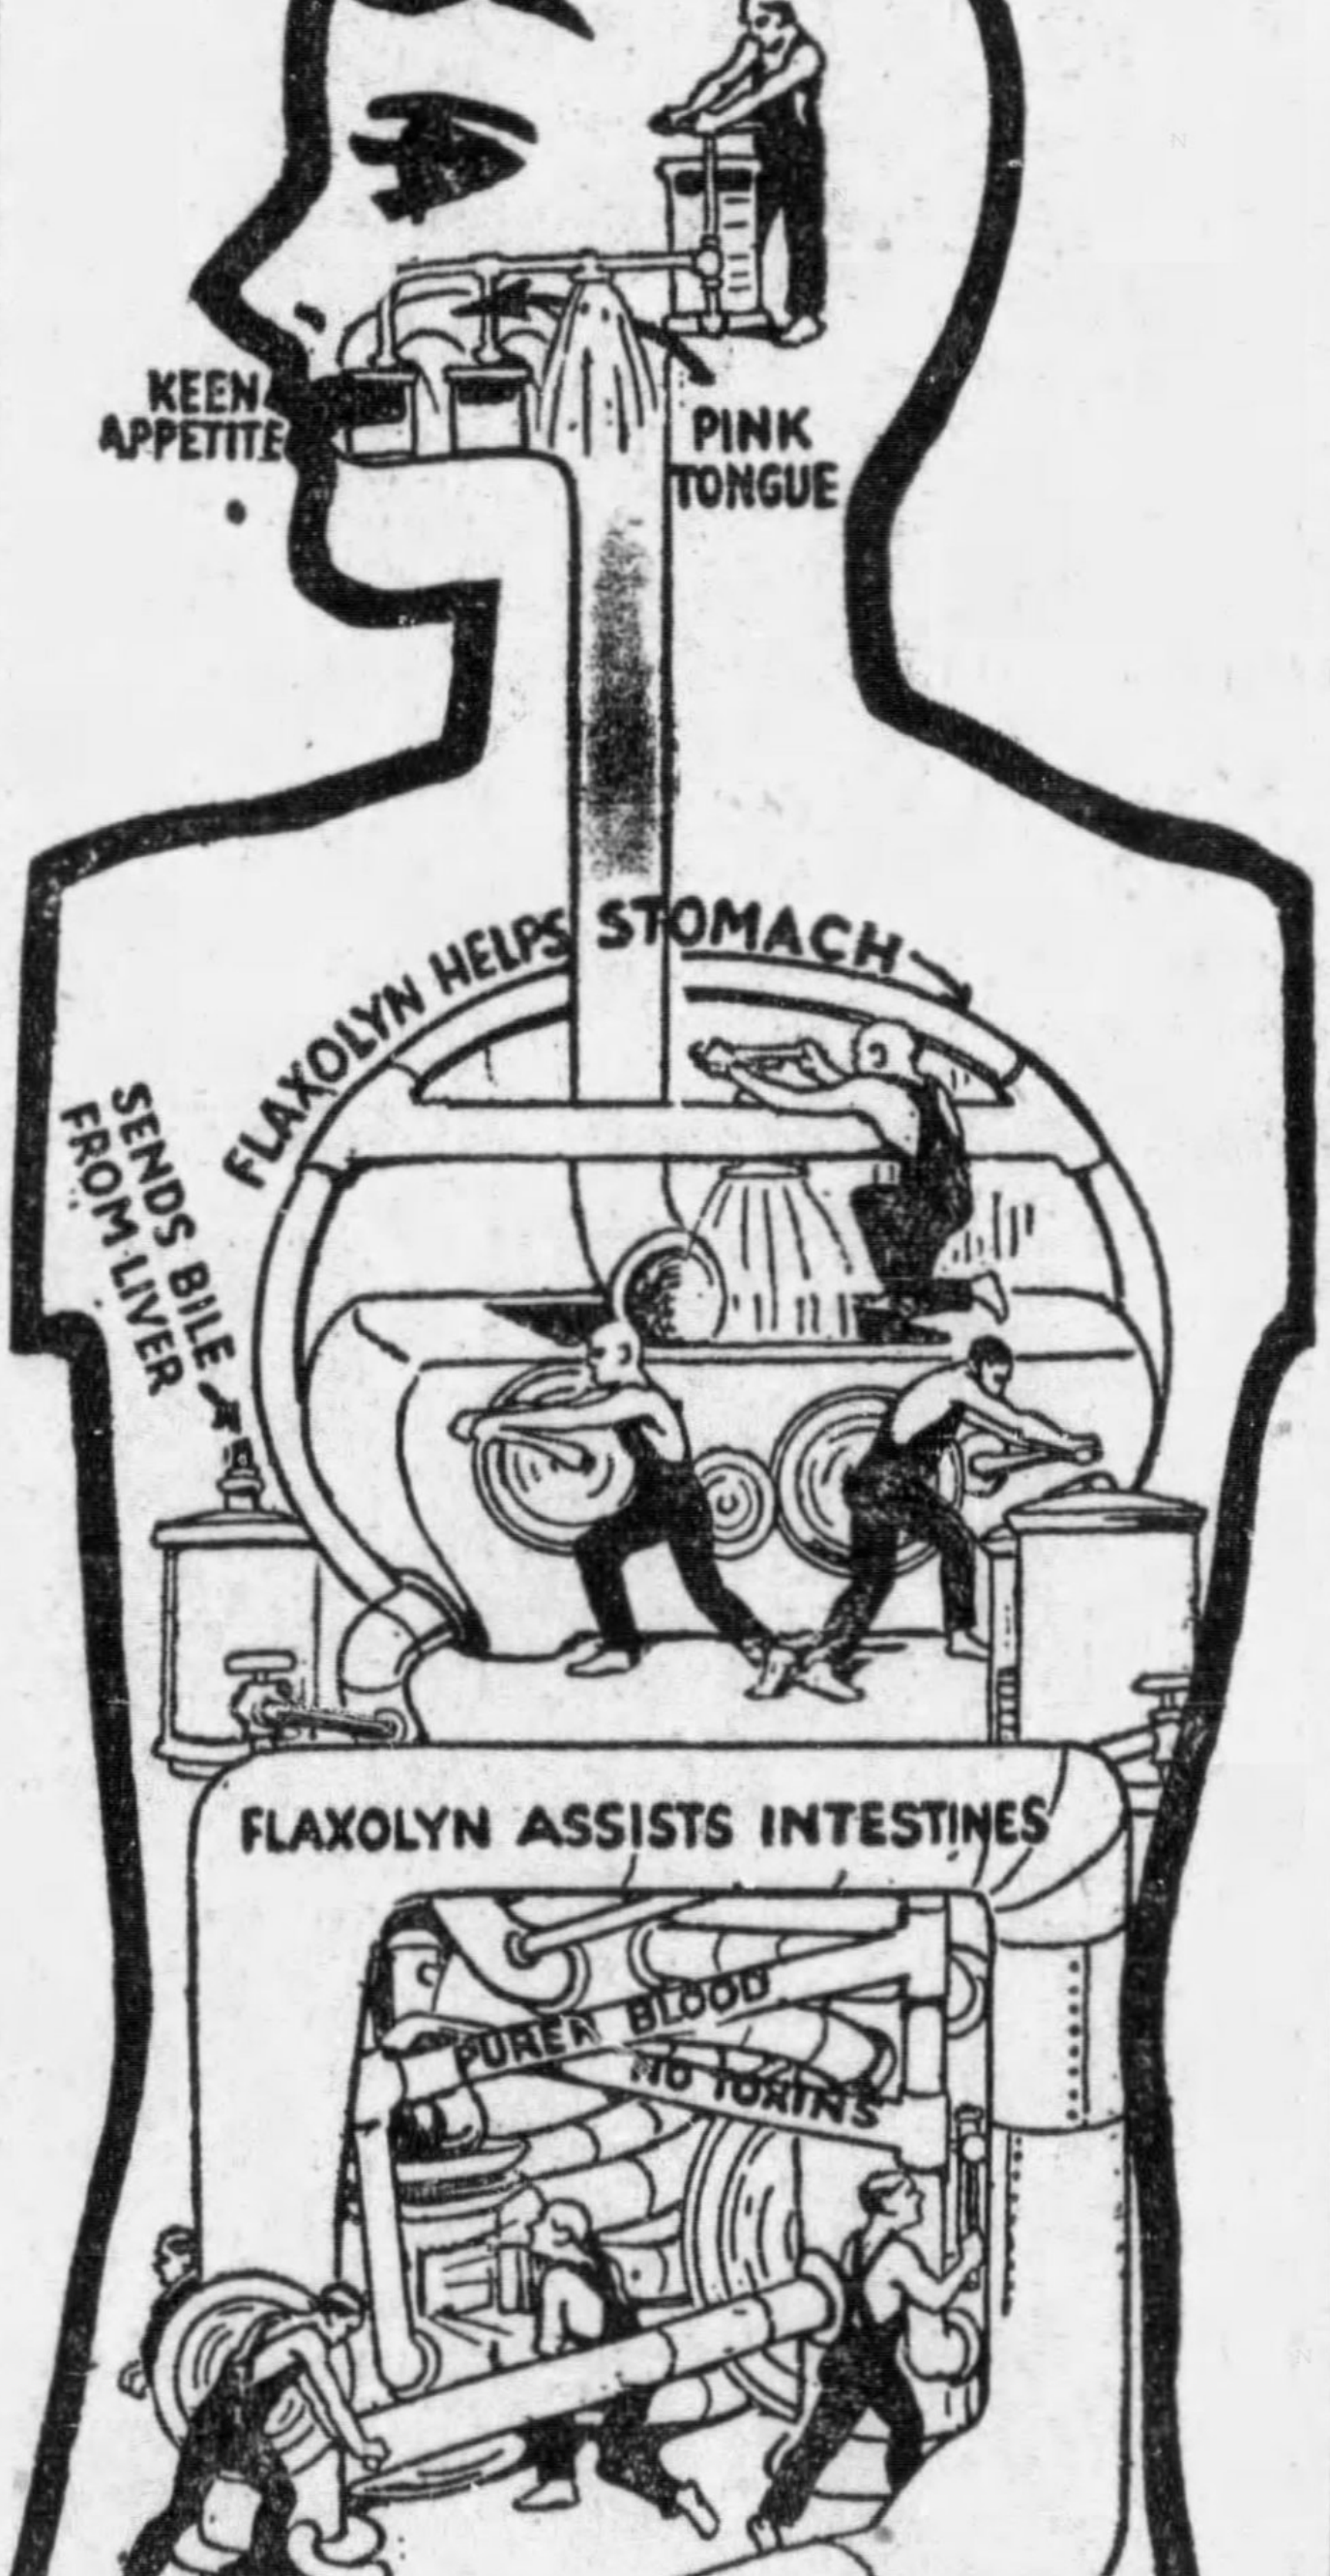
How Flaxolyn Works:



The above illustration shows the mechanism of the human body. Like all machinery, you have to take care of this HUMAN machine, OR IT WILL RUN DOWN AND GET OUT OF ORDER. If you treat your body right, your health stands a greater chance of being right. If you neglect it, you make yourself liable to attacks of one sickness after another. The purpose of Flaxolyn is to help keep that wonderful body of yours in PERFECT RUNNING ORDER.

In the belief that there was a great need for a scientific herbal formula, Dr. Luntz made a great study of botanical medicines. After long research he perfected a formula which helped him win back his own health, when he suffered a complete breakdown due to overwork.

Over TWO MILLION packages of this formula have been sold under the name of FLAXOLYN, in powder form. Now Dr. Luntz announces the greatest achievement of his life—pleasant-tasting liquid Flaxolyn.

STRICKEN DIVER RESCUED

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 14.—Bruce McGuffen, of Braddock, a diver, of the United States Engineering Department, was saved by fellow employes who raised him to the surface after he had become ill and unconscious while working 30 feet under water at Lock No. 5, here.

McGuffen was removed from his diving suit, and employes worked over him for more than an hour before he could be revived. A physician ordered him home for a few days' rest.

The diver had been lowered into the river to repair a filling valve at the lock. Taken ill, he signaled to his helpers to pull him up. While ascending the ladder he collapsed.

It was at first believed that his air supply had been interrupted, or the suit leaked, but examination showed both to be functioning properly. McGuffen, officials said, is a new diver.

Kills Sister-in-law Then Ends Own Life

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., J 14.—(AP.)—Roy Richard Mann, 34, who yesterday shot and killed his sister-in-law, Mrs. John H. Mann, 33, in her home here, died later in the Williamsport Hospital, to which he was hurried under police guard after he had been found with a bullet wound in his right temple.

There were rumors of a possible triangular love affair, but the police are inclined to doubt their authenticity. They believe that Mann, who boarded with his brother and was said to be in arrears over $100 in his board bill, resented insistent demands for the money which his sister-in-law is said to have made.

Famous Liverpool Fire Fighter Dies

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—A. W. Weir, former chief superintendent of the Liverpool fire brigade, who was internationally known as a firefighter, died here yesterday. He had been connected with the Liverpool brigade for 42 years, and his advice on firefighting and fire prevention was sought by such widely separated centers as New York, Montreal, Calcutta, Pretoria and Alexandria.

Two Art Treasures Stolen In France

AIX-EN-PROVENCE, France, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Two small paintings by Van Dyck and one canvas of the Sixteenth Century Flemish school have been stolen from the museum here. An attendant discovered that they had been neatly cut from their frames.

Urges Bankrupts Be Held For Alimony

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Amendment of the federal bankruptcy law to provide that a discharge in bankruptcy would not release the bankrupt from debts for payment of alimony, "due or to become due," was proposed in a bill by Representative Sears (Rep.), of Nebraska.

The measure also would provide that bankruptcy would not release the bankrupt from debts due as taxes, or liabilities for obtaining property under false pretenses, or for maintenance and support of a wife or child.

"All debts contracted for within four months prior to the filing of a bankruptcy petition would be construed, under the bill, to have been contracted with intent to defraud unless otherwise proved by the bankrupt," Sears said.

NEGRO LEADER LOSES APPEAL

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—A two-year fight by the faction of Walter Cohen, Negro comptroller of customs, to retain leadership in the Republican party in Louisiana, was lost in a ruling by the State Court of Appeals restraining Cohen and his followers from interfering with the duties of M. S. Bostugue and 11 other members of the Republican State Central Committee.

The committee headed by Bostugue last year obtained an injunction from Judge William H. Byrnes, Jr., in Civil District Court, enjoining Cohen and his faction from using their offices. The higher court overruled exceptions of no cause filed by the Cohen group.

River Coal Tonnage Shows Big Increase

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 14.—Commerce on the Monongahela River passing through Lock No. 5 in 1929 exceeded the previous year by 700,322 tons, Lockmaster C. W. Keibler reports. Of the 15,265,030 tons locked, coal shipments, aggregating 14,527,004 tons, accounted for the increase.

AN OBLIGING BEAUTY DOCTOR

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair.

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."

CUDAHY LAUDS U. S. FOODS

Americans get the finest foods in the history of the world, Edward A. Cudahy, Jr., president of the packing company bearing his name believes.

Visiting Pittsburgh for a fortieth anniversary meeting of branch officials, he addressed a group in the William Penn Hotel today.

"Scientific research, high standards in every branch of the industry, the mechanical development of cattle raising and the reversal of procedure in owning cattle have contributed to raising the standards of food," he said, following the meeting.

"Twenty years ago the packing industry became centralized. Big ranches began to break up. Instead of one man owning 10,000 head of cattle, the situation became changed and 10,000 men came to own small herds. The youth of the cattle regions were formed into clubs to stimulate interest in cattle raising. From the old long horn steers, which wree little in flesh and big in horns, breeders developed heavy and fleshy animals designed for use on their table. The skinny legged Texas long horn steer is extinct—or almost.

"That was one development, however. Experimental laboratories are constantly finding new ways to improve food that the American palate enjoys. And breeders are finding newer ways to make their products tasty and economical. For instance, in past days a pig matured at nine months. Now he is ready for pork chops at six months."

Pittsburgh Fliers Win Miami Races

Two Pittsburgh aviators, Alex M. Campbell and San Bigony, trying out a new ship they bought here a month ago, won two races at Miami, Fla., yesterday, where they participated in the American Air Races. The first race they captured was over a 50-mile course in open cockpit. The second was the bomb dropping contest.

McKeesport Raises Tax Rate 1½ Mills

In raising the millage in McKeesport yesterday, the City Council discharged the municipal pathologist and appointed his assistant at his salary of $5,000 a year. The millage was set at 13 mills, an increase of 1½ mills over last year. The budget was fixed at $1,245,904.

Duke Dean Becomes American Citizen

The Rev. Stephen Bryan, dean of the college of art, Duquesne University, today became a citizen of the United States. He was one of 19 who took the oath of allegiance before Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker. He was born in Ireland and has made his home here since 1922.

Machinist Falls Dead at Shop Door

Joseph Haney, 64, of 621 Griffith street, Mt. Washington, a machinist at the Chandler-Boyd Supply Company, 51 Terminal way, fell dead in front of the building as he was about to report for work this morning. The body was removed to the county morgue.

Dog's Tail Caught In Washer; Call Out Police

And that's how Buddy, normally cheerful poodle pup, whose mistress is Mrs. Helen Cutts, of Carrick, feels today.

Yesterday Buddy had adventures. He was playing in the cellar of the Cutts home at 315 East Agnew street, and the electric washer was washing merrily. Buddy screeched. Mrs. Cutts screamed. Mrs. Sylvia Franson, neighbor, rushed to the cellar.

Buddy's tail was in the gears of the washer. Mrs. Franson tried to extricate him. He bit her. Carrick police rushed to the scene. They got Buddy out of the mess—minus part of his tail. Bandages. Lengthy police reports.

FORNEY'S TRIAL NOT SETTLED

The date for the trial of Alfred W. Forney, indicted on 16 counts of maintaining gambling devices, will not be set until the latter part of the week, District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner said today. The district attorney returned to his office yesterday after being confined to his home for several weeks, but did not attend to the Forney matter.

Before setting a date for the trial, Gardner wants to confer with his assistants who have been in charge of the office during his absence. It is not likely that the district attorney will be in his office today or tomorrow.

X-RAY FILM BILL UP IN COUNCIL

Council, today, in Finance Committee, will consider an ordinance prohibiting the storage, development and exposure, of explosive X-ray films in hospitals, clinics, dispensaries, schools, homes, asylums and portrait and commercial photographic studios.

The ordinance was prepared by H. L. Ley, superintendent of the City Building Inspection Bureau after he had made an inspection of the disaster last May 11 at the Cleveland Clinic Foundation, Cleveland, O., that took a heavy toll in human life and the destruction of property.

Ley recommended the creation of a division of explosives in the Building Inspection Bureau for the proper enforcement of the proposed regulations.

Ley stated that a recent inspection showed that all but seven of the 21 Pittsburgh hospitals are now using the safety or acetate of cellulose films in compliance with recommendations of city officials.

Ley declared that his Cleveland investigation revealed "gross neglect and total disregard of the proper precautions for storing and keeping this material of recognized dangerous and inflammable nature."

SCHACHT YIELDS ON DEBT BANK

THE HAGUE, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, who has been balking at participation of the Reichsbank in the Bank for International Settlements, today agreed to a procedure which will oblige him, as a director of the Reichsbank, to participate in the new international institution.

Yesterday Dr. Schacht stated that the Reichsbank could not subscribe to any of the capital of the new institution because of changes which he said had been made in the Young plan.

Today Mr. Schacht met several of the principal delegates and members of the bank committee and announced that he would bow to the will of the majority. Thereupon the German delegation decided to propose modifications of German law so as to make it obligatory for the Reinchsbank to subscribe to the capital of the international institution as well as to participate in every other way provided for the Young plan.

Dr. Schacht decided that this would cover his responsibility in the matter and would remove his moral scruples as a patriotic German.

Auto Show Contest

$300. Cash Prizes—200 Show Tickets

(The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph co-operating with the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers' Association, is donating these prizes for the best answers and slogans).

HERE is the Sun-Telegraph Automobile Puzzle Contest, based on passenger cars to be exhibited in the forthcoming annual Automobile Show to be held at Motor Square Garden, January 18 to 25, inclusive.

Three separate puzzle pictures, in each of which will be concealed the name of an automobile and in each of which the artist has made at least 10 errors will be published for 10 days in the daily and Sunday Sun-Telegraph.

Readers of the Sun-Telegraph are invited to find the names of the automobiles and five of the artists' 10 errors in each puzzle and send them to the Auto Show Contest Editor, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, 612 Grant street, together with a good slogan, descriptive of the Automobile Show. YOU MUST SEND ALL YOUR ANSWERS AT THE SAME TIME IN ONE ENVELOPE AT THE COMPLETION OF THE CONTEST. ACCURACY, NEATNESS AND CLEVERNESS OF SLOGAN WILL BE CONSIDERED IN AWARDING THE PRIZES.

Prizes totaling $300 in gold and 200 show tickets are to be awarded the winners in the contest. Be sure to put your name and address with the slogan at the top of the first page. Your name should appear on each page you send in.

The final pictures will be published January 16. All answers must be in the hands of the Auto Show Contest Editor no later than midnight Friday, January 17. The winners will be announced at the Automobile Show, Monday evening, January 20 and in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph on January 21.

Your slogan must accompany the answers. It may be either rhyme or prose and should be applicable to the Automobile Show. It must be short, snappy and clever. Remember it is an important factor in deciding the winners.

Any person is eligible to enter this contest, except employes of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph or members of their families.

CONTESTANTS ARE NOT TO SEND IN THEIR ANSWERS UNTIL THE COMPLETION OF THE CONTEST, AND THEN ALL PUZZLES MUST BE MAILED IN THE SAME ENVELOPE AT THE SAME TIME. ANSWERS SHOULD BE SUBMITTED IN THE FOLLOWING MANNER: ELEVEN SHEETS OF PAPER WILL BE NECESSARY. ON THE FIRST SHEET MUST APPEAR THE CONTESTANTS NAME, ADDRESS AND THE SLOGAN. ON THE REMAINING SHEETS WILL APPEAR THE CONTESTANT'S NAME AND THREE SEPARATE PARAGRAPHS, EACH ONE DEVOTED TO ONE OF THE PUZZLES WHICH APPEARED ON EACH DAY. THE NAME OF THE CAR, FOUND IN THE PICTURE MUST BE LISTED AND UNDER IT THE FIVE MISTAKES MADE IN THE DRAWING. MAIL IT SO THAT THE AUTO SHOW CONTEST EDITOR WILL RECEIVE IT NO LATER THAN MIDNIGHT, JANUARY 17, AT 612 GRANT STREET.

LIST OF PRIZES

For the best list of correct auto names, discovered mistakes, and the cleverest slogan, the following prizes will be awarded:

First prize—$100 in gold.

Second prize—$50 in gold.

Third prize—$25 in gold.

Five prizes of $10 each, $50 in gold.

Fifteen prizes of $5 each, $75 in gold.

In case of ties, equal prizes will be awarded tying contestants.

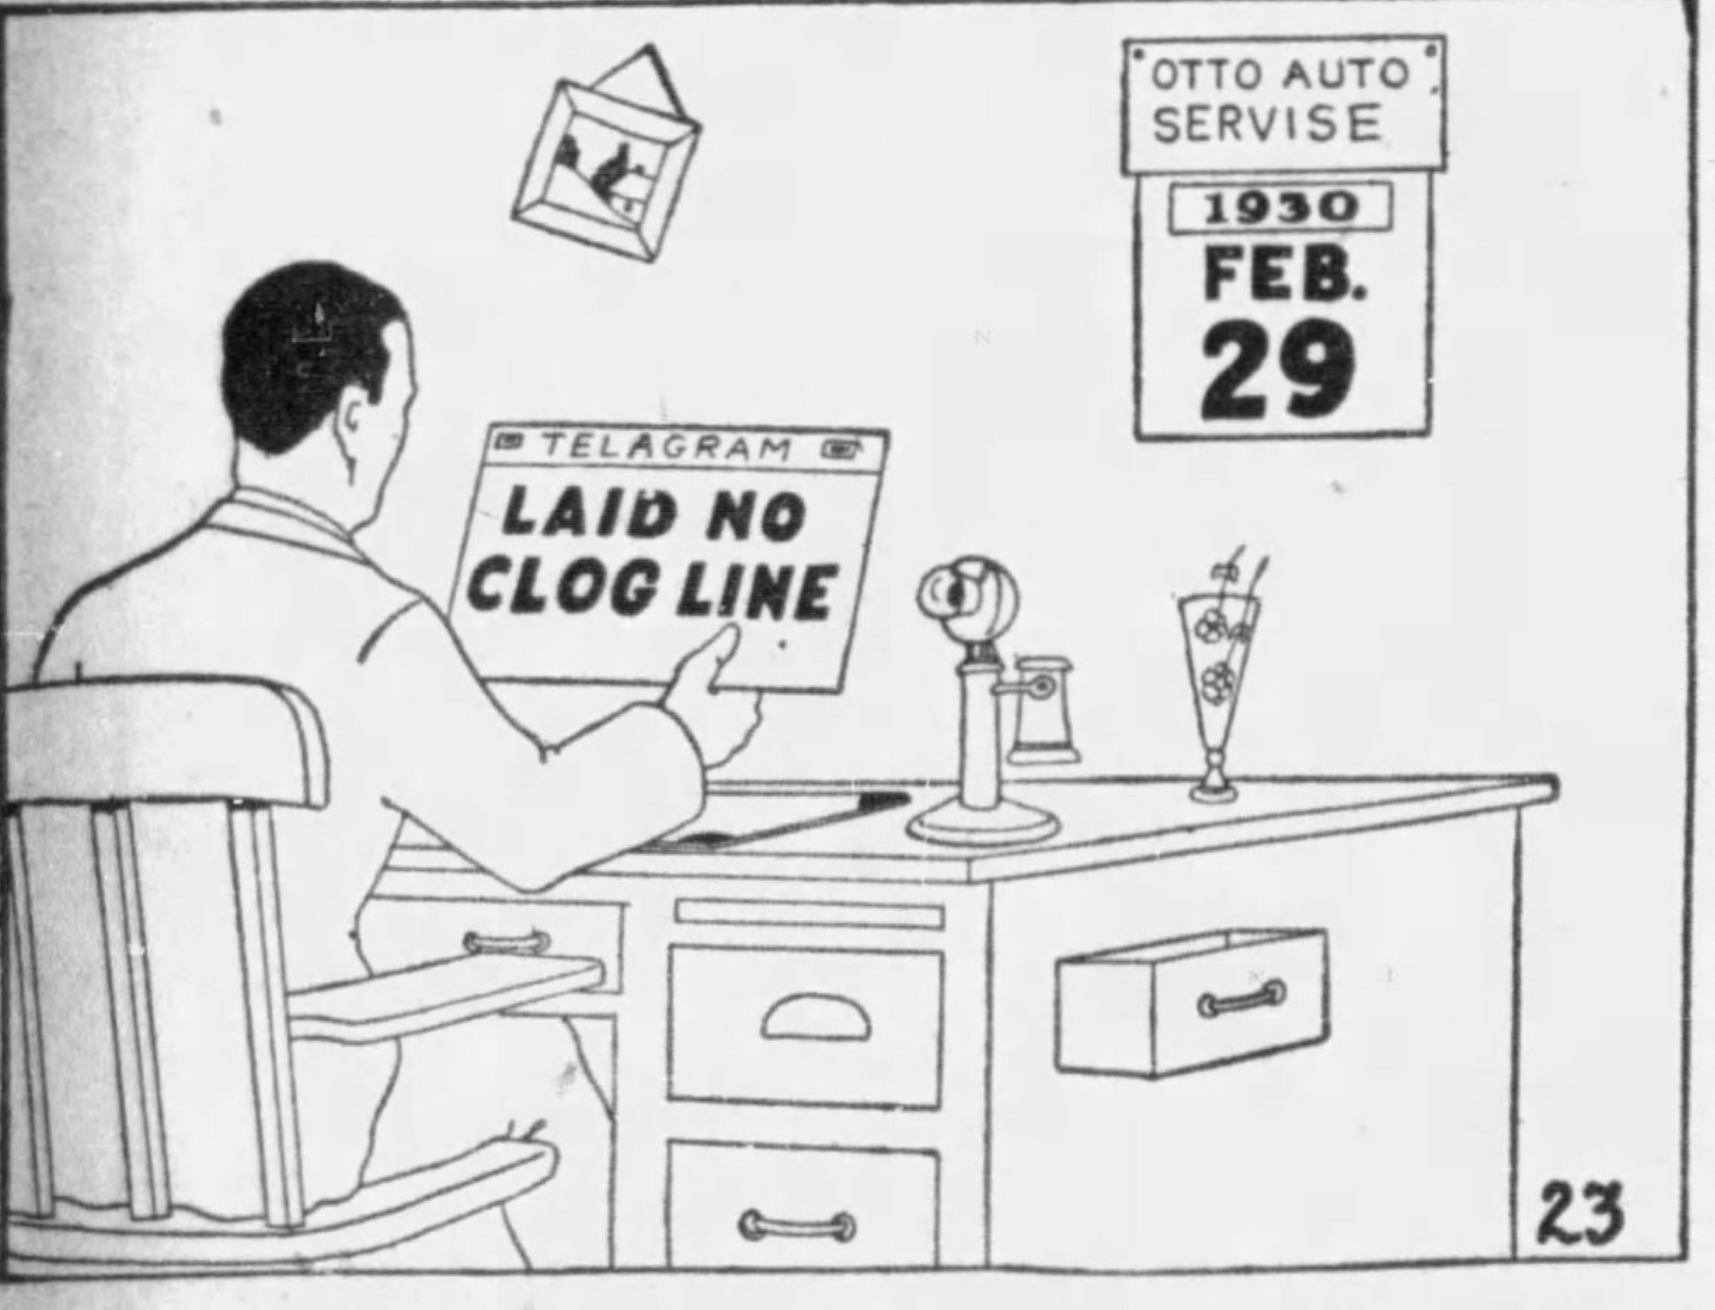
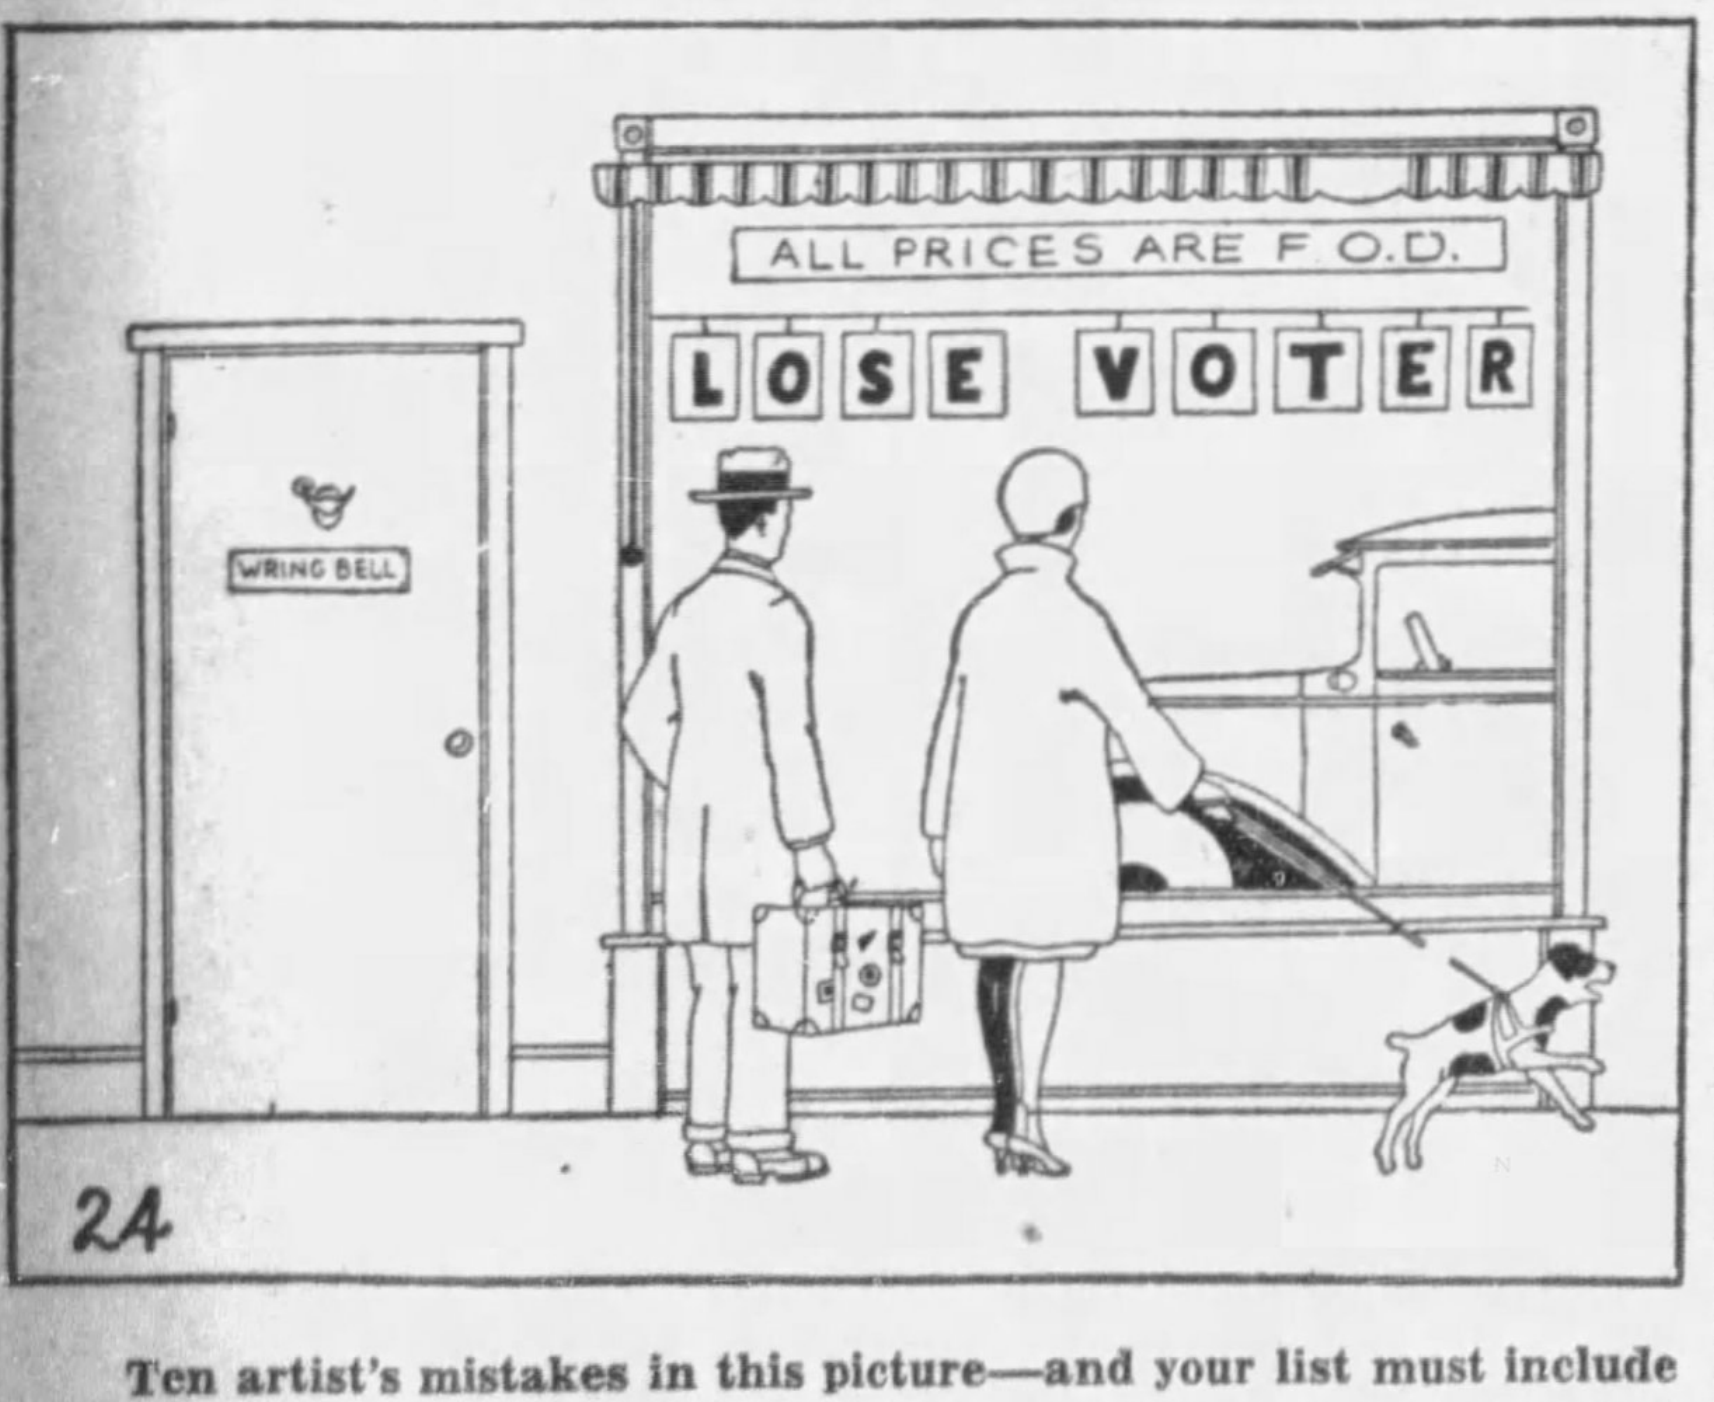
The artist found plenty of opportunities for mistakes in this picture. But he limited himself to 10. Try to find five of them and you have a complete list. The long sign has a definite purpose, for it conceals the name of a make of automobile. The word is there with its letters in proper order, somewhere in the sentence.



There are 10 things wrong in this picture. They are mistakes intended by the artist. Fnd all the mistakes that you can discover, and list five of the cleverist the artist made. The telegram gives a clue to the name of a make of automobile. Cross out certain letters in the telegram, following a regular progression or sequence, and the name of the car will remain.



Ten artist's mistakes in this picture—and your list must include only five of them to be correct. Keep looking and you will find them. You also need the name of a make of automobile, and the hanging letters supply that. You must, however, rearrange their order, changing them from LOSE VOTER into a complete name.

SCORE FLEE HOMES IN BRENTWOOD FIRE

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM DFARR

WELL, we always say that the road to some place or other is paved with good intentions. The other day we tried to make things easier for Councilman Roy Morton, of Etna, by writing that it was he who was selling tickets for the Elks banquet in Etna January 18. But it isn't a banquet; it's the dedication of the Elks' new $600,000 home. And no tickets are being sold; it's free. No matter, Mr. Morton, you can't deny that it's to be held on January 18.

We dropped into a meeting of Council, sitting as the budget committee, yesterday, to keep informed on our government. We saw Councilman English pounding the table with his fists and gesticulating rather excitedly. Mr. Kambach, the new councilman, was very silent and possibly self-conscious of his new surroundings. Mr. Herron spoke often with a finality to his advice. City Solicitor Waldschmidt patiently explained things from the legal standpoint. Harry Little smoked a cigar and read a sheet on which were printed many figures. Councilman Anderson leaned on the table and interjected terse remarks. Councilman Herron told Councilman English that he, English, was wrong about something or other. We were hopeful that this would start a nasty argument but Mr. English merely answered that Mr. Herron hadn't allowed him to explain and he went into his explanation. We took our leave.

HO HUM NOT ONE NASTY ARGUMENT !

WE have been observing a song writer recently and we were surprised to learn that the average young woman is willing to waste almost as much adoration on the song writer as on the master of ceremony.

This particular song writer is a homely duck but this defect (if it is a defect) was immediately overlooked once the 'gals' discovered that, lo and behold, here was a fellow who wrote rhymes about the beautiful moon and I'll Love You if You'll Love Me, Animal Crackers.

Jake, the song writer, is a bachelor and susceptible to the charms of beautiful women. In fact, he writes a song for every attractive woman he meets, if there's a piano handy. If, for instance, your name were Mary he'd compose, in about two minutes, a song called "Mary," and if you were Ruth he'd compose a song called "Ruth." We're violating a confidence by telling you that he has been using the same song for five years and simply changing the name where necessary. Once, however, he met a ravishing beauty upon whom he made no impression. Her name was Mehitabel.

The report that prohibition agents had uncovered a cache of moonshine in Coverdale by sniffing the stuff from a distance of 100 yards suggests possibilities. Why not hire our agents for their ability to sniff moonshine? This is the idea: Place 50 gallons of moonshine on the 50-yard line at the Pitt Stadium. Place your candidate on the 45-yard line and graduate them to the more distant yard lines, each falling out as he fails to detect the aroma of the stuff. The candidate who reaches the goal posts gets six points, the job and the moonshine.

AH! I SMELL MOONSHINE !

MY remaining days are dedicated to annihilate the author of the slogan, "Big boats don't rock." Say, the higher they are the further they rock. They tail spin, side slip and ground loop. It's taken a good man to stay tied in bed.

Well, here's how bad it is: There is not an American in the barroom and when I think of those poor senators on the George Washington, may the Almighty have pity on a poor peace delegation on a dry boat out on a night like this.

The more I see of steamship travel the less I think of the hardship of Lindbergh. If I can find a pilot that wants to fly to America I will be his Levine, and this goes as an advertisement.

Yours,
WILL.

P. S.—Wish they would disarm these waves.

LOVEJOY

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Armed with happiness, love and youth, Tom Nicholson and Lovejoy Mason are married. Tom's salary is small. They take a tiny flat. To both marriage was a leap in the dark. For two years, before the marriage, Tom had been jealous of Steve Oglebay, rich and handsome bachelor. Downtown with her friend, Norrie Shane, Lovejoy meets Steve. Although Norrie refuses, Lovejoy goes alone to lunch with him. She sees Tom. Frightened she starts to leave. Tom's eyes are on her. Norrie Shane's arrival saves Lovejoy. In September, Tom and Lovejoy move to a suburb. When Thomas, Jr., is born, a neighbor, Mrs. Aline Alderson, calls. Lovejoy is impressed by her smart appearance, but Norrie Shane thinks she is a fake and a fourflusher.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER VI.

LOVEJOY did not see Mrs. Alderson again for more than two months.

Then, on the afternoon of the third Saturday in November—her first wedding anniversary—the front door bell rang. And looking through the cream-colored net curtains of her little living room, Lovejoy saw her beautiful neighbor standing on the porch.

Beside her, looking for all the world like a gargoyle, stood a huge police dog with cocked ears and a most ferocious look.

"Heavens, I hope she doesn't expect to bring that horror into the house with her!" Lovejoy thought, turning down the cuffs of her house dress.

And she flew to close the door of the baby's room before she let Mrs. Alderson into the house.

The dog came in with her.

"Say how do you do to the lady, Don," Mrs. Alderson spoke to it. "And then lie down like a good beastie."

She dropped down into a chair, looking like a fashion-plate, in her brown velvet dress and hat. The dog stretched himself at her brown suede feet.

"His name is Don Ce-Sar," she said, "and he's a perfect darling ...How's your baby?"

Lovejoy hated to hear her speak of the dog and the baby in one breath like that. But she was always glad to tell people about Thomas Junior.

"He's wonderfully well, and as strong as he can be," she answered quickly.

"He keeps you pretty busy, doesn't he?" Mrs. Alderson interrupted. "I often see you out in your yard hanging out his little clothes. You do all your own work, too, don't you? All your housework, I mean."

Lovejoy nodded her bright head.

"I do everything but my husband's shirts and collars. I send those to the laundry to be done up," she said, flushing a little. . . . Somehow or other it made her feel ashamed to confess to this gay and glittering woman that she had to do all of her own work. It made her feel poverty-stricken and second-rate.

"But it's really easy," she hurried on to explain. "The house is so tiny, and the baby sleeps so much of the time."

The words were hardly out of her mouth before the sound of the baby crying startled her. She jumped up from her chair.

Before she reached the door of the room the telephone rang.

"I'll answer it for you," said Mrs. Alderson. "You go to the baby."

Two minutes later, after Lovejoy had given the baby a drink of water, she came back into the room to find Mrs. Alderson sitting in her chair once more, smoking a cigaret. There was a large white box on her lap.

"It was the wrong number," she said. "But while you were gone a boy brought this box for you."

With shining eyes and lips that curved up in a soft little smile Lovejoy opened the box. It was a florist's box, of course, and it was filled with pink and white camelias.

"It's our first wedding anniversary—Tom's and mine," she said, touching the lovely things with her fingers.

Then she opened the little envelope that was tied to them and read what Tom had written on the card inside it:

"For the most beautiful wife in all the world."

She looked at it tenderly for a second. Then suddenly she lifted her face and began to sniff the air . . . From the kitchen came the unmistakable smell of burning cake.

"Oh, my hat," she cried, and dropped the box in Mrs. Alderson's lap. "That's my cake—you'll pardon me. . . ."

With one swift movement she was out of the room and into the little kitchen.

The cake—three layers of it—was burned beyond all hope of saving. Groaning to herself over the waste of time and work and money, Lovejoy pulled the three blackened pans out of the oven and banged them down upon the drain-board.

Mrs. Alderson was on her feet, ready to go, when she came back into the room.

"I've made you spoil your baking, coming in this way when you were busy," she said, all regret and apology. "And I'm so sorry . . . I'm going down town. Please let me send you a cake from the bakery."

Lovejoy shook her head.

"No, no, no!" she answered firmly. "I can beat up another cake in five minutes . . . I'm not always as busy as this, but I've asked my aunt and uncle over for our anniversary dinner, and I wanted to do it all myself, just to show them how well I could do it. Please come again."

But she didn't say "Good-by," and she didn't go.

"Just now," she said, "when you dropped those flowers into my lap, I couldn't help but see what was written on the card that came with the . . . and I was just wondering how long your husband will think you are the most beautiful girl in the world."

Lovejoy stared at her.

Then she laughed.

"Tom always has thought I was wonderful-looking," she said. "I suppose a man always does think his own wife is a prize beauty."

She wished that this stranger hadn't seen what Tom had written to her. And even if she had seen it she certainly ought not to have spoken about it.

"But you really are a prize beauty," she was saying now in her light, pretty voice. "What I'm trying to tell you is that you won't be very long, though, if you keep on slaving and fussing like this ... I've been watching you for weeks from my house. Hanging clothes out in the yard, shaking rugs, emptying rubbish, washing windows, taking the baby out for walks..."

"Why, of course!" Lovejoy broke in with spirit. She wasn't going to let this strange woman stand there and tell her that she was an overworked drudge. Not if she knew herself.

"Why shouldn't I do these things?" she asked, and her gray eyes widened. "That's what I'm married for—to look after my home and my baby and husband."

Mrs. Alderson shrugged one brown velvet shoulder.

"Please don't be cross with me," she said smoothly. "I

HONORING MEMORY OF STEPHEN COLLINS FOSTER

TRIBUTE PAID TO FOSTER

The memory of Pittsburgh's composer, Stephen Collins Foster, was honored yesterday afternoon when the Stephen Collins Foster Memorial Committee of the Civic Club of Allegheny County met at his grave in Allegheny Cemetery to present a memorial program, marking the sixty-sixth anniversary of his death.

The program, presided over by George Seibel, chairman of the committee, consisted of a short address by the Rev. Dr. Hugh Thomson Kerr, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian Church; singing of several of Foster's most famous melodies by the Stephen C. Foster School Choral and music by the Schenley High School band, under the direction of Lee M. Lockhart.

William B. Foster, fifth, grandson of Morrison Foster, placed the Civic Club wreath on the grave. The wreath, trimmed with laurel, was tied with the club's colors, blue and white. Dr. Kerr pronounced the benediction.

While the services were being held at the grave of the composer, the chimes of Trinity rang out. It was from old Trinity Church that Stephen Foster was buried, January 15, 1864. Chimes also rang at Calvary Episcopal Church and at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church of Sewickley.

Through KDKA, Roxey's symphony orchestra broadcast from New York accentuating the program at 8 o'clock in the evening. Continuous during the day, radio programs contained Foster Melodies.

Finger Scratch Causes Death Of Boy

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 14.—A scratch on a finger proved fatal to Leo George, 14, Waynesburg High School student, who died of blood poisoning as a result of infection.

The scratch was suffered two weeks ago, but his condition did not become serious until a few days ago.

Minister, Laymen Hold Day of Prayer

A day of prayer by ministers and laymen of the Pittsburgh presbytery is being held today in the Bellevue Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. R. F. Galbreath, pastor. Morning and afternoon sessions were scheduled.

Three Hit and Run Motorists Sought

Three occupants of an automobile that struck and severely injured John Holt, 35, a Negro, of 228 Twenty-first street, were being sought today by South Side police. After the accident, which occurred at South Twenty-second and Josephine streets, the three men abandoned the car and fled.

Albert Fahrner, 32, of 2724 Oakley street, who tried to stop the men, was struck in the face and knocked to the ground. Police removed Holt to the South Side Hospital and took charge of the automobile.

Radio Singer Held On Hotel's Charge

Arrangements were being made today for release on bail of Al Schenck, well known radio artist, who yesterday was lodged in the County jail on charges of defrauding the William Penn Hotel of $376. The bail will have to be set by the district attorney.

Schenck was returned to Pittsburgh from Newark, N. J., where he was entertaining in a night club. A few nights ago a Pittsburgh detective heard Schenck sing over the radio and knowing that he was wanted for the hotel bill, returned him to this city.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

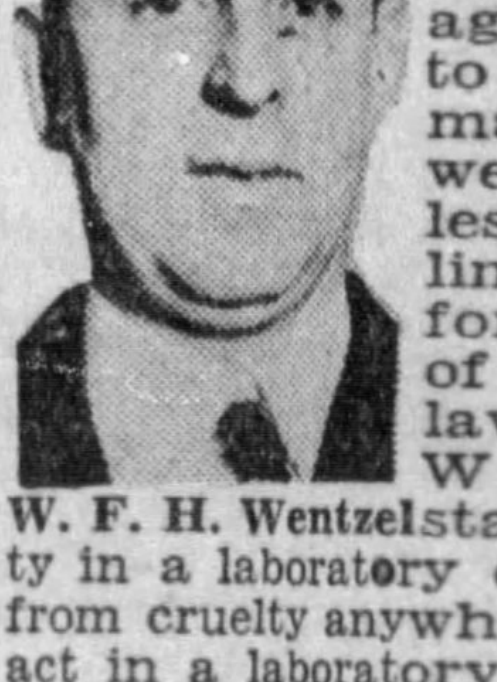
Today's Question: Should vivisection be practiced on animals? i. e. Vivisection in the experimentation on living, mostly not-anesthetized animals.

Miss O'Donnell

BEATRICE O'DONNELL, North Side, waitress: "It's cruel and not good for science, either. In medical college in Cleveland, they give the animals an anesthetic before operating, then they bring them to again. That's the way it ought to be done."

Miss Caputo

CHRISTINE CAPUTO, Beechview, secretary: "I don't think it's so cruel. I've studied botany and zoology and I think it's necessary to know those things. The hurt is worth the results obtained for the advancement of science."



W. F. H. Wentzel

W. F. H. WENTZEL, downtown, secretary: "The humane societies of the type in which we serve are fundamentally responsible for making effective the laws against cruelty to animals or humans who are weak and helpless. We are limited to enforcing the laws of cruelty by the laws of the state. We take the stand that cruelty in a laboratory does not differ from cruelty anywhere else. If an act in a laboratory is a violation of the law then the humane society is ready to enforce it. In the matter of expert knowledge on scientific subjects our organization does not attempt to qualify."

Miss Chando

ANNA MAY CHANDO, Mt. Oliver, cashier: "It's a good thing for science, I think. The cruelty is justified by the good it does. I do think, though, that they should give the poor things ether, because an animal has feelings just the same as anyone else."

Dr. Maits

DR. C. B. MAITS, downtown, Director of Public Health: "Some of the greatest advances in preventive medicine have come as the direct result of animal experimentation. These experiments are performed with antiseptic precaution and the animals are given careful attention."

Dr. Martin.

DR. JOHN W. MARTIN, downtown, dentist: "The question is all wrong. It is true that vivisection is practiced on live animals, but surely not for the purpose of causing the animals pain or suffering. It is done solely for the purpose of helping suffering humanity. The truth of the matter is that the operations are not performed on non-anesthetized animals.

Work on Lovejoy Contest Letters Being Speeded

The "Lovejoy" letter writing contest is over. The contest editor has been deluged with letters on the questions, "How to Hold Your Wife" and "How to Hold Your Husband!" Letters received after tomorrow will not be considered.

In the meantime, the letters will be opened and carefully read by the judges, so that the awards of $250 in gold cash prizes can be made as soon as possible.

There are so many thousands of letters and the suggestion in them are so diversified that it will take at least two weeks to read all of them—perhaps longer than two weeks. There will, however, be as little delay as possible, as the Sun-Telegraph knows that these thousands of writers are anxiously waiting for the verdict.

By the way, all of "Lovejoy" that has gone before and all that will be printed up to and including tomorrow is now mailable in tabloid form—free for the asking. If you missed the early chapters and want to start the story, you may have one of these tabloids by sending a self-addressed 2-cent stamped envelope with your request to the Circulation Department, Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

8 COMPANIES BATTLE BLAZE

Fifty Autos in Garage Burn With $35,000 Loss; Owner in Hospital

More than a score of persons were forced from their homes in night clothing and 50 automobiles were burned when flames swept the Brentwood Motor Company garage at 2725-31 Brownsville road, Brentwood, and damaged an adjoining apartment house this morning.

Firemen from Brentwood borough and Baldwin township fought the blaze along with six city companies. Three alarms were sounded, bringing firemen from the South Side district. Fire Chief Richard Smith estimated the damage at $35,000.

The fire is said to have originated in the garage from an unknown cause and spread to the second floor apartments. It later spread to the three-story apartment building at 2721-23 Brownsville road where six families resided on the second and third floors.

OWNER IN HOSPITAL

The garage is owned by Matthew McGuirk, who resides on the second floor. He was absent at the time, having gone to a hospital a few days ago for an operation.

The families residing on the second floor above the garage, who were forced out were McGuirk's wife, Lillian, and their 5-year-old son, Donald; Mr. and Mrs. John D. Fulton and their 5-month-old daughter, Jacquline; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ahlborn and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wehyel. Brentwood firemen, first on the scene, helped them to the street.

Those forced to the street from their quarters in the apartment house were the families of Delmar Griffith, Walter R. Landefeld, H. C. Clark, Peter Frey, Joseph Sauer and John Miller. Their apartments were damaged by smoke and water. Firemen were handicapped by the dense smoke that filled the halls of the apartment and had difficulty in locating the fire between the roof and the third floor.

POLICE RUSHED TO SCENE

Brentwood firemen called to the scene by the borough siren, summoned help from Baldwin Township and then from the city. Deputy Fire Chief Harry Kuhlman, arriving with the first city company, sent in two additional alarms. Six patrol wagons filled with police were on the scene. Lieut. Paul Berman and Lieut. Thomas Gross had charge of the 34 officers in keeping pedestrians from danger.

The Brentwood Hardware Company and the Perfect Way Cleaning and Dying Company, occupying the first floor of the apartment building, suffered from smoke and water. Firemen fought the blaze with 10 lines of hose, both from Brownsville road and from an alley in back of the burning structures.

Bellevue W. C. T. U. To Meet Tomorrow

A meeting of the Bellevue chapter, Woman's Christian Temperance Union, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the Bellevue Methodist Protestant Church. Mrs. Maria McIntyre is president.

Eddie Cantor Rises to Say:

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 14.

MY pal, Will Rogers, left for London, to attend the naval conference. That's a dirty trick, leaving me alone with Congress.

The American delegates brought $200,000 alone for expenses, figuring to stay 60 days. If they run short and try to "touch" Rogers, knowing he was not touched by the stock market, I strongly advise Will not to give them a cent, unless Secretary Mellon cables O. K.

In their suites at St. James Palace, the American delegates have complained of the cold.

They have open fireplaces there, but no steam heat. Wait until they ask France to cut a few submarines, they won't need any fireplaces or steam heat for the rest of the winter.

26 FACTORIES LOCATE HERE IN 1929

$25,000,000 Investment Has Given 3,289 Employment; Diversity of Output Gain

Twenty-six new plants, with a total investment of $25,036,000, began operations in the Pittsburgh district in 1929, according to an industrial survey of the Chamber of Commerce made public yesterday. The survey began in April, and shows that of the 26 new concerns, 16 were new plant developments of Greater Pittsburgh concerns, five were new Pittsburgh organizations, and the remainder, branches of parent companies located elsewhere.

These new industries afford employment to 3,289 workers, who will receive approximately $4,749,316 annually, to be added to the Allegheny County payroll of $244,861,800 in 1928.

DIVERSE PRODUCTS

The report was compiled by A. S. Keller, secretary of the industrial expansion committee of the chamber, of which Frank R. Phillips, senior vice president of the Philadelphia Company, is chairman. It shows a diversity of products manufactured by the new plants, among them five never before manufactured in the Pittsburgh district — airplanes, new process window glass, non-shatterable glass, flexible expansion joints for train-line connection, and haydite, a concrete aggregate used in place of sand and gravel in the construction of buildings where a saving of weight is sought.

Four hundred concerns were interviewed in the eight-month period by the chamber committee. Of these 50 reported cramped quarters and desirous of new locations, as they were operating on 100 per cent capacity. Several have been relocated and others plan to move into sites suggested by the chamber.

RIVER BIG FACTOR

The completion of the canalization of the Ohio River, the report indicates, played an important part in the year's expansion. Pittsburgh, it states, as an inland port, where goods may be floated cheaply to all markets in the Mississippi basin and the Gulf of Mexico, has attracted the interest of industrialists. The waterway has lessened the competition of the middle west and other territory against Pittsburgh.

"The work of the industrial expansion committee of the Chamber," stated Chairman Phillips, "is two-fold. We are helping small business to expand and we are encouraging industries to locate in Pittsburgh. Expansion, we believe, can be accomplished only by assisting home industries to grow. It is a careful study that must be worked out carefully; and it cannot be accomplished in a year."

MAN ACCUSED IN RUM FRAUD

Police of Mt. Vernon, O., today are expected to come to Pittsburgh and return to the Ohio city with Walter Bryant, 40, a Negro, of Chicago, who is being held in the county jail in connection with mulcting prominent residents of Mt. Vernon by fake whisky sales. The man also is wanted in Chicago and Columbus, county detectives here say.

Bryant, dressed in expensive clothes and driving a high priced automobile, was arrested on Browns Hill yesterday by County Detective Michael McDermott. He was taken to detective headquarters where McDermott produced a wooden whisky box. When the box was opened it was found to contain a bushel of potatoes. Police say the man would call wives and secretaries of prominent business men, saying the business man had ordered whisky. He would leave the box of potatoes and collect from $100 to $400 in each case, police say.

COLD HAMPERS AIR WARFARE

The zero weather being experienced in the middle west is extremely hard on the motors of the airplanes of the First Pursuit group engaged in winter maneuvers, according to radio reports received here today by F. E. Herron, of 7002 Kedron avenue, and A. M. McAuly, of Oakmont, members of the American Radio Relay League.

The latest report from Great Falls, Mont., follows:

"Planes of Arctic flight were started at Minot, by draining all the water, oil and prestone and injecting live steam through the motors and also by hot blowers actuated by blow torches. In doing so three radiators started leaking. As this was a line group process the day's maneuvers were made up in small flights. In taking off at Minot, Lieut. Warburton damaged skiis badly, and they were replaced by wheels. Planes with wheels made good landings.

"One pursuit plane, Lieut. Elliott, pilot, was forced down at Hosey, needing new motors. Lieuts. Wolfe, Warburton and Cutt landed at Havre when darkness was overtaking them. They have been directed to rejoin the group at Kalispell tomorrow. The flights was made in groups of three and five planes, giving the junior officers an excellent opportunity to learn their limits in the winter weather. All planes arrived at Glasgow at 1:15 p. m.

"Today's flights were made in temperatures varying from 10 degrees below zero at Minot to 5 degrees around Great Falls. The level country covered with snow made flying without skiis at low altitudes barely safe. Weather permitting, the group will fly to Kalispell tomorrow. Then to Spokane, landing on Twin Lake, six miles north of Rathspon. Four minor repairs to be made here. Otherwise pilots and planes in excellent condition.

COUNCIL CUTS LIGHT COSTS

Council today cut the 1930 budget request for electric current at the City Home and Hospital at Mayview from $15,00 0to $10,000.

Mayview officials said an emergency service should be provided in the event the institution's plant failed temporarily.

Operating officials at the institution declared they needed the three old boilers in addition to two new ones recently installed.

Mechanical engineers who furnished and designed the installation of the new boilers emphatically stated that the new units were adequate for the institution's entire needs.

Councilman Robert Garland reiterated that Carnegie Library spent about $15,000 in the operation of a power plant comparable with Mayview, where the expense was about $50,000.

Conferees included Dr. James S. Hammers and J. E. Lackey, superintendent and chief engineer, respectively, at Mayview; Lieut. Col. Sidney A. Hagerling, associate of Eric Fisher Woods, architect for the Mayview building program; W. S. Mansfield, of the Morris Knowles Company, which supervised the mechanical installation; C. C. Peterson, general manager of the Rush Machinery Company, which furnished the new boilers.

Weather Conditions.

The principal disturbance is centered over Eastern Iowa this morning, apparently moving toward the upper lakes. It is causing cloudy weather over most of the country, and it is still raining at scattered places in the Ohio Valley states and over the lower lakes. Over the Central Plains states it is snowing. In Iowa the snowfall was from eight to nine inches deep. The rainfall was moderately heavy over Ohio and Indiana. The weather continues mild east of the Mississippi, while over the Plains states the cold weather still prevails. The high pressure area is centered over Northern Alberta, and extends southward over the northwestern states to Wyoming and Nebraska.

SEEK TO LINK 3 IN HOLDUPS

A woman and two men faced a "standup" in the Detective Bureau today when more than a score of victims viewed them in effort to identify them as drug store bandits.

The prisoners, Grace Beatty, alias "Pawn Ticket Annie," 19, of 7296 East Lemington avenue; John V. Kopfer, alias James Northup, 20, of Reifer street, Knoxville, and Ted Keigan, 19, of 711 Ivy street, were held over at a hearing in Morals Court yesterday when detectives announced they sought to link them in connection with drug store robberies.

Kopfer, detectives said, admitted participating in the holdup New Year's Eve of the Weiss Restaurant, at 6022 Center avenue.

The woman denied taking part in any robberies or sharing in any loot from them.

THIEVES SMASH SHOP FOR LOOT

Property damage exceeded the loot of robbers who yesterday visited the plumbing shop of W. J. Vallely, at 3342 Penn avenue. The thieves, before carrying away plumbing supplies valued at $120, tore down shelves and other fixtures and damaged the shop to the extent of $500, according to police.

Cash amounting to $265, hidden beneath a counter, was stolen from a chain grocery store at 7703 Frankstown avenue, Russell Butts, manager of the place, reported to police. The cash was stolen while Butts was at lunch.

Jaywalk Traffic Ordinance Revived

An ordinance codifying about 100 traffic measures that "died" when the last Council went out of existence, has been reintroduced.

The ordinance appears to seek to abolish tag "fixing" by giving the city controller supervision over the distribution of tags to policemen and having the controller report each month on the disposition of the tags.

The proposed ordinance would provide greater protection for the pedestrian and impose certain responsibilities. Pedestrians who ignored traffic lights or directions from corner policemen would be liable to a fine.

The ordinance seeks to prevent drivers from crowding passengers on the front seat to an extent that visibility is hampered.

GIVEN YEAR FOR ARSON

A year and a month to Huntingdon Reformatory was the sentence imposed by Judge Harry H. Rowand upon George J. Kearns, 21, 237 Lehigh street, when he pleaded guilty to arson.

Kearns said that anger had caused his action. He had been employed at the Taubman Stores Corporation in the Seventh Avenue Hotel building. On January 6 he had an argument with the manager, he said, over his night off, and as a result was discharged. In resentment, he claimed, he set fire to some waste paper at the foot of the basement stairs. The fire was extinguished with little loss.

BABCOCK TALK DELETED

Councilman Robert Garland has suggested the elimination from the official city records of parts of a speech made by County Commissioner Edward V. Babcock at Mayor Charles H. Kline's inauguration last January 6.

City Clerk Robert Clark indicated that the records would be deleted.

Babcock, it was explained, had been in Florida and returned to Pittsburgh for the express purpose of attending the mayor's induction into office for the second term.

"It is true," declared Babcock, "that I came from Florida for the inaugural with some reluctance because there are many attractions there."

Babcock then read a blank verse epic of the charms of Florida as follows:

"There I found nothing to eat but pompano and strawberries;

"Nothing to drink but Bacardi rum and Johnny Walker;

"Nothing to shoot but quail and golf balls;

"Nothing to revel in but sunshine and ocean dips;

BOOST AROUSES M'GOVERN IRE

Enlivened by outbursts from County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern and repartee from Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong, the Board of County Commissioners waded through a considerable portion of the budget at the first session, held yesterday afternoon.

When Controller Robert G. Woodside asked for a $1,500 raise for his attorney, McGovern declared it to be an "imposition" and said that he thinks "with the taxpayers protesting any tax increase, economy should start with the officers of the county, "especially when it's a raise for lawyers who don't do much," he added.

"Maybe your lawyer doesn't do much, but mine does," angrily asserted Controller Woodside.

The increase passed with a two to one vote, McGovern voting "No."

There was little change in the expense of operation of the several county offices whose heads appeared before the meeting with their requests for 1930. The hearing will be in session again today.

JUDGE TO RULE ON VERDICT

Visiting Judge Charles W. Whitten, of Westmoreland County, freed Peter Marckey, 50-year-old laborer of the F. W. Scott Camp, Marshall Township, of a murder charge. He told the jury the evidence did not warrant conviction.

Marckey was placed on trial yesterday, charged with killing John Rabeck, also 50, of the Scott camp, in a fight. Rabeck died of peritonitis October 1, due, the coroner said, to being kicked by the defendant a week before. Little time was lost in selecting the jury, and all the evidence had been taken when court adjourned late yesterday.

Attorney Frarnk A. Bogadek, claiming that the state had failed to make out a case of murder showing malice, moved that the jury be directed to acquit the prisoner and the judge announced he would rule on the motion today.

COUNCIL O. K.'S BUDGET FUND

Council has passed finally an ordinance providing $4,712,601 as approximately one-sixth of the 1930 budget to meet expenses of the city, including employes' payrolls, for January and February.

Council has increased the tax rates to 26 mills on land and 13 mills on buildings, but has not cut the departments' appropriation requests to a figure that can be financed with the new tax levy.

Anticipating that the budget may not be closed for some time, members of Council decided to pass a temporary ordinance that would provide funds for current expenses until the budget is formally closed.

When they admitted, police say, to stealing two automobiles, Philip Fears, 17, Negro, of 314 Morgan street, and George H. Declaring that too many childdren of today face the clouded, sunless life of the great cities, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, here today as the guest of the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania, made an appeal for better housing, equipment of new playgrounds and attractive school buildings.

Secretary Wilbur came to Pittsburgh to deliver an address at Carnegie Music Hall tonight on "Child Welfare."

He is accompanied by Mrs. Wilbur, who will be entertained during her stay by social and philanthropic leaders.

"The child of yesterday enjoyed the healthy environment of the small town and the open country," said Secretary Wilbur.

"Today he is hedged in by the somber walls of a great city with its smells and its noise, all of which cramps the natural expression of his spiritual soul.

DAILY TRUE STORY "THE REFORMATION"

THERE was a lot of talk in Hollywood about Rex Romaine.

For that matter, there is a lot of talk about everyone in the movie game who is sufficiently important to have his or her name on the screen almost continually for a year or so.

And if one has attained stardom—as Rex Romaine had done without question—the talk is more general and more unreliable.

Rex Romaine had come on from a small mid-western stock company and found work here and there in a few pictures about a dozen years ago. They were small parts, and few people noticed such lines as:

"Silent" Kelly, a gangster . . . Edward Watson.

You see, the widely popular and dashing hero, Rex Romaine, was just Edward Watson, a dozen years ago.

It was Cusak, the erratic but clever director, who spotted Watson in some small role in a western picture drama. Cusak remembered how well this chap Watson looked in the rough and tumble fight scene where he got the shirt torn from his back. They weren't quite so effete about male anatomy and knockdown fights in pictures in those days.

And so when Director Cusak started casting for his big picture, "More Than a Prince," he decided to try Watson. He called for him and had a talk in his private office.

"Think you can get away with it?" Cusak asked.

Watson was sure he could. Stock company players—as well as others—are not overburdened with modesty or anything akin to an inferiority complex.

"All right," said Cusak, "you are a star I have imported from—do you speak German?"

"No, sir; but I can speak Spanish like a native; my mother was Spanish."

"All right," said Cusak, "you are a star imported from Spain—your name is Rex Romaine."

"What's the matter with my name?—I've been in stock—"

"Do you want the star part and five hundred a week?" Cusak barked at him. Cusak knew that if this man made good he would have to pay him many times that sum, but right now he could get away with that salary and Cusak was a good business man as well as a clever director.

Watson, being out of work and down to twenty-odd dollars, did want the star part and the money. So he took two weeks advance, ran up to 'Frisco, got new clothes and came into Hollywood as Rex Romaine.

He certainly did make good. Not that he set the world afire with that one picture, but within five more years he was one of the seemingly fixed stars.

Then he married pretty Pansy Harwood. Pansy was one sweet little type—one of the "pony" type of bathing beauties and as good as she was beautiful—a state of affairs not half so rare as a lot of moss-backed croakers would have the world believe.

Romaine—we had better forget the Edward Watson name for the present—was naturally a handsome man. He built an attractive home back in the hills and for a while his wife was as happy as any girl might ask to be.

The success that came to Rex Romaine went to his head. It had done so to many others. He began to think a great deal of Rex Romaine. He certainly fell madly in love with himself.

Many a time he had faced his pretty wife at breakfast while his chauffeur and imported car waited to take him to the studio, and said, "Pansy, you sure were one lucky little dame to get me!"

Pansy admitted it.

She admitted it long after she had convinced herself that she wasn't lucky at all.

Rex Romaine was a born actor—and his work was excellent. This was before the talkies were more than in the doubtful experimental age.

But Romaine got the old swelled bean—so much adoration, everyone at the studio acting as though he were some demigod at least. And his fan mail—sentimental fools, young and old, writing letters to him that would have made St. Anthony crawl into his cave and haul the cave in after him!

Between pictures Romaine would journey East to New York to give the Main-stemmers a treat and to meet some of his admiring correspondents, by previous arrangement.

Or he would go up in the mountains on some millionaire's ranch with a mixed party where everything went—except morality.

Pansy's friends got over their envy of her—they pitied her. It was no secret that Romaine abused her, beat her, and was no more faithful to her than a butterfly is to one blossom.

One day Wally Jameson arrived in Hollywood. Wally had six years' experience as a sort of drifting newspaper reporter, and a few dollars in cash.

He didn't come to Hollywood because they made pictures there or because he hoped to crash the movies. He had no interest in pictures whatever.

Life held nothing at all interesting for Wally. He felt that even the big picture studios would bore him. He wanted a job and a good, hard assignment.

Pansy—Mrs. Edward Watson in very private life and Mrs. Rex Romaine to the public—was crossing the street.

A truck was rumbling along. Pansy slipped and would have fallen in dire danger if Wally Jameson hadn't grabbed her and pulled her away.

She looked up at him in surprise.

"Why, Rex," she cried, "you back? What's this, a new character? I didn't know—"

"Sorry, little girl, but the name isn't Rex—you've got me wrong," he said.

"Don't be funny, Rex—as if I didn't know your voice, even if you are in such a hideously fitting suit. Tell me—"

"Ah, you think I am Rex Romaine—I am not," said Wally, "but I have been told that I resemble him. The name is Wallace Jameson—which is slightly Scotch, although I am a generous chap."

Pansy was finally convinced. She told him who she was.

"For the first time, I envy a movie actor—because he has you for a wife," said the gallant Wally.

He went on his way. But only to the outside of one of the studios, when Cusak stepped out of his car and stopped him.

"Say, I'm glad you're back—I thought you were on that souse party with the bunch—"

"One moment, kind sir," said Wally. "Not 10 minutes ago Mrs. Rex Romaine claimed me as her husband. You evidently think I am Romaine. I am not. I am a newspaper man—out of a job, but I certainly do not want to be a movie actor."

Cusak took him in, showed him some of the forthcoming picture and offered him a nice generous sum of money to double for Romaine in the duel scene.

It was more money than Jameson could drag down in three months, and since no one would know it wasn't Romaine, he agreed.

Rex Romaine came back in such terrible shape that he wasn't able to start the new picture for a week. But Wally Jameson kept right on working.

All through this picture Wally Jameson worked, doubling in the cliff dive, in the fist-fight scene and especially in the horseback elopement scene.

After the picture was finished Wally decided to move on. He had saved enough money to enable him to wander around a full year before he got a newspaper job.

And again, he learned about the way Rex treated his wife. Wally had fallen for her. It made him want to commit murder to see the way Rex treated her.

Rex Romaine went East again. There were slight whispers of some raids and other trouble he got into in the Big City, but he came back and said that he was going on a little trip up through the mountains to rest. He was going alone in his sport car.

"Who is she?" asked Cusak, who detested Romaine as a man, but knew his screen value.

"On the level—I'm going alone," Romaine had said.

Two days later a well-dressed, but hard-faced looking man came looking for Romaine. He was told he had gone into the mountains for a rest—and one employe at the studio talked just a little too much.

"He has a little bungalow up at Kew Lake," he said.

The time came for the next picture to be started. Cusak was to call it "The Song of the Sword." It was to be Romaine's best. But that's old stuff—every new picture is to be a star's "best."

At any rate Romaine didn't show up!

Cusak waited four days. He would allow any big star that much leeway, but after that to wait even a day meant a big wasted overhead.

Cusak got hold of Jameson just as that somewhat bored "double" was packing to go East.

"Need you, Wally," said Cusak, who had become extremely fond of him.

"No can do — got plenty money—"

But Cusak explained, finishing with— "and when he does come back he won't be fit to work for a week. Meanwhile I'll pay you his salary!"

They were in the fourth week of the picture when Pansy came to Cusak. She was worried, no sign of her husband and with the picture going on she thought Cusak might have fired him. Cusak promised to find Romaine for her.

Cusak took Jameson along.

They had to stop over night, reaching Kew Lake the next day. There were no signs of life about Romaine's bungalow across a corner of the lake. A native said no one had been there for a month. They went over and investigated.

Rex Romaine was there—or what remained of a man who had been dead four weeks from a bullet in the head!

There were a woman's traveling bag, a lot of woman's apparel and a photograph in the bag of the hard-faced man who had called at the studio looking for Romaine.

"I'll stick through the picture," Jameson promised.

"You'll stick right along, Wally," Cusak said.

There was a night burial—beneath deep sod and slabs of stone so cleverly arranged that no one could suspect a grave.

They went back. Cusak told Pansy the truth.

Wally Jameson finished the picture. Then he had a conference with Pansy. The result was that Wally Jameson left Hollywood. A little later Rex Romaine came on from the East, where, it was said, his financial interests had called him.

This Rex Romaine—none other than Wally Jameson—went to the Romaine home to live!

But not until, in another state, Mrs. Pansy Watson, widow, had married Wallace Jameson.

Within a few months everyone began to talk about Pansy and her husband. She was so happy again—Rex Romaine had thoroughly reformed—he was the best of husbands!

Critics there who discussed his wonderful reformation declared that his screen work was even better.

All of Pansy's friends wondered why she named her first born—a son—Wallace.

NO GIRL SHOULD BECOME ENGAGED UNTIL SHE DEFINITELY DECIDES TO MARRY
WHY NOT?
WE CAN'T GET MARRIED YET
BUT—I'M ENGAGED
YEAH—BUT YOU'RE NOT MARRIED
FAY-KING

By FAY KING

FOR three years they had been engaged. She wore his ring. He bought furniture for their future home. Inflamed with jealousy and injured pride, because he thought himself slighted for another, while she still postponed the marriage, he shot and killed her.

Another tragedy of the long engagement.

A girl who is satisfied to be indefinitely engaged to a man and constantly finds excuses to postpone the marriage does not love him.

An engagement should exist only after the marriage date is set for the near future.

Before that a friendship, free for change of heart, should be all that binds them; so they may be sure.

Better a sudden elopement than an endless engagement.

True love is impatient.

Harry's Excitement Has Madge and Lillian 'All Het Up'

THE arrow which had whizzed between Princess Olina and me while we were upon the hotel roof was fraught with much significance to Harry Underwood. This we conjectured when he came from his room a minute or two after I had handed the thing over to him and hurried out of the door. But he found time to say a word of commendation in passing which much gratified about you, Lady Fair. Your giving those surroundings the quick once over sure narrowed down the possibilities I have to go over. Good work."

"Glad you kept your wits me.

Lillian knew little more than I. She called me into her room after Harry had gone and pushed a chair toward me with a wry smile.

"Give me the data on the arrow stuff," she said. "I haven't seen Harry so het up since the rat ate the malt. He said you'd tell me about it, and he didn't take time to spill a single bean—just opened the piece of twisted paper under the head of the thing, read it and bolted."

"Did he tell you that no one was to go to the roof until he found out where the arrow came from?" I asked.

"No. That means he thinks there's trouble somewhere."

"It also means," I said, rising, "that I must see that everybody here has that message at once."

"All right, Casabianca," she grinned. "But come back here, pronto."

"I shan't be gone a minute," I promised, and kept my word when I found Olina relating the story and Mr. Underwood's prohibition to a rapt audience of three—Mary, Noel and Georges. Lillian appeared equally interested when I returned and told her of the incident. It was an interest which deepened into concern, however, when she realized from my account that the arrow must have come from somewhere on the roof of the hotel.

"That narrows down the search, of course," she said, "but it sure spells trouble. Harry thought he had everything bottled up, but if some of these devils have managed to get to the roof without being detected it's bad medicine."

"You think the paper really was a message from those men," I said.

"Judging from the way Harry shot out of here it was eight or nine of 'em," she retorted. "But why borrow trouble? We'll know all about it when Harry gets back, but that won't be for 'quite some little time,' as Mrs. Ticer says. Sit still and dish me anything you know. Honest to Agnes, I know why women used to hang over the back fences half the time gossiping with their neighbors. If I'm penned in here much longer I shall call in Purnell and ask him to tell me what's doing around the hotel."

"I wouldn't attempt to compete with Purnell's probable fund of information," I said with a smile at the remembrance of the affable, grandiose little darkey who had aided me so signally at my announcement dinner. "But I can tell you something which will intrigue your interest, I fancy."

"Then tell it quickly before I shake it out of you," she threatened, and I told her forthwith of Olina's demand for the newspapers and her discovery of the personal from her mother, the Queen of Transvania.

"Olga isn't called the 'Royal Matchmaker' for nothing," was her comment when I had finished. "When Prince Georges was the second from the throne, and both the old King and the next in line were in robust health, Olga couldn't see him. But with the heir dead and the old King dying, she patiently will make a play for Georges. If she had another unmarried daughter she probably wouldn't bother about Olina. I can imagine Olga forgiving the girl, but not banking on her as a candidate for a throne sharing stunt—she's great on the dignity thing, Olga is. But she's got her a gen-oo-ine kink for every other daughter—three of 'em—and Olina's the only bet she has left. She'll not give up Georges without a struggle, but, oh boy! what wouldn't I give to have her here now, and see our little Mary making Georges turn hand-springs."

"Do you share Harry's belief that she can go on making him turn hand-springs indefinitely if she chooses?" I asked.

"No, I don't," she returned promptly. "One or two more jolts such as Mary handed Georges yesterday and the lad's subconscious yen for Olina will begin to come out in the open, as he reflects upon Mary's patient unfitness to share his exalted sphere. What the poor fish will never see, possessing the usual masculine obtuseness and conceit, is that if Mary loved him she could act a regal role as if to the manner born. There's the telephone. 'Scuse, please."

She took the receiver from the hook and her eyes flashed to mine, startled.

"Yes, Harry," she said breathlessly.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Wednesday, January 15

A LIVELY and eventful day is forecast from the predominant planetary aspects, albeit there are likely to be some perplexities and baffling complications. A sudden change of radical importance is probable, entailing unusual outlay of funds with a tendency to personal extravagance.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a sudden change of far-reaching importance. With extreme precaution, sound judgment and a conservative use of funds, there may be profitable ventures with many advantages. But the tendency to speculate or to personal extravagance should be curbed.

A child born on this day may be brilliant and alert mentally, but prone to sudden if not spectacular moves or deals, with a degree of peril to their finances. He should be schooled in prudent, honest and well-governed personal behavoir.

Beauty and the Jury

By WINIFRED BLACK

WELL, what a time they had over the Beauty in court the other day.

The Beauty was arrested for breaking the traffic rules and running into somebody's car, and smashing things up generally.

The smashes brought a suit for damages against the Beauty, and the trouble came when they started to choose the jury.

The Beauty's attorney wanted elderly men on the jury.

He said elderly men were soft-hearted about pretty girls.

"No man over 40 will ever convict that girl," said Beauty's attorney. "Not when he looks at those eyes, and those lips, and sees the way she turns her head, and she has a neat ankle, too, or a——"

"You're all wrong," said the attorney's partner.

"Old men have some sense—they know that it hurts just as much to be run over by a Beauty as it does to be knocked down with the homeliest woman in the world at the wheel.

"Middle-aged men will look at the rights of the case, and the rights of the case, Partner, if you will excuse me for saying it, are not all of them exactly on your side.

"I'd get me a jury of young fellows—they will never see beyond that girl's smile."

"Now, what I want," said the Prosecuting Attorney to the man at the Attorney's table with him, "is a Jury of middle-aged women, not old women, mind you; old women have lived through it, and they can stand it to see a pretty girl and not turn green. No, I don't want girls of the Beauty's own age, either. Of course they'll be mad at her for being so pretty, but they'll sympathize with her, and think to themselves:

"'What if it was me in such a fix as that— of course she isn't so very pretty—she can't help that, poor thing, but they're all prejudiced against her just because she is young—I'll vote on her side.'

"Middle-aged women is what we want, women just turning off the main highway into the good dirt road of 40 or so—just the age when they are sorry they did or wish they had.

"Too late to begin over again and too early to settle down, they'll hate the Beauty with a good, solid unshakable hate, and we'll get the verdict on our side."

And they fussed and they fretted and finally they chose a jury made up of middle-aged men and young men and two old women.

And Beauty got the verdict and didn't have to pay damages.

The evidence was really pretty hard for Beauty's lawyers to fight—but the foreman of the jury, perhaps, thought that Beauty had eyes exactly like the little sweetheart who used to sit across the aisle from him in high school years ago, and, bless your heart, Carrie wouldn't have hurt a fly—not on purpose.

And two of the other Jurymen thought "oh, well, you're only young once. What if she did smash the fellow up a little, a Beauty like her."

And the other jurors just sat and thought what was going to be for dinner when they got home, and who was ahead in the golf score, and what on earth was the matter with daughter that she could see anything in that young jack-a-napes, who couldn't even raise a decent mustache. And they didn't hear the evidence at all, so they voted with the foreman and Beauty gave each of them a dazzling smile, and they all went home feeling important and kindly and very, very wise.

Beauty!

Oh, she just laughed.

She's always laughing — that girl.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

But Why Elope?

SOMETHING ought to be done to make the world safe for elopements!

Every now and then we hear of some Movie Queen or some Follies Girl who has "eloped"—or is planning to elope, or threatening to elope.

"Elope" from WHOM? From where—and WHY?

That's the greatest problem of a romantic girl's life, these days. Not how or with whom to elope—but to find somebody to elope FROM!

Of course, she COULD go down to the club or the office or the golf links, and drag Father home, and make him stay there long enough for the Boy Friend to bring around a ladder and stage a "runaway." But, somehow, that seems to lack the flavor. That's no point to it!

* * *

Or she MIGHT keep Mother home from Paris or Florida or the bridge club, or the shops or the beauty parlor long enough to put over a back-door sneak at midnight, and a Gretna Green wedding.

But it is doubtful if she could induce them to restrain their expressions of relief and pleasure sufficiently to play the Heavy Parent and give the elopment a little kick.

Father, instead of bolting the front door and threatening to shoot the impetuous young lover, would probably sneak upstairs and kindly open the window. And, at the last moment, Mother would call her back to ask her if she had enough motor-robes, or if they'd like Jenkins to make them up some turkey sandwiches to eat on the way.

You see how hopeless it is—with these modern parents! You can't run away and get married if there's nobody to run AWAY from except the butler.

The only person who does any heavy eloping these days is the married woman, who runs off with her chauffeur, or the soda-water clerk at the corner.

And even SHE, as likely as not, will receive a wire at the first station, reading, "Good luck, old Girl. And thanks awfully for taking that dear dash blankety-blank Pekingese with you. Where did you leave the aspirin?"

The only deserted husband of whom I have read recently that seemed to be awfully cut-up at his wife's departure was that California man who discovered that the lover had helped himself to his (the husband's) best blue silk pajamas. He WAS mad—about those pajamas!

No! There's no ROMANCE in life for a woman these days—with nobody to restrain her, or oppose her or go around shooting off guns for her.

Might just as well stay at home and get some use of the car and the family charge account! Ho-hum!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Furthering the Fight to Control Cancer

YOU will be interested in a recent report of a two-year study of health conditions in New York City, as made by the Medical Social Service Section of the Welfare Council of the city. As a result of this work, extensive plans for cancer control are now being made by city authorities.

DR. COPELAND

The report shows that cancer clinics and hospital beds are far below the needs of the community. The city authorities have promised, not only a new hospital for this work, but also that 26 of the city hospitals shall carry cancer clinics. There will be increased facilities in cancer divisions in existing hospitals. A chief will be appointed to direct the entire work of cancer control in the city.

The Welfare Council reports that cancer is growing steadily as a cause of death. In one year there have been 7,500 such deaths. One death out of ten is caused by cancer.

There are at present 22,000 cases in the city. The figures show that for cancer patients only 838 hospital beds have been available in all the hospitals of the city. These beds are nearly all required for incurable cases. Yet all cancer patients need hospital care at some time.

It is apparent that present facilities are most inadequate for existing conditions. What is true in New York is true everywhere.

At present there is no evening clinic for cancer control. The committee points out the great need of this. Many working people who have the disease are not able to visit clinics during the day.

1—No special cancer service in the Department of Health.

2—No co-operation of the Health Department and medical societies in special education of physicians.

4—No encouragement in the making of autopsies.

5—Laboratory facilities for aiding diagnosis are lacking.

6—Machinery for combating fraudulent treatments for cancer is provided, but should be more actively operated.

These are suggestions which apply to every city and every county in North America. I speak of them because I want to encourage you to talk with the authorities in your home. We must work together all over the world to cut down the increasing prevalence of cancer.

Acknowledging Greeting Cards

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Must a person acknowledge the receipt of greeting cards from persons who have not received any from you?

SUSAN.

IT is very polite to acknowledge the receipt of all cards, but it is, I am sorry to say, only the most punctilious persons who, in this hurried world, make this courteous acknowledgment.

The Cereal Spoon

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

How should cereals be eaten?

READER.

CEREALS should be eaten with the size spoon usually called a dessert spoon. It is of a most convenient size, quite a good deal larger than a teaspoon and not so large as a tablespoon.

LOVEJOY :: By BEATRICE BURTON

really was trying to give you some good advice."

She took her hand out of Lovejoy's and laid it on the head of the big police dog.

"It's all right for you to think that you married your husband so that you could take care of him and his child," she went on. "But have you ever stopped to think why your husband married you?"

Lovejoy thought she knew the answer to that, but she said nothing. She wasn't going to discuss Tom and his love for her with this woman whom she barely knew.

"He married you because you were attractive." Mrs. Alderson answered her own question. "I'm older than you are—and I've found out a lot of things about men. And I know that they don't care for their women because they're good housekeepers or mothers . . . but because they're pretty and attractive."

She opened the front door, letting a breath of warm autumn air and the smell of dead leaves into the little house.

"And you can't be beautiful and attractive if you're dead-tired when they come home at the end of the day," she finished. "You make your husband hire a house-maid or a nurse-maid for you right away. You'll see, it will pay you, in the long run."

She went down the steps of the house. At the bottom of them she turned and smiled up into Lovejoy's startled face.

"I suppose no one has ever talked like this to you before in your whole life," she said amiably. "And I know I've never talked to a woman as I've talked to you this afternoon—especially a woman that I hardly know. But I've come to feel very friendly toward you, watching you from my back windows every now and then. . . . By the way, my husband and I want you to come over some night and play cards with us. You will, won't you?"

"Yes, indeed," answered Lovejoy, and closed the door of the house as she went back into it.

"But I'm not going near her," she told herself when she was standing behind the net curtains, watching her neighbor's slender figure vanish down the street. "Coming over here, pitying me, just because I haven't as much money as she has. . . ."

And yet, hadn't there been a lot of plain solid truth in what Mrs. Alderson had said? Wasn't it a mistake for a woman to forget to wash her hair once a week, and to polish her nails every day and put cream on her face at night to keep the worry lines away?

She looked down at her hands. The nails were short and one of them was broken. . . . A few months ago they had been like bits of carved ivory and coral. And her hair. It hadn't been washed for two weeks. She had noticed only that morning that it had lost its fluffy, lustrous look.

"It would be nice if we could afford to have someone come in once a week to do the washing and clean the house," she found herself thinking as she went back into the kitchen with its burned cake and smoking oven. "All this is really too much for me. . . ."

And so the first seeds of discontent and dissatisfaction were planted in her mind that afternoon.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Friends Plan Numerous Pre-Nuptial Parties For Miss Chalfant

THERE'S going to be at least one wedding of more than usual prominence in the social world before the first of February finds the city almost deserted by society leaders. And the wedding I'm referring to is that of Eleanor Chalfant, daughter of Mrs. Henry Chalfant, of Ridge avenue, North Side, and John Crossan Cooper, Jr., son of the John Crossan Coopers, of Baltimore, which will take place at 6 o'clock on Monday, January 27.

The wedding, to take place in the Chalfant's home, will be small because the family is in mourning.

Eleanor will have as her matron of honor her sister, Mrs. Clarence Wheelwright, of Baltimore, and as junior bridesmaids her young cousin, Mary Blair, daughter of the William R. Blairs, of Darlington road, and Barbara Cooper, young sister of the bridegroom-to-be.

And Joseph Cooper will be his brother's best man.

There'll be entertaining for the bride-elect before the wedding, of course. The William R. Blairs will give a dinner for the bridal party, I've been told, on Saturday, January 25, at the Pittsburgh Club. On the following day Mrs. Frederick Coudert, Jr., of New York, will entertain with a dinner in the home of her father and mother, the James Dawson Callerys, of Devonshire street. And the day of the wedding Anne Shiras will give a luncheon in the Pittsburgh Golf Club in honor of Eleanor.

A European trip will be their honeymoon. After March 1 Eleanor and Mr. Cooper will be at home in the Warrington Apartments, Baltimore.

HAVE you heard that Mrs. Maitland Alexander has left for Europe to visit her young daughter, Madelaine, who's studying abroad. And the Rev. Dr. Alexander has gone to Miami from where he will sail with friends on his yacht for a fishing trip.

On Friday night Dr. Robert Milligan, of Sewickley and Pittsburgh, gave a dinner in the Barclay for the Alexanders.

THE Howard Heinzes left last night for Washington, and will attend the dinner Secretary Andrew W. Mellon will give tonight for President and Mrs. Hoover.

FROM far-off Australia, which seems distant even in this day of airplane spins over the ocean, comes a society magazine displaying a picture of the bridal party for the marriage of Cora Mae Callear, daughter of Mrs. William McKewan Callear, of Oakmont, and Lieut. William Thornton Watson, of Nelson, New Zealand. The wedding took place September 14, do you recall, in St. Stephen's, Sydney, Australia?

Neville Scott, daughter of Sir Harry and Lady Scott, of Suva, and Doreen Armstrong, daughter of District Commissioner S. W. Armstrong, were bridesmaids, and Geoffrey Braddon, of Sydney, was best man.

And the bride wore a thirteenth century gown of heavy ivory satin and a veil of tulle, and carried a sheaf of plum blossoms and orchids.

Did you know that a year ago in September the bride went to Australia on a visit and returned to America only to make plans for her wedding and her trousseau?

SEWICKLEY VALLEY WOMAN'S CLUB members found Gay MacLaren's work clever and interesting when she appeared before them in dramatic recital yesterday afternoon. Miss MacLaren gave "Helena's Boys," the three-act play which Ida Lublenski made from May Pulver's story, and which was used for a short time by Mrs. Fiske in New York. Miss MacLaren gave a delightful reading of the play, impersonating Mrs. Fiske's staccato utterance and copying inflection and gesture of the other players. Character changes were made with clarity and distinction.

MRS. E. B. HEYSER is the new national publicity chairman for the Better Magazine Council, her election having taken place yesterday at a meeting of the council in Utility Hall. Joseph H. Club Women Hear About Abyssinia

"MYSTERIOUS ABYSSINIA" was fascinatingly described to Twentieth Century Club members yesterday morning by Dr. Wilfred Osgood, who directed the Field Museum expedition through the country. Dr. Osgood told of the peculiar people, their customs and dress and of the animals which are found nowhere else in the world. Some of these were brought back alive an some to be mounted, and they were visualized for the audience through both still and motion pictures.

His pictures, Dr. Osgood said, will probably soon be the only evidence of the old customs, for machinery and other western innovations are rapidly making their way into this bit of unconquered Africa.

The expedition was received with hospitality and formality, Dr. Osgood stated. Pictures of the raw meat feasts customary among the people (and the cause of great tapeworm prevalency) were shown. The speaker referred to Abyssinia as the "Thibet of Africa," isolated, aloof from the world, the only African territory not under European domination. The people resent being called Negroes, for they are of Semitic and Hamitic origin and speak an old Semitic language. The Negro type, however, is found among the slave class and slavery is general, even the men who were paid $5 a month by the Field party having their own personal attendants. Under proper conditions, the country could be made one of the greatest cattle raising spots in the world, Dr. Osgood stated.

THE Monaca Woman's Club will celebrate its ninth anniversary Monday with a reception to new members in the usual meeting place, the rooms of the Presbyterian Church. HATS OF YELLOW TO BE POPULAR FOR SPORT WEAR

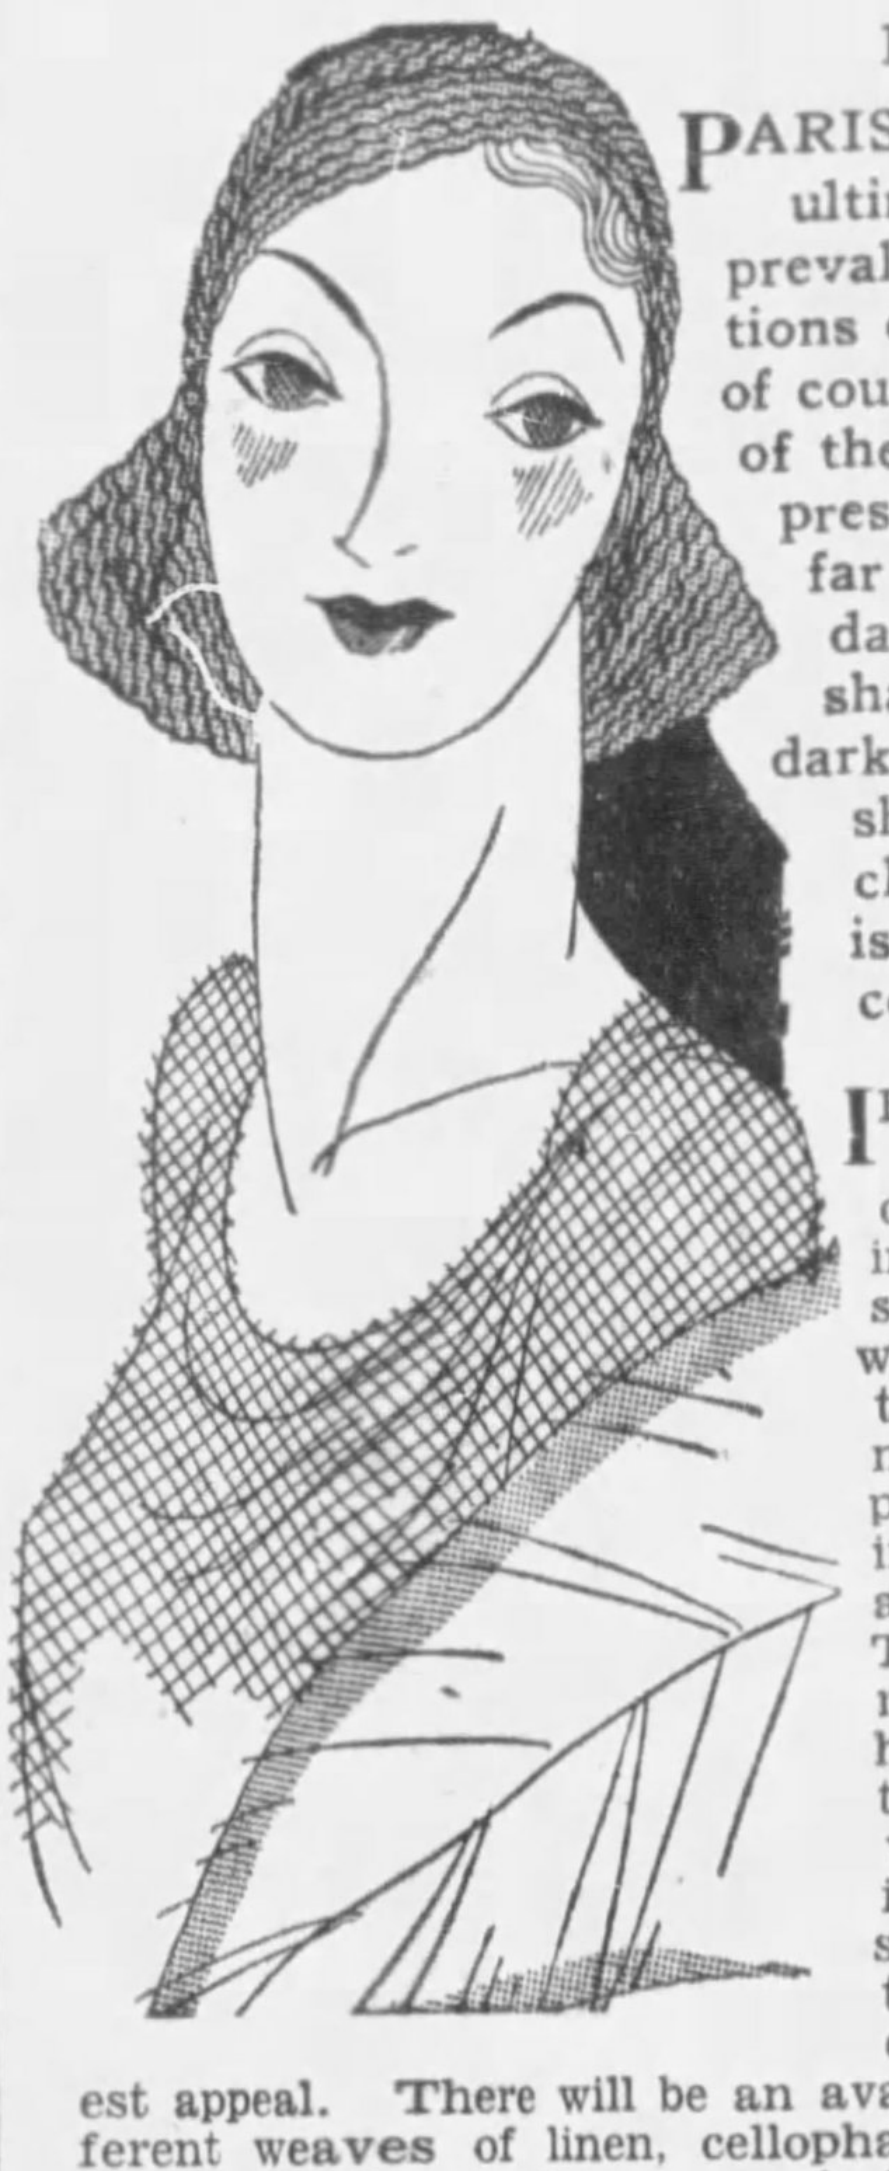
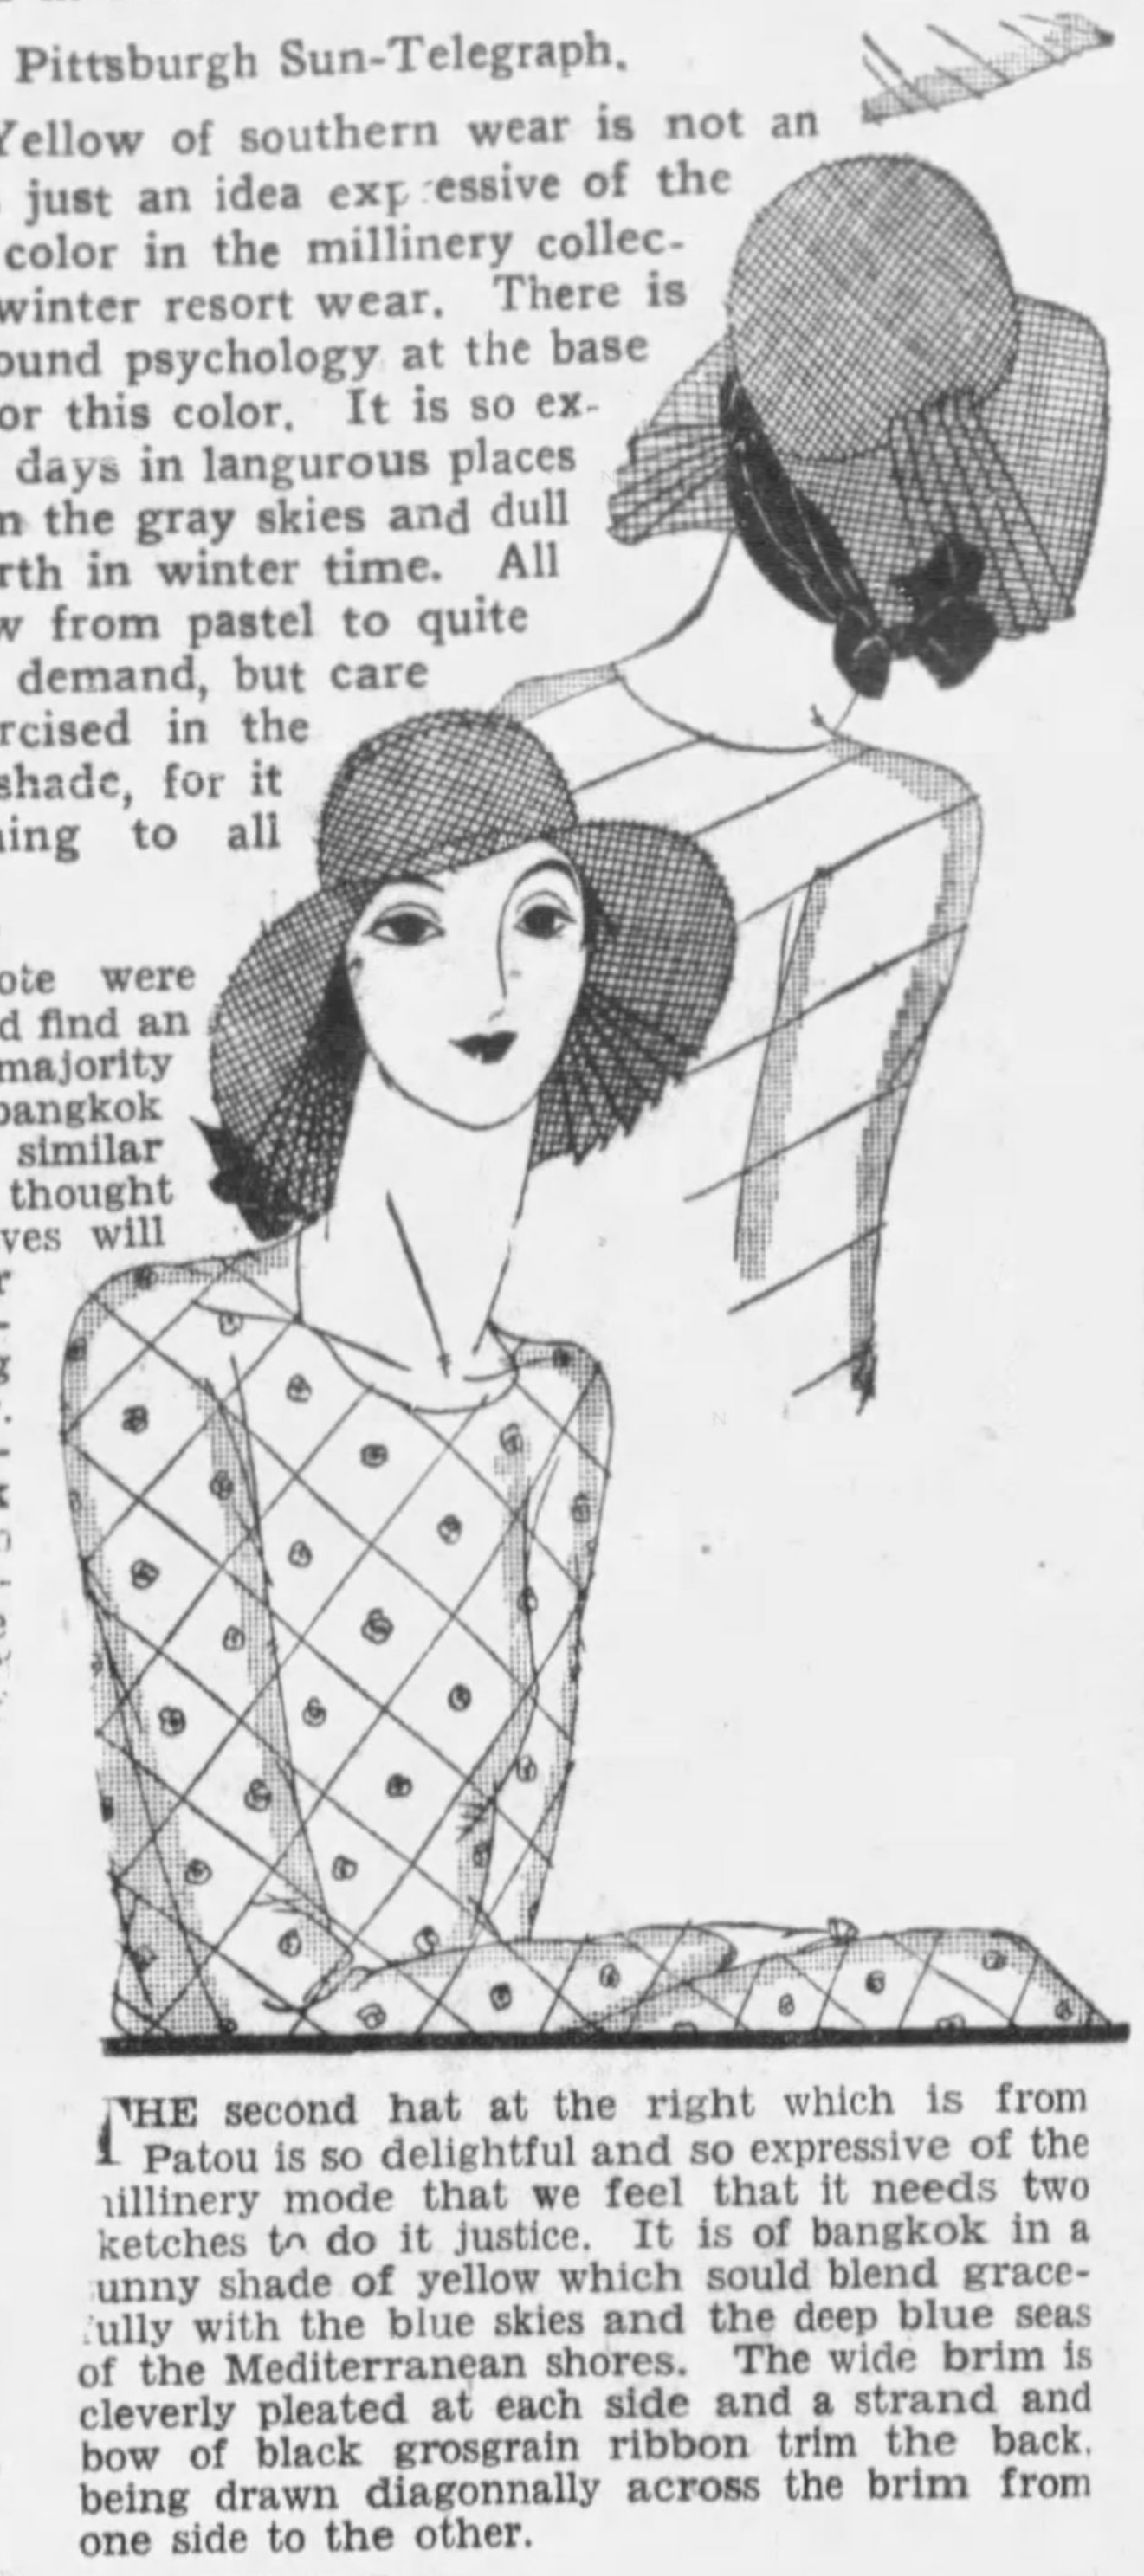
—Sketched in Paris—





Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—Yellow of southern wear is not an ultimatum but is just an idea expressive of the prevalence of that color in the millinery collections designed for winter resort wear. There is of course, quite a sound psychology at the base of the preference for this color. It is so expressive of sunny days in langurous places far removed from the gray skies and dull days of the North in winter time. All shades of yellow from pastel to quite dark tones are in demand, but care should be exercised in the choice of the shade, for it is not becoming to all colorings.

IF a straw vote were taken, it would find an overwhelming majority in favor of bangkok straws and similar weaves, and it is thought that these weaves will maintain their popularity during the spring and summer. The wide-brimmed bangkok hat with ribbon trimming is always effective in its smart simplicity, and thereby exercises its greatest appeal. There will be an avalanche of different weaves of linen, cellophane and other materials later in the season, but of these very few will have more than a momentary success.

THERE is always much of interest to be found in a hat bearing the label of Agnes, and so we send you a sketch of one of her very latest hats designed for winter sports wear. It is a toque of heavy silk twist in bright yellow and is knitted by hand. Over the close fitting cap a band of tricot is twisted and released to its full width at the sides giving a youthful effect. The sides are drawn around at the back to form a flat brim nestling close to the neck.

THE second hat at the right which is from Patou is so delightful and so expressive of the millinery mode that we feel that it needs two sketches to do it justice. It is of bangkok in a sunny shade of yellow which sould blend gracefully with the blue skies and the deep blue seas of the Mediterranean shores. The wide brim is cleverly pleated at each side and a strand and bow of black grosgrain ribbon trim the back, being drawn diagonnally across the brim from one side to the other.

COUNCIL BACKS POSTAL BILL

Council has adopted a resolution pledging moral support to a bill presented to the House of Representatives that would permit the optional retirement of postal employes and others in the classified national civil service after 30 years' service when the age of 63 years is attained, with the annuities increased from $1,000 to $1,200 a year.

The resolution was submitted by James F. Callagher, president of the Joint Association of Postal Employes of Western Pennsylvania, who explained that the Senate bill relative to the subject had been passed last January 6 and that the House bill was in committee.

Again?

Men don't understand; and some women are so helpless. Each month they suffer untold pain, though those times could be entirely painless. Midol will make the periodic process peculiar to women an incident; yes, even for those who have always experienced prolonged suffering! Try Midol; anticipate your time and avoid all misery or even discomfort. Or take it when the pain is at its height, and feel at ease in five to seven minutes. Midol is not a narcotic; acts directly on organs affected. Fifty cents, metal case.*

*Midol's comfort is not confined to any certain days or age. It relieves at any time of life. Its ease is felt immediately in cases of nervous headache, backache, cramping, hot flashes and all febrile pain peculiar to women.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to comb or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it: then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you may have. This simple remedy never fails.

WOMEN BEATEN, THUGS SOUGHT

A county-wide search was being made by police and detectives today for bandits who beat two women pedestrians and held up two drug stores, one in Soho and the other in Wilkinsburg, last night.

Miss Molly Murphy, 21, employed at 4916 Wallingford street, and Miss Mary Barrett, 22, of 615 Devonshire street, were beaten when they resisted two thugs who attempted to rob them while they were walking in Wallingford street, near Devonshire street, shortly before midnight. Miss Murphy was struck in the face with the butt of the bandit's revolver and Miss Barrett beaten on the wrist by the robber.

The young women were returning to their home when the thugs drove up in an automobile. One leaped from the car, confronted them with a revolver and demanded Miss Murphy's purse. Instead of complying the women screamed and fought with the bandit.

Three armed bandits walked into Stutz's Uptown Pharmacy, 1700 Forbes street, held up N. Stutz, the proprietor; Milton Kelsky, a clerk, and three women customers and escaped with $56 late last night. The thugs robbed Kelsky of $4 and Stutz of $2. They escaped in an automobile.

An hour before the drug store of F. A. French, at 417 Pitt street, Wilkinsburg, was invaded by four masked and armed youths who escaped with $50. The bandits backed out of the store and escaped in an automobile.

Two automobile bandits were being sought today by county detectives for the holdup and robbery of H. W. Dressler, tax collector of Harwick, who was robbed near his home last night. State police also are hunting the robbers. Dressler was relieved of $45 and a gold watch. He was walking in Freeport road when accosted by the pair.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Avoid the snags along the common-sense path to fitness and fashion. Don't let over-indulgence deprive you of the tantalizing contour of the modern figure. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately—when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain the graceful, modern figure with its captivating curves.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

'The Nut Farm' Is Irrigated By Edith King's Briny Tears And Blooms With Laughter

By GEORGE SEIBEL

AT last the great problem of irrigation for the arid lands in the Far West has been solved. Let them send Edith King there—the new leading woman of George Sharp's Players, and her weeping will make the alkali wastes laugh with bounteous harvests. She demonstrated it last night by making "The Nut Farm" productive of unlimited hilarity.

George Seibel

Probably no one has ever extracted so much mirth from the lachrymal ducts as Miss King does in John C. Brownell's rather silly farce. She makes the memory of Sarah Bernhardt look like a map of the Sahara on blotting paper. She weeps—and weeps—and weeps. And the audience shrieks—and shrieks—and shrieks.

"Tears, idle tears," quoth Tennyson or somebody like that. Miss King's tears are anything but idle. Her motto was taken from Mark Antony's oration: "If you have tears, prepare to shed them now." You would think it was not a "Nut Farm," but an onion patch where she could most appropriately make her habitat.

She weeps all through the third act, and the audience laughs all through it. Clara Morris, Olga Nethersole, and all the famous dissolving ladies of the stage, could have learned something about tears from Miss King in this rather puerile extravaganza.

Hollywood Fever

It is all about a family that moves from the safe and sane precincts of Newark to the glorious climate of Hollywood, where the studio sharks learn that the husband has $30,000 and proceed to fill the wife's head with moving picture ambitions to get his coin.

There is a brother, played with abundant zest by Hugh Banks, who warns them all against the wicked wiles of these Hollywood sharks, but is spurned by everybody. So at last he decides to turn in and direct this picture "as no picture has ever been directed before"—with the result that it turns into glorious farce—and the $30,000 appear to be gone.

"Hinc illae lacrimae," as Publius Terentius Afer or somebody like that remarked in ancient Rome. Really, there should be a public subscription to buy Miss King a supply of pocket-handkerchiefs.

Company At Its Best

George Sharp's people are at their best in this impossible burlesque. Harland Tucker is an adorable dumb husband of the would-be screen star, and Alice Ann Baker is an admirably inconsistent mother.

Of course the villain is more than adequately portrayed by Robert Fiske, who has had to ask George Sharp to pay him in cash, as he finds it impossible to get even a certified check cashed any longer. In addition to having all sorts of depravity to shoulder week after week, he has to take another beating in this comedy, which ought to discourage him in his nefarious activities. But it won't. That man will come to no good end.

Gus Forbes is a farmer from Iowa, whose knowledge of cows and their peculiarities puts the movie scenario out of focus. Lucette Parker as his daughter is a very delicious flapper with the cutest of ways that any seminary could impart. Billy Link is a scenario writer with hay fever, and Arthur Sprenkle a movie star with enough ego to be the real thing.

There is no plausibility, probability, consistency or sense to "The Nut Farm." It is just sublimely ridiculous. But it achieves the very laudable purpose of making the audience laugh their heads off. And chiefly they laugh because Edith King cries her eyes out.

HEIFETZ TO APPEAR IN CONCERT TONIGHT

Heifetz is to appear in a concert in Syria Mosque tonight. The program opens with the Sonata in F minor by Tremais, followed by the Tschaikowsky Concerto. Magic Jane Thurston does her own magic act, sings and dances in the magic show of her father, Howard Thurston, in the Alvin for second and final week.

Straus Signs Up To Write Music For Talkie

BERLIN, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Oscar Straus, composer of "The Chocolate Soldier," "The Waltz Dream" and other popular operettas, is to enter the American movies. He will sail for New York en route to Hollywood aboard the liner President Roosevelt January 14.

In agreeing to write the score of a new film, Straus is following the example of Franz Lehar, Viennese author of "The Merry Widow." He expressed complete faith in the future of the tone film, saying he was convinced that it had come to stay and that it would act as a spur to musical artists by raising the standard of popular taste.

GAYNOR AND FARRELL SING AND LOVE IN ALDINE

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH.

Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell have gone in for the song and the fancy clothes in "Sunny Side Up," the film which came to the Aldine. It resembles some of the Cinderella-type musicals that the stage has had in the last decade. And it is a happy production.

The picture opens among the "four million" in Upper East Side, New York, and later switches to Southampton, Long Island, and the "four hundred." Miss Gaynor plays an East Side girl who gets a glimpse of the sunny side of life when an aristocratic hero, in the person of Mr. Farrell, happens into her life accidentally. There follows a friendship that breaks into love, with the happy ending awaiting its cue.

Hero and Heroine

Both Miss Gaynor and Mr. Farrell are heard of in a number of songs with "If I Had a Talking Picture of You" getting the best treatment. Their voices sound musical and pleasant, and they make an attractive pair of screen sweethearts. El Brendel and his Swedish dialect are prominent and bring numerous laughs. The cast also includes a fellow and girl (quite a comedienne, this girl) who help with the songs, the story and the fun.

And the Snow Melts

One scene, because of its elaborateness, deserves special note. It concerns a number, "Turn on the Heat," by a chorus of girls, garbed as Eskimos. While they sing and dance, the scenic snow and ice about them melts, vegetation sprouts up and then flames break out. All very novel and cleverly executed. However, the girls, as dancers, never get hot enough to melt any snow, let alone cause fires.

Be that as it may, "Sunny Side Up" does send out a big ray of entertaining sunshine. Added to that — Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy distribute a perfect laugh with their "The Perfect Day" comedy, a two-reeler.

Lloyds Employ Many Servants at Their New Home in Beverly Hills

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 14.

THEY'RE tellin' the story of a conference 'twixt Carl Laemmle, Jr., and Director Lewis Milestone about "All's Quiet On the Western Front." According to the story, Junior told Milestone that he'd like the picture to have a happy ending. Milestone cognated. Then, tongue in cheek: "Suppose we have the Germans win the war!"

Juse en passant and for no reason. The Harold Lloyds have 19 servants caring for their new Bev Hills home. Um, and 17 gardeners. And four chauffeurs.

Harold Lloyd.

The Brown Derby staged an explosion in the kitchen last Saturday, mid-afternoon. For a while, it looked as though hundreds would be homeless, but the firefighters killed the flames. Yeah, and doused enough water into the restaurant to put mops at a premium.

Tom Geraghty complains that the Fox barber shop has raised a shave from 25 cents to 35 cents. I bet that barber knows the salaries on the lot. . .

New Banky Film

HEAR tell Vilma Banky is going to make a picture for Columbia. Also hear tell that Mary Aster has been signed to play opposite Ronald Colman in "Raffles." And that Mary will wear a blond wig.

Jack Rubins adapted "I Love You." It has been done before, but Jack did it in script form. Rehearsals have started on the picture, starring Richard Dix with Lois Wilson his heroine and Rita Leroy the vamp. Rubins volunteered to read the lines of a role not yet cast at the initial rehearsal. He had a long scene with Dix. A chalk-marked X indicated where the camera would be for the scene. Rubins bet Richard he could upstage him oftener than vice versa. Dix took the bet. Two propmen chalked up the results. Dix won. He had the last line.

Arthur On Stage

ONE of this colyum's readers wants to know why George K. Arthur hasn't made a talky yet. I don't know. George is voodvil-ing. At least, the records show he is. That may explain all.

Laura Hope Crewes' mother passed away a few days ago. Miss Crewes had only recently brought her mother here from New York. Burial services were held in San Francisco, Gloria Swanson accompanying Miss Crewes to that city.

George K. Arthur

A local studio held a "pep" meeting. An exek rose to his feet and handed the dutiful listeners a line that suggested George M. Cohan waving the flag. Suddenly, a girl's voice cried from the rear of the room: "Give me liberty!" "Who said that?" roared the enraged exek. "Patrick Henry," retorted the girl "Fire him!" ordered the exek.

This could go on indefinitely, but it's cheering to know it won't. So—that's all and lean it on an exclamation point.

Move to Find Key To Drug Imports

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—United States Attorney Tuttle's narcotic traffic investigation, which seeks the key into the solution of how drugs valued at more than $350,000,000 are being smuggled into this country every year, moved forward today clothed in the strictest secrecy. Developments of the last few days, especially of yesterday, have led to the belief that the searchlight of the investigation is swiftly swinging toward persons in the employ of the United States government.

"Wives---keep the TROUSSEAU HABIT!"

ELINOR GLYN
tells the women of Pittsburgh

HOW to hold a husband's love—keep romance in marriage—that is the problem put up to me constantly by innumerable wives.

Can it be done? Fortunately the answer is yes. How? By being always feminine—charmingly, colorfully, daintily feminine.

But first of all you yourself must feel your own daintiness, womanliness, before you can impress others.

Wonderful colors, soft, shimmering materials, lace-edged underthings! They just make a woman believe in herself—feel her inherent charm as a woman.

If a woman but keeps all this loveliness at its very best—as beautiful as when it came, new, from its tissued box, she is captain of her fate—irresistible.

Because she believes in herself she makes others believe in her. Confidence is contagious.

Keep Colors Charming

But, women tell me, it is so difficult to wear lovely underthings always and keep them looking as wonderful, as colorful, as when they were new. Frequent washing (and we must be dainty) takes some of the lovely color and charm out of the garment.

To this I reply, that is too often the case, but it need never be so if women faithfully use that invaluable product, Lux—which is made especially to cleanse without disturbing the vibrant loveliness of the colors. If a garment is safe in clear water alone, it is just as safe in Lux.

Your Home Reflects You

Not only should you express your femininity through the effect dainty underthings have on you—as well as directly through the magnetism of color in your frocks and accessories (gloves, scarfs, handkerchiefs) but by your very surroundings. Even the curtains, draperies, slip covers in your living room form part of the magic spell that reflects you. And here, too, Lux is invaluable.

(right)
After 12 Lux washings—every thread in place, silk and lace fibres intact, color intact. The garment retains all the charm of new.

If it's safe in water, . . . it's safe in LUX

ROUGHAGE IS ESSENTIAL IN REDUCING DIETS

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Ideal Roughage

If you are following a reducing diet, it is doubly important that you take a regular amount of roughage into the system daily. Most reducing diets do not contain a sufficient amount of roughage. The result is constipation—thief of both health and beauty.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is recommended by many doctors and dietitians because it contains the bulk necessary to insure proper elimination.

Also, because it contains the iron needed to help prevent anemia—another danger in reducing diets.

ALL-BRAN is not fattening. Its bulk sweeps the system clean of poisonous wastes—helping to promote glorious health and beauty.

A popular way to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is soaked in fruit juice. Try it! It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals, salads and soups. It adds flavor to cooked foods and is equally effective. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is served in restaurants, hotels and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

The best cough remedy that money could buy, can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs and chest colds, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

57 MELODRAMAS IN ONE THAT'S 'DYNAMITE' IN THE PENN

There have been melodramas and melodramas, but all of them are rolled into one, entitled "Dynamite," and put on as the talking picture in Loew's Theater. Jeanie Macpherson has done the job, and Cecil De Mille has given it a remarkable cast. "Dynamite" is worth seeing for the fine acting put into it by Kay Johnson and Charles Bickford, while Conrad Nagel, who is featured, also does his share. It is worth seeing in order to realize what is happening in this humdrum world of ours, if the scenario writers know anything about it.

Believe It Or Not

First of all we see a rich girl whose grandfather left her millions on condition that she gets married. So she marries a man condemned to be hanged. Next we see him proved innocent, while the real murderer is shot by an accommodating pal. Then we see the released man breaking down the door of his wife's room in her home, after throwing out all her guests.

He is a coal-miner, and goes back to coal-mining and his little sister. But the heroine follows him, because her grandfather's will says she must be living with her husband to inherit the millions. Next we see her in the kitchen, doing comedy cooking and teaching the coal-miner the noble experiment of jazz. Then she runs over a little boy, drives her car through a garage door to get a doctor from the city who alone can save the lad, and being reproved by her husband, who doesn't find supper ready, she calls up her lover and tells him to come and get her.

One Grand Blow-Up

He comes to get her, but being truly ethical he has to go down into the coal-mine to tell the miner he is taking away his wife. At this moment Miss Jeanie Macpherson has arranged for a beautiful mine disaster, which imprisons husband, wife and lover in a tunnel where the air will last only 15 minutes. They can get out by exploding a charge of dynamite, but the one that does it will be blown to pieces.

Conrad Nagel, the unfortunate lover, is the one that gets this tough break, because meanwhile Kay Johnson has learned to love the grimy caveman she taught the gentle art of jazz.

Great Acting—But

There is great acting and magnificent direction—the dialogue is clever and it is a picture that taxes all the resources of the talking screen—but will anybody believe it? Perhaps they do.

At any rate it makes the stage production a welcome relief from blood-curdling thrills. Nat Nazzarro plays the cello beautifully, sings and dances with his usual vim. Llora Hoffman has a fine voice and puts real appeal into several ballads. Burns and Kissen are humorists with some amusing songs. The Chester Hale girls are picturesque and agile in bathing suits at Miami. But somehow we can't enjoy anything knowing that poor Conrad Nagel was blown up in the mine.

THURSTON PUZZLES ALVIN AUDIENCE

Thurston, the magician, began the second and final week of his engagement in the Alvin last night. His show, reviewed in detail last week, is the only one of its kind now on the road, and it always is a popular attraction in Pittsburgh. The audience at the opening performance of the second week obtained plenty of amusement from the new marvels of illusion this master hand at deception revealed. Among them was "Iasia," in which a girl vanished from a cabinet suspended above the audience.

Jane Thurston, daughter of the veteran trickster, appeared in a colorful magical performance of her own and also sang and danced.

CONTRACT HELD FOR ARRIVAL OF ACE

REFERENCES to Burleigh Grimes as a holdout are rather premature, to say the least. Technically, a ball player is not a holdout until he remains unsigned and fails to report at the time set for the beginning of spring training, even if he has quite a bit of correspondence with his club before that stage without reaching an agreement on the matter of terms. And in this instance, the Pirate spitballer and his employers have not yet gone into the first preliminaries toward the signing of a new contract for 1930.

Burleigh Grimes

It is hard to recall a case in baseball in which so much was made of little or nothing. They've had Grimes spurning one offer after another from the Pittsburgh club, demanding salary figures as high as $25,000, and even declaring that he had reached the parting of the ways with the local management and would never pitch another game for the Buccaneers. Evidently some imaginations have been running wild, in view of the fact that no contract has yet been tendered to Burleigh and the pitcher doesn't know what salary will be offered to him.

THIS was made clear again yesterday by President Barney Dreyfuss, of the Pirates. Recently the Pittsburgh magnate said that contracts had been sent to all but five of his players, and that the remaining five documents would go out in a few days. He admitted that Grimes was one of the five players. Asked yesterday if a pact had since been sent to Grimes, President Dreyfuss replied in the negative.

"It has not been our intention to send a contract to Grimes," he said, "for the reason that when Burleigh was here three weeks ago he said he would return to Pittsburgh in a month or so, and the matter of signing can be taken up then. We have never offered him a contract for 1930 and he has never brought up the subject of salary. All of that can wait until he visits Pittsburgh again.

"IF Grimes is unable to come here before I depart (President Dreyfuss plans a health trip to the South about January 25) I'll leave his contract at club headquarters and he can get it when he calls. The holdout stories being printed are the wildest kind of fiction. How can a man be a holdout when the subject of a contract has not even been discussed."

Manager Jewel Ens will also be here when Grimes arrives. The Pirate skipper sent word yesterday that he would reach Pittsburgh from St. Louis next Thursday to get his family settled here for the spring and summer pending his departure for the training grounds at Paso Robles on February 18. Jewell will drive from St. Louis, and his wife and children will make the trip by rail.

STRIKE-OUT records of batters were not kept officially in the big baseball leagues at the time, but "Oriole Rooter of the '90's" writes to assert that if they had been they would show that Joe Sewell's twice-made mark of only four whiffs in a season was beaten by Willie Keeler, of the old Baltimore Nationals. "I recall distinctly," he writes, "that Keeler struck out about the middle of the 1925 season and did not strike out again until the middle of the season of 1897, so that he practically went two full seasons without fanning.

"PERSONALLY, I think Keeler was the greatest natural hitter of all time. He was a chop hitter, choked his bat, and had a sure eye for the ball. He was the only one I have ever seen who could really place his hits. I believe the Orioles presented the greatest team of all time with McMahon pitching, Robinson catching, Doyle at first base, Reitz at second, Jennings at short, McGraw at third and Keeler, Brodie and Kelley in the outfield.

"That club did not change its lineup every day, nor did it have right-hand substitutes to bat for its left-hand batters when southpaws were pitching for the opposition. Revolutionized baseball and present-day inside stuff originated with the Orioles. Their team work was perfect. They played as a team, not as individuals—out to win all the time and generally successful."

BILL SMINK, who died yesterday at his home in Paterson, N. J., was a well-known baseball catcher hereabouts more than three decades ago. Though he never won a berth in the majors he was one of the best independent and minor league receivers ever developed in this section.

RIGHT TO JAW DROPS TOMMY FOR COUNT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

A well-placed right-hand punch on the jaw, delivered late in the first round, put out the lights for Tommy Crawley, of the South Side, in his scheduled 10-round main bout with Tony Herrera, Mexican clouter, at Motor Square Garden last night. And Tommy was as out as out can be.

As if in pain, he writhed and tossed on the canvas, seemingly trying to rise, but his actions were merely muscular contortions, for, after the count was completed and he had been lifted up, he continued struggling and striking out and brushing away clouds and cobwebs from his shocked brain. When his seconds finally got him back to his corner and jammed the smelling salts under his nose, he gradually came out of his trance to gaze, glassy-eyed, into the distance, unable to comprehend what had happened. Then, as Bill Schuster, the announcer, boomed that Herrera was the winner by a knockout after two minutes, 15 seconds of the first round, a look of unbelief spread over the Irish lad's features and he shook his head vigorously a few times to clear it, and shortly was able to follow his opponent from the ring, sobbing as he went.

BOUT SOON OVER

Once before in that same ring the same thing had happened to Crawley. That was the time, a few seasons ago, when Red Chapman, of Boston, nailed him for the full count in the first round. Benny Bass and Eddie Anderson are others who have "taken" him in a hurry. Poor Tommy just simply doesn't seem to be able to withstand a hard punch on the whiskers. Herrera copped him with a right there in the opening round of their first meeting, at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, last summer, and rocked him to his heels, and then eased off for a few rounds, only to find Tommy, once he was warmed up, coming like the wind and finishing the 10 rounds at a fast pace. Last night Tony was making his first start after a layoff of several months, due to broken hands, but he took a chance right off the reel and finished up his evening's work in a hurry.

Being so short, there naturally wasn't much to the bout, but Tommy probably will appreciate reading the details that he doesn't know anything about, having played the part of the party of the second part. They started off at a fast clip, like a couple of dancing masters, circling about the ring, with Tommy the aggressor in the matter of fencing with light left jabs. Finally, Herrera darted in with a left hook that landed low, and for which he was warned, although Tommy did not complain.

A little more whirling about and then Tony put force behind a left hook to the jaw and followed with a right to the same place. Tommy went off balance back to the ropes and Tony very cleanly refused to take advantage of him, stepping back. Then he shot over another nicely-timed right to the jaw and Tommy shook in his tracks and swayed a bit, but didn't fall immediately. However, he did go down before a follow-up punch from the Mexican could reach the spot, and he groveled in the resin making those futile motions to arise, motions that were instinctive at best, for, as related above, it was minutes before he realized what had occurred.

SMALLWOOD WINS ON FOUL

The large crowd sat in on some unusual action in the preliminaries. In the scheduled eight-round semi-final, Chet Smallwood, Akron southpaw, took the easy

BAKER, TRIPPE REMATCHED

Joe Trippe, of Rochester, N. Y., and Sergt. Sammy Baker, of New York, who fought that sensational 10-round battle at Motor Square Garden Monday night of last week, have been rematched for the same arena on Monday night, February 3, when the Garden will reopen for boxing following a two weeks' shutdown for the automobile show.

Baker signed for a return bout before leaving town last week. Acceptance in the form of a wire came from Trippe's manager late yesterday, the telegram stating that the signed contracts were in the mail.

Trippe boxes Jimmy Goodrich, former lightweight champion of the world, at Buffalo next Monday night.

Ill, Red Mason Faints After Battle

James (Red) Mason, dean of local boxing managers, fainted in the dressing room at Motor Square Garden last night after seconding Tony Herrera in the latter's one-round knockout victory over Tommy Crawley. He was attended by a physician and then was able to return to his home in care of a friend. He was feeling much improved today.

At first it was thought Mason's condition was of a serious nature, but it developed that he had a slight attack of ptomaine poisoning and his collapse was traced to overexertion and the excitement of the bout, coupled with his illness.

HOPPE REFUSED MATCH

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—The place to win championships is in tournaments. That was the answer given today to a challenge by Willie Hoppe, noted cue star, by Johnny Layton, who last week won the world three-cushion billiards titles.

TUBE CITY GETS HERRERA

Tony Herrera, the Mexican lightweight star, who knocked out Tommy Crawley in the first round at Motor Square Garden last night, will return to this district for a battle with Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, at McKeesport, January 30. The match was closed today by Promoter Jim McGirr after a conference with Dick Griffin, manager of Tony.

Herrera was slated to box Mellow in the Tube City a few months ago, before he broke his hands fighting in the Middle West and he felt under obligations to go through with the bout at this time and readily agreed to the date offered by McGirr.

CHICAGO PILOT TO QUIT TEAM THURSDAY

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—Two National Hockey League record breakers will be opposed here tonight when the Hawks meet the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The record to which the visitors can lay claim without any fear of dispute is that of having failed to register a single victory on the road thus far this season. The Bucs have collected four victories and a tie on their home ice, but they still are looking for their first triumph in enemy territory.

HAWKS ARE SECOND

Although the local puckmen have shown improvement greater than any other club in the league this season, they had no record of which to boast until last Sunday night, when they won the fist-fighting title by engaging in three bouts with members of the New York Rangers. No decisions were rendered on the boxing matches, but the Hawks won the hockey game, originally billed as the main attraction, 2 to 1.

Their victory enabled the locals to pass the New Yorkers and move into second place in the American Group standings. Because their lead over the Rangers is uncomfortably slender — one point—the Hawks regard the Pirates as very welcome guests. They already have trimmed the Pittsburghers twice this season, and they can't think of any good reason why they shouldn't do it again.

EXPECT BIG CROWD

One of the unfortunate circumstances of the Sunday game with the Rangers, from Chicagoans' point of view, was the fact that Taffy Abel, oversize defense star, was not embroiled in any one of the three fistic bouts with the New Yorkers. Local fans figure that a little boxing would help Taffy to reduce. He now tips the beam at 220 pounds, and was left at home to indulge in some gym work the last time that the Hawks were on the road.

Local hockey interest has increased in a degree corresponding to the Hawks' climb in the league race, and a capacity crowd is expected to witness tonight's fray. The probable lineup:

HAWKS.	POS.	PIRATES.
Gardiner	G	Miller
Abel	D	Smith
Dutkowski	D	Fraser
Gottselig	C	Milks
Somers	W	Jarvis
Couture	W	Darragh

SHAUGHNESSY RESIGNS

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.— (AP.) — Thomas J. Shaughnessy resigned last night as manager of the Chicago Blackhawks, of the National Hockey League. At Motor Square Garden—Tony Herrera knocked out Tommy Crawley, 1 round; Chet Smallwood won on foul over Eddie Brannon, 6 rounds; Johnny Haggerty defeated Bobby Burns, 6 rounds; Sammy Paris won referee's decision over Paul Balint, 6 rounds.

The Allegheny-South Hills Section II contest tops today's City Senior League basketball card, and the outcome of the tussle may have a direct bearing on the eventual deciding of the Section II title race.

South Hills High boasts a team as strong, if not stronger than the quintet that won the sectional title last year and gave Fifth Avenue such a tussle in the play-off series for the league crown. Despite the loss of Jones and Garnham at mid-year, South Hills is regarded as having a powerful quintet, and is a favorite to cop the honors in its division.

FIFTH AVENUE IDLE

Fifth Avenue, league champion, is idle today, leaving Westinghouse and Schenley to present the fireworks in Section I. Three games are listed for both divisions of the league. Westinghouse, primed for the battle, invades the Bellefielders court for the game, and will find the Schenley five a favorite. Peabody takes on Ralston on the latters' court and Allderdice meets South High across the Monongahela.

In division two, Langley and Oliver clash on Oliver's floor; Allegheny travels across the river to meet South Hills' crack combination and Perry plays Allegheny Vocational with Vocational playing the host. The Allegheny-South Hills battle looks like the banner attraction of the day.

BEAVER, FREEDOM MEET

Some attractive games are scheduled for the W. P. I. A. L. In Section IV, where Nate Lippe and his Aliquippa High passers are cutting such a wide swath, Beaver Falls will attempt to stop the rush of the Indians. Beaver High, in the same section, elated over its surprise victory over Monaca last week, plays an old rival in Freedom.

Monessen and Charleroi offer a classic in Section V, and in Section X, Greensburg and Scottdale renew the feud with a contest at Scottdale.

Jackie Rodgers on February 10. Vidal Gregorio or Benny Schwartz will be the little Negro star's opponent.

Alterations transforming the Columbus Temple into the Coliseum boxing arena for its first show Friday night have been virtually completed. All of the seats except three rows around the ring are elevated and the compact hall has been so laid out as to seat upwards of 1,800 fans. There are graduated seats for 450 at $1 per head in the balcony, nine rows of seats at each end of the hall and eight rows on each side. Extra entrances and exits have been prepared, and the sports followers who have witnessed basketball games there hardly will recognize the place.

Francis Flynn holds the promoting license and I. D. (Apples) Meyers the matchmaking license for the Coliseum, which is showing Vincent Hambright, Filipino, of Cincinnati, against Tom Malco in the 10-round main bout of its opening show, with Mickey Duris, of Johnstown, opposing Ken Hargraves, of New Kensington, in the semi-final. Joey Goodman, of Cleveland, and Maxie Strub, of Erie, have been signed for the main bout of the second show, next week.

DUNN CLAIMS RUNOUT

Johnny Dunn, of New Kensington, who defeated Romeo Pacelli at Motor Square Garden last week, is up in arms because he declares Jackie Rodgers is giving him the runaround. He was promised a third meeting with Rodgers if he defeated Pacelli and now Rodgers' manager refuses to consent to the match. Dunn already holds two wins over Rodgers.

The tip is out that Jimmy Conrad, well known some years ago as the manager of Jack Perry, Eddie and Chalky Wimler, Patsy Scanlon and other local boxers, is to return to the managing field.

Eight amateur bouts make up the card of the Homewood-Brushton Baseball Boosters' Association in the Penn Armory tomorrow night. Four professional and six amateur bouts are listed under the auspices of the Ninth Ward Republican Club in Forrester Hall, Lawrenceville, the same night.

Promoter Jim McGirr will complete his card today for the Bud Gorman-Ike Mc Fowler show at McKeesport Thursday night. He has Johnny Smackey and Johnny Heilman in the semi-final and Paul Balint and Young Judy in the opener.

WHITE TO TRY COMEBACK

Charley White, veteran left-hook artist, of Chicago, who began boxing 18 years ago and quit after knocking out Bobby Barrett in December, 1923, has just completed a training program to prepare himself for a return to the wars. He thinks he will be able to go on to the heights again, but probably will be disillusioned in short order. None of them lasts forever, and a six-year layoff from actual fighting is virtually fatal to any man's prospects.

SUN-TELE DRIVER WINS RING TITLE

ANTHONY (BUCK) WHITE

White, who drives a delivery truck for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, last week entered his first boxing tournament and came out of it the junior light-heavyweight champion of the Allegheny Mountain Association of the A. A. U. In his first bout he defeated the champion of the two preceding years and in his final he knocked out his opponent in two rounds. He boxes under the colors of the Pittsburgh Lyceum and shows a lot of promise. He is 22 years old and weighed only 163 pounds in the 175-pound division. Photos show him at his daily job and as he appears in ring costume.

Wright May Turn To Southpaw Style

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Glenn Wright, Brooklyn Robins' shortstop, will become a southpaw if his right arm continues to give him trouble, according to a letter received yesterday from the player at his home in Harrisonville, Mo.

Wright practiced playing first base using his left hand last year. If he should elect to use his left hand in the 1930 season it is probably that he would play first base with a club other than the Robins who are well equipped at that position.

Hartford, Eastern League Chief, Dies

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Robert J. Farrell, 32, head of the Eastern League baseball team here, lost his fight against infection following an appendicitis operation Jan. 4, dying at St. Francis Hospital today.

He attended Georgetown University.

Four Ellwood City Athletes Suspended

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Jan. 14.—With the assumption of the coaching reins at Ellwood City High School by Coach Robert Ingle, former Michigan star, things have been happening fast. When Peck Lee resigned to accept a position as county detective of Lawrence County, Ingle was named to succeed him. He will be assisted by Dick Bartholomew, who took the track championship of the Beaver Valley district to Ellwood City last spring.

Since Lee's departure King, Justine, Fanno and Dunn have been suspended from the squad. It is not known whether the suspension is permanent or not.

British Qualifying Rounds June 16-17

NEW YORK, Jan. 14. (AP.)—Qualifying rounds for the British open golf championship will be played June 16-17 over the courses of the Hoylake and Wallasey clubs, three miles apart in Cheshire.

Terry Is Giant Holdout, Report

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Bill Terry, New York Giants' first baseman, was reported today to have joined the ranks of the holdouts. Terry, it was said, has demanded a contract calling for a salary of $25,000 a year.

Terry had a batting average last season of .372.

Fields to Box Vince Dundee Again

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Jackie Fields, world welterweight boxing champion, and Vince Dundee, of Baltimore, have been matched for a 10-round bout at the Chicago Stadium, January 24. Fields' title will not be involved, the bout being an overweight affair. It will be the third meeting of the pair.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(INS.)—Vince Dundee today claimed he was well on his way to an invasion of the middleweight ranks, following his one-round kayo of Billy Leonard, of Syracuse, at Laurel Garden last night.

Toledo, Cleveland Seek Circuit Opener

KALMAZOO, Mich., Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The schedule committee of the Grand Circuit stewards was deadlocked at noon today over the question of the allotment of dates for the summer harness race meeting. Both Toledo and North Randall (Cleveland) seek the opening two weeks to start June 25. Syracuse and Indianapolis are after the meeting to be held during Labor Day week. State fairs will be held in both cities at that time.

STO-ROX FETE FOR ATHLETES TONIGHT

By JESS CARVER.

The good burghers of McKees Rocks, organized into a very efficient body, which has been named the Sto-Rox Testimonial Association, will gather tonight to honor three home town boys who went to various lengths to leave town and make good.

Frank Rodger

The young gentlemen who will be honor guests at the Chartiers Heights Country Club tonight will be Octavius (Toby) Uansa, Pitt halfback; Charley Winoski, Duquesne footballer, and Frank Rodger, star of the Hagerstown club, of the Blue Ridge League. The Pitt varsity squad also will be in attendance.

This affair tonight in the second of the week for the Pitt gridironists, with one more to go. Thursday, the Chamber of Commerce will honor the Panthers at its annual championship fete in the chamber dining room, and will present at that time the trophy emblematic of the city collegiate title which has been in the proud possession of Carnegie Tech for the past year. At the same time, Schenley High's championship high school eleven will be awarded the city scholastic trophy.

COLLEGE GAMES TONIGHT

Waynesburg and Bethany tie up in a Tri-State Conference tussle at Bethany tonight, with the Bisons top heavy favorites to escape with the honors of the occasion.

At Meadville, Thiel invades the court guarded by the Methodists of old Allegheny, where Coach Baker has a snappy sophomore quintet headed for the tri-state title. This is the same team that went so very well a year ago as a freshman outfit.

West Virginia and West Virginia Wesleyan, old state rivals in both football and basketball, hook up tonight in Morgantown. The appearance of a Wesleyan team in Morgantown is always the signal for great rejoicing on the part of Harry Stanbury, the well-known graduate manager at W. V. U.

Ed Minnick's Duquesne Lafayettes stepped into first place in the Allegheny County League last night when they defeated the Fintex passers, 31 to 22, in the Duquesne University gym. Many of the 500 fans on hand today were ready to concede to the Lafayettes the first half title as a result, for they have only three more games before them, and the trio may be listed as set-ups. The score at half time was 17 to 7.

In other important league battles last night, the Schneiders tripped the Y. M. H. A., 37 to 32, in the West Penn loop; Trinity Cathedral whipped National Music, 43 to 19, in the Central, and Dravo defeated Rieck, 28 to 21, and P. & L. Duquesne Light beat Equitable Gas, 55 to 27, and Philadelphia Company topped Byllesby, 31 to 24, in the Philadelphia Company League, the Penn Cadets tripped the Boys' Club, 34 to 32 and Mt Washington Triangles won from St. Ann's, 44 to 20, in the Metropolitan circuit. The North Side Buicks bested Mt. Lebanon, 51 to 28, in the Greater Pittsburgh, and McKees Rocks defeated Ambridge, 27 to 24, in the R. Club League The lineups:

Long's Sport Comment

here and also worked with Tun Berger, Henry Cote and other good backstops in the old Tri-State League, of which McKeesport was a member.

IN 1896 Bill was given a looking-over by the Pittsburgh club, but never took part in any championship games for the Pirates. He was with Hartford in 1897, Montreal in 1898, Rochester in 1899 and Rochester and Syracuse in 1900. He came into notice again as a catcher for Scranton in 1905, but was released in July and finished the season as an umpire in the Connecticut League. He started the 1906 season as an umpire in the outlaw Tri-State League, and retired from the game after finishing that year as an arbiter in the New York State League.

Jack Elder

JACK ELDER, Notre Dame's crack halfback, who showed Pittsburgh football fans some dazzling fleetness of foot in the Carnegie Tech game here last October, will get his hardest test as a speed star in the Brooklyn College indoor track meet next Saturday night. It will be Elder's only appearance of the winter in Eastern competition.

Following his defeat of Percy Williams, Olympic champion, Elder has been ranked by some as the greatest sprinter of the present, but he will have a tough time coming home in the short races against such men as Karl Wildermuth, of Georgetown, and Jim Daly, of Holy Cross, even if Eddie Tolan and Williams do not accept invitations to run.

INCIDENTALLY, modern starting blocks, invented by John P. Nicholson, Elder's running coach at Notre Dame, will be used indoors for the first time at this meet, improving the chances for new records by Elder and the other fliers.

But whether Elder breaks any records or not, and regardless of what he accomplishes next Saturday or later on the track, he will always be best remembered for a run of an entirely different sort—the one he made on November 28 last at the Yankee Stadium in New York, when he plucked Red Cagle's forward pass out of the air and sprinted 101 yards for the only touchdown of the afternoon and victory over the Army.

JOHNNY LAYTON, who last week retained his title as world three-cushion billiard champion, says the angle game is the hardest of all cue sports. "Of the three kinds of billiards—pocket, balk-line and three-cushion—the toughest is three-cushion," he says. "No other type involves such a physical and mental strain as the angle game. There is a continual problem in mental arithmetic to be solved by the billiardist in adding or subtracting angles according to the formula he has worked out. Such problems do not confront the pocket or balk-line player, as three-cushion shots are not compulsory or necessary in making a count in those two other types of billiards. The system of angles has been reduced to a science since 1908. The game is 100 per cent better than it was 25 years ago. In those days, the average per inning was only half a point. Now it is a full point. This improvement may be fairly credited to the scientific study of angles, for as a matter of fact there was more rubber in the cushions and the cloth was better 25 years ago than today."

Gus Copulos

THOUGH Gus Copulos, of Detroit, who once represented Pittsburgh in the old three-cushion billiard league, was credited by some of the newspapers with a new world record when he made a run of 17 points against Otto Reiselt, another former Pittsburgh player, in the New York title tourney last week, the truth of the matter is that he only equaled the existing mark.

For a run of 17 had been made before in tournament competition, and it has stood for 11 years. Tiff Denton was the first to reach that high total, setting it as a world record against Byron Gillette in the championship play of 1919. Two actual new records set up last week were 23 innings for a 50-point game and an average of 2 4-23, by Champion Layton.

Athletics Drop Martinsburg As Farm

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Reports that the World Champion Athletics had dropped the Martinsburg, W. Va., Baseball club as a farm to develop players were confirmed last night by Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia American League club.

"Yes, I guess you may say that we won't be down there next season," Mack said. He gave no details.

PITT GRIDDERS BANQUETED

Dr. Tommy Holleran, himself a former Pitt football luminary, welcomed home the 1929 Pitt varsity squad at the Hotel Schenley last night. The occasion was the banquet tendered the Panthers by the Oakland Board of Trade, and had for its toastmaster Dr. Carl Wallace Petty.

Holleran gave a rousing address, praising the Pitt squad and the Pitt coach, Jock Sutherland. He made folks forget the New Year's Day game in Pasadena as he threw roses at the Panthers for winning their nine regular games as first claim to the Eastern intercollegiate championship.

The most representative crowd that has attended a football banquet in Pittsburgh for a long time turned out to honor the Pitt eleven last night. Men from other schools, as well as from Pitt, were on hand to give the Gold and Blue warriors the glad hand. At the speakers' table sat Buddy Overend, Bob Waddell, of Carnegie Tech; Dex Very, Penn State's famous son, was in the crowd, and John Egan, dean of the law school, and Father Hehr, of Duquesne, graced the assemblage with their presence. John Holohan, graduate manager of athletics at Duquesne, and Father Cherdini, known in his collegiate days as Chuck, were guests on the speakers' platform.

TITANS BEAT GENEVANS BY 22-20 SCORE

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 14.—Westminster continued its winning stride here last night to take a closely-fought victory from Geneva by a 22-20 score. The Titans maintained the lead throughout the game after assuming pace shortly after the first few moments of play but a determined Geneva team with prospects of tasting their first college defeat of the year made it an interesting struggle. The scoreboard at halftime showed Westminster holding a 12-8 advantage. The lineup:

SHUTE KEEPS LEAD

HORTON SMITH, CRUICKSHANK NEAR TOP

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—While the gallery followed in the footsteps of the golfing elite yesterday, Denny Shute, young pro from Columbus, O., stroked his way over Riviera's picturesque course to retain an important, if not impressive, lead at the end of the third round of the 72-hole $10,000 Los Angeles open championship.

Shute and his 222 showed the way to the greatest figures in the game. He went around the par 71 layout in 75. His previous rounds were 73-74.

FAVORITES TRAIL

Three strokes behind Shute followed two of the tournament's favorites, Horton Smith, of Joplin, Mo., and Bobby Cruickshank, of New York. Each scored 225.

Within striking distance for top money were Tommy Armour, Detroit; Al Espinosa, Chicago, and Chet Beer, of Bakersfield, Cal. all in the 227 class.

The rest of the field was scattered from 228 strokes well into the 240's. The end of the third round saw five notables of the game practically out of the running so far as first money went. Leo Diegel, of Agua Caliente, Mex., P. G. A. champion, marked time with a total of 228, while MacDonald Smith, of Long Island, N. Y., winner of the title for the last two years, had a 230 to show for his efforts.

FINALE TODAY

First place money was out of reach of Harry Cooper, of Buffalo, N. Y., first Los Angeles open titleholder; Johnny Farrell, of St. Augustine, Fla., former national open champion, and Bill Mehlhorn, of New York, another veteran. Cooper chalked up a three-round total of 232; Farrell had 233, and Mehlhorn a 241.

Today's final 18-hole round is expected to bring out a golfing race with Shute seeking to maintain his slim lead against the challenges of Horton Smith and Cruickshank. Armour, Al Espinosa, and Chet Beer also have a slight chance to come ahead for top money of $3,500.

HERRERA STOPS CRAWLEY

way out in the sixth round against Eddie Brannon, local Negro comer, claiming a foul on a blow that struck his hip at a time when Brannon, after trailing until this frame, although he was forcing the fight from the start and chasing the elusive Smallwood all over the ring, was hammering away devastatingly with body blows that were hurting the Ohioan.

Referee Jack Henderson very properly informed Smallwood that he had not been hit low enough to put on the wailing act and told him he would have to continue. He finally convinced Chet that he meant business and the latter stopped his hysterics sufficiently to agree to resume after a rest, but just at that time the boxing commissioner stepped in and ordered the referee to give the fight to Smallwood on a foul, which means, if the rules of the commission are to be enforced, that Smallwood will not be eligible to box in this state again until he has had 60 days in which to recuperate and that Brannon will be deprived of his purse. Smallwood is matched to box Battling Gizzy at Junction Park, January 23.

Smallwood was wearing one of those new-fangled pneumatic protection belts ordered by the commission since the first of the year, and, if the punch on the hip injured him as badly as he claimed through this device, it is not much of a recommendation for the apparatus.

Smallwood had won every round but the third on his better maneuvering and cleaner hitting against the aggressiveness of Brannon, but he wilted the moment the Negro began to attack his midsection. Incidentally, Chet was considerably flabbergasted when he prepared to doff his bathrobe immediately after entering the ring only to discover that he had forgotten to put on his tights over his pneumatic belt. He blushed his confusion as he repaired to the dressing room and returned. Here was an act for the well-known book. Both boxers weighed 134 1-2 pounds.

BURNS IN ROUGH GO

Bobby Burns, of Swissvale, proved that the lesson of his suspension for using foul tactics against Johnny Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, in a bout at the Moose Temple last season was not well learned when, in meeting the same opponent again, in the second bout, he repeated the same tactics from the start and received warning after warning from Referee Grayber, who was begged by the fans to toss him out on the cool night air for his continual trangressing of the rules. Burns mugged and heeled and butted and elbowed and wrestled and gouged and used the rabbit punch and talked back to the referee and when the decision in favor of his opponent was announced at the finish made a run for where he thought the referee was as if to attack him, only to find that Grayber already was outside the ropes and on the way down the steps.

Burns was booed from the ring and, upon reaching the dressing room, put on an unscheduled extra bout with Haggerty which had to be broken up by the police. Just what the commission intends to do about this case of open defiance of the rules and law and order remains to be seen. Burns should not be permitted to box in public again until he learns to control his temper and box cleanly. He is a former national amateur junior flyweight champion and is a rugged youngster who ought to be able to do a good, clean job in the ring instead of turning the fans against him by his foul tactics. Last night he weighed 127 pounds against 123 for his opponent.

PARIS BEATS BALINT

In the six-round opener, Sammy Paris, of the Hill, won a much-hooted referee's decision over Paul Balint, of the North Side, in six rounds.

Al Grayber and Jack Henderson alternated as referees and Frank Brown and Jock Simco were the judges. A. C. Couch was the timer and Bill Schuster handled all of the announcing. He introduced K. O. Christner, Akron heavyweight, and Ray Miller, Chicago lightweight knockout star, before the main bout. Announcement that Sergt. Sammy Baker and Joe Trippe have been rematched for the main bout at the Garden, February 3, drew an ovation.

MACKS, BROWNS TIE FOR LEAD IN FIELDING

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Little of noteworthy mention is contained in the American League fielding averages for 1929 as given out today. The Howe News Bureau picks out the following features of the season:

The champion Philadelphia team tied with St. Louis for first place in team fielding at .975.

That rare and spectacular feature—a triple play—was executed five times during the season. New York made two and Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis one each. Cleveland, leader in double plays in 1928 with 187, repeated but with a total of only 162. On July 12 in the first game, St. Louis made five double plays against Philadelphia and on September 4, received the same treatment from Chicago.

JOE JUDGE LEADER

Joe Judge played 142 games for Washington at first base and was offered 1,417 chances of which he accepted 1,411 (1,323 putouts and 88 assists) for an average of .996. Charley Gehringer had 404 putouts and 501 assists and only 23 errors in 154 games for a mark of .975. John Hodapp, of Cleveland, played 72 games at second with an average of .977. Gehringer participated in 93 double plays and Hodapp 32. Willie Kamm led the third basemen again with a mark of .978, having only 11 errors while making 221 putouts and 270 assists. Kamm was in 27 double plays and completed a triple play by pulling the hidden ball trick for the third time in his major league career.

Shortstops were far below par, with Joe Boley the best of a mediocre field. The Philadelphia veteran was in only 88 games, but strangely enough reached his best form late in the season and played brilliantly in the world series. His record of 161 putouts, 229 assists and 15 errors in 88 games for an average of .963 with 50 double plays was five points better than that of Leo Durocher, who had 197 putouts, 299 assists, 22 errors and 59 double plays for an average of .158 in 93 games.

SIMMONS, SCHULTE TIE

Thirteen pitchers who were in 24 or more games went through the season with perfect records. Fred Marberry had 50 chances in 49 games, George Walberg 60 in 40 games and Lloyd Brown 51 in 40 games.

Harold Ruel led the catchers with .990 for 63 games, but Gordon Cochrane, who played in 135 games and handled 749 chances for an average of .983, was unanimously chosen as the outstanding receiver of the year.

GENE RALLIES FROM KNIFE

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—Flanked by white robed specialists in an operating room of the Presbyterian Hospital, Gene Tunney took a 25-minute count yesterday and awakened minus a troublesome stone that had formed at the entrance of his right kidney.

A minor operation, performed by Dr. George Winthrop Fish, with Dr. J. Bentley Squires and Dr. Carnes Weeks in attendance, removed the obstruction. It was feared at first it might be necessary to take out the kidney itself. The former heavyweight king rallied splendidly from the operation which was described as "entirely successful."

The operation proved far simpler than the surgeons in charge had expected, X-ray pictures, taken at intervals during the past few days, revealed an obstruction in the ureter at the juncture with the kidney. An exploratory operation, wherein surgery was not necessary, was performed last Wednesday, but failed to dislodge the stone.

Firpo Tops Nichols In New Castle Go

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 14.—A large crowd attended the opening show at Jolly Bowl last night and witnessed a series of fast, vicious bouts which had the fans on their feet most of the time. Henry Firpo, Cleveland middleweight won a 10-round decision over Knockout Nichols, of Buffalo, in a grueling battle.

FAVORITE ANNOUNCER

Milton J. Cross has a tremendous lead for favorite announcer on networks, with Young, Peterson, Hay in the fight.

Favorite artist contest is a muddled up affair with many nominees.

WHIRLWIND START!

Will Rogers got a vote for favorite announcer.

Larry Jacobs, who has resigned Warner Brothers for Tiffany Productions, plans to give us a "talkie" over the radio soon. Good luck, Larry!

WCAE has two new pianos, one a concert grand, nine feet long, said to be the largest in the world. Its keys have felt the wizardry of Paul Whiteman, George Gershwin. It's bass note holds the tone more than a minute.

Herb McGee has a new green hat which he must wear about the studio all the time. It's the Jesse Kaufman influence making him a newspaperman.

TODAY'S TID BITS:

For the Vitamins Only Do We Take Cod Liver Oil

There is no health value to Cod Liver Oil once the precious Vitamins are extracted.

All the power to build strength, energy and vigor lies in the Vitamins and now that a studious chemist has separated them from the oily grease and put them in tablet form, there is no reason on earth why anyone need ever again even look at the outside of a bottle of ill-smelling, fishy-tasting Cod Liver Oil.

Take your Vitamins straight.

Two sugar-coated Tablets known to druggists as McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are equal in Vitamin potency to one full teaspoon of Vitamin tested Cod Liver Oil.

If you take two of these tablets four times a day as directed you will probably get all of Vitamins A and D that your system requires.

You are sure to get them.

For every ailment, malady or rundown condition for which Cod Liver Oil is prescribed, McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets are equally as good. We would not be allowed to make this statement if it were not true. Get them at any drug store—precious but inexpensive. Take your Vitamins straight—60 tablets 60 cents. © 1929, McC. L., Inc.

Dr. Pierce's Clinic

DR. R. V. PIERCE was a successful practicing physician, when, in 1870, he established a clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., of well-qualified medical men, specialists in the treatment of various chronic diseases.

If you are ailing, and desire a thorough medical examination, go to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., where you will receive good medical advice from Dr. Pierce's Clinic. If you cannot go there, write Dr. Pierce's Clinic, answer all their questions as best you can, and send sample of urine, and you will receive the best medical advice possible, and for this there will be no charge.

The herbal tonic that Dr. Pierce prescribed most often for building up the weakened system, and for making redder blood, cleansing the systems of men, women and children, without harm, was afterwards put up in ready-to-use form and known the country over as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

70,000 Workers Honor Employer; Unique Event

By B. C. FORBES

LAST evening labor unionists entertained an employer. That's real news, significant news, inspiring news.

THIS employer is not head of an organization so small that he could personally know all the workers. His employes total 70,000.

That makes the occasion all the more important, all the more encouraging, even epochal. For does it not suggest that, even in the very largest corporations, it is possible to bring about such friendly relationships between men and management that the workers will be moved to go out of their way to demonstrate their regard for those at the top?

The occasion was the tendering of a testimonial dinner by the labor organizations of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to Daniel Willard on his twentieth anniversary as president.

DAN WILLARD belonged to the ranks. He started at the very bottom of railroading. One of his earliest and toughest jobs was firing a wheezy old locomotive with wood. Later he had an all-night job, in a roundhouse, wrestling with the problem of keeping the engines and everything else from freezing during the zero weather. He had abundant opportunity to learn labor's slant.

Events have proved that promotion to official rank didn't cause him to forget it.

The "B. & O. plan" is famous throughout the railway world. Its keynote is co-operation. The men loyally do their utmost to benefit the company; the company reciprocates. The "plan" is not elaborately drafted, charted, graphed on black and white. It is, rather, a spirit.

LET Mr. Willard explain in the language he used last evening in gratefully acknowledging the compliment paid him:

"A few weeks before the 1922 shopmen's strike, Mr. Johnston, then president of the Machinists' Union, and Mr. Otto Beyer, called at my office and made a proposition which was both unique and surprising. Mr. Johnston said, in brief, that the men he represented were skilled craftsmen, that as a rule most of them had spent a good many years in the service, that they naturally had acquired a knowledge concerning the work they were doing which ought to be of value to the company, and he suggested that we endeavor to work out some plan whereby a greater use could be made of that knowledge and experience, the men co-operating with the management to that end in a joint effort to promote our mutual interests.

"Discussion of the plan for co-operation was resumed shortly after the settlement of the strike, a method of procedure was agreed upon, the plan was put into effect, and subsequent events have fully justified our faith. Co-operation is now an accepted policy in all branches of the Baltimore and Ohio service.

"WE have no written plan beyond a very brief statement of belief and procedure. The basis of our labor policy is best described as a state of mind resulting from the confidence which the employes have in the fairness of the management and which the management also has in the fairness of employes. Instead of thinking of each other in terms of suspicion, a feeling of mutual respect and growing confidence exists, and this in my opinion is the outstanding contribution of our co-operative policy.

"While the practical suggestions which have been made and adopted from time to time have been of substantial value, even so, to my mind, they are relatively unimportant when compared with the feeling of respect and confidence resulting also from the practical application of the plan.

"There is a rule many centuries old which, if honestly followed, I believe will bring substantial justice or fairness. The rule is to treat the other man as you think you would wish to be treated if in his place. That rule, I like to think, is the essence of the Baltimore and Ohio labor policy.

"I AM inclined to think that our labor policy was formerly influenced to no small extent by the ever-present thought of the next war, or, in plainer terms, the next strike. Now we are trying at least to direct our labor policy so as to prevent war. If it is necessary to have two sides to make war, it is equally necessary to have the co-operation of two sides to make peace.

"This occasion itself is perhaps the best evidence that we have made some progress in that direction."

IF one large organization has been able to achieve harmony—without damage to dividends—could not others profit by adopting the simple methods employed?

American stability and prosperity in coming years will depend on our success or failure in establishing satisfactory relations between industry and workers.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The bond market was lifeless again today, making only a narrow response to orders by either buyers or sellers. FIFTH, GRANT, OLIVER AND WILLIAM PENN PLACE

The sudden imposition of financial responsibilities usually finds one entirely unprepared. It comes, too, at a time when continuance of income is of utmost importance. In such a situation, friendly and competent counsel on investment matters is essential. Widows who manage their own affairs will find at the Mellon National Bank a sympathetic understanding of their financial problems. They will find the various departments at the bank entirely adequate for the collection of interest and principal, the reinvestment of funds, and any other financial transaction that may be necessary.

STOCKS GO UP WITH TRADING INCREASE

Buying Orders Spread Over Fairly Large List; Oils and Coppers Sluggish

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—(AP.)—The stock market made further recovery today on a slightly increased volume of trading. Buying orders were distributed over a fairly broad list, but the steels, public utilities, amusements and electrical manufacturing issues gave the best demonstrations of group strength. Coppers, oils and motors were rather sluggish, and the buying movement in the rails subsided, at least temporarily.

There were a few unfavorable developments in the day's business news. Preliminary estimates indicated another sharp increase in crude oil production last week, and the American Bureau of Metal Statistics reported an increase of 44,400 tons in the surplus stocks of refined copper last month.

STEEL STOCK OFFERED

Fixing of the price at which United States Steel Corporation employes may purchase common stock on the instalment plan at $169 a share, or just a couple of dollars below the recent market quotation, was regarded as a favorable omen by bull traders. Operators for the advance also were encouraged by the fact that recent attempts to hammer down prices failed to bring about any appreciable liquidation of long stock, and were invariably accompanied by dullness of trading.

Call money renewed unchanged at 4½ per cent with the demand slack, and indications that the rate would be maintained until after the completion of the mid-month settlements. The time money and commercial paper markets were quiet and no change in rates.

Reports of a further upturn in steel mill operations stimulated the demand for the Steel shares. U. S. Steel common sold as high as 172½ and Republic and Superior Steel and Colorado Fuel recorded early gains of 2 points or more. In the public utility group the demand centered largely in American Telephone, American Power and Light, Consolidated Gas and Stone & Webster.

AMUSEMENTS RISE

A flurry of buying took place in the amusement issues in the early afternoon. Radio, Radio-Keith-Orpheum, Loews, Columbia Graphophone, Warner Bros. Pictures and Fox Film all were marked up a point or more. Among the score of more issues to sell 2 points or more above yesterday's final quotations were American Can, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Air Reduction, American Tobacco B, Underwood Elliott Fisher and Simmons.

A few high priced specialties, including J. I. Case, Vulcan Detinning, New York & Harlem and Columbian Carbon, were marked up 3½ to 6 points. Western Union dropped 4½ points, Congress Cigar 3, Northern Pacific 1¾ and Montgomery-Ward 1.

Bituminous Coal Production Gains

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Bituminous coal production started out in 1930 at a rate considerably higher than attained in recent periods. Output for the latest week reported by the mines bureau, and for comparable periods, follows: Week ending January 4, 10,139,000 tons; preceding week, 7,735,000 tons; same week last year, 9,881,000 tons.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Jan. 14. — Rallying power showed itself quickly in the wheat market today after prices had undergone an early dip. Statements attributed to President Legge, of the Federal Farm Board, strongly urging curtailment of wheat acreage, did much to encourage buying of future deliveries. Opening unchanged to 1⅜ off, Chicago wheat prices later scored gains. Corn, oats and provisions developed firmness also, with corn starting ⅛ to ¼@⅜ off and subsequently showing an advance.

In addition to reports that the Federal Farm Board through Chairman Legge was doing all in its power to remove danger of overplanting, another stimulus towards higher prices for wheat today was word that a European trade authority was predicting increased buying abroad. It was explained in this connection that purchases by trans-Atlantic countries has been kept very low on account of a combination of circumstances which are now being modified.

Announcement today that a considerable amount of United States No. 2 hard wheat afloat had been bought for Antwerp helped to give firmness at times to wheat values. There was also buying of wheat futures here for northwestern account. On the other hand, figures were current today showing that for 28 weeks ending January 9 exports of wheat from the United States and Canada have totaled only 162,222,154 bushels, against 304,806,207 bushels in the same period last year.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Cotton opened steady today, unchanged to a decline of 6 points. Active months soon showed net losses of 6 to 9 points under liquidation or realizing and some local selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables. A little southern selling was also reported, but the trade again appeared to be buying and after selling off to 17.46c for March and 17.69c for May, the market steadied on covering and commission house buying. Trading was moderately active at the end of the first half hour, with prices showing recoveries to about yesterday's quotations. Liverpool cables said covering and trade calling had been supplied by local and continental liquidation in that market, but reported fair sales of cotton cloths to India and said further business was pending.

Austin Car Meets Good Dealer Acceptance

The American Austin Car Company has taken definite commitments by contract and tentative commitments by application from dealers and distributors throughout the United States for 86,545 Bantam Austin cars. These definite and tentative contracts were made during the week ended January 11 and involve $38,000,000, on the basis of the approximate list price announced for the American Austins, namely, below $450.

The announcement was made today in a letter to stockholders which pointed out that this total of 86,545 cars, 52,025 of which represented definite, signed contracts, probably sets a new record of trade interest in the presentation of new models under similar circumstances.

German Bankers Negotiate With American Bankers About Financing.

ACTIVE negotiations between American bankers and German interests in need of financing are said to have been resumed on the assumption that the American market will soon again be open to foreign loans. The German government, it is believed, has been discussing with bankers from New York the capital needs of German railways and telegraph and telephone companies. It is estimated that the German railways require 200,000,000 marks and the telegraph and telephone companies 100,000,000 marks in the first half of this year. Many other projects are being discussed with various Wall street houses. The huge oversubscription to the latest offering of American Telephone and Telegraph bonds was very encouraging to the bankers, and indicates that the market for high-grade securities has made a rapid recovery.

Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of the Chase National Bank, raised the point that the gold supply of the world is sufficient to furnish legitimate business with credit at comfortable rates, but that it is insufficient to finance speculation such as has been experienced recently. Mr. Wiggin held that there is not enough surplus gold to justify extremely cheap money at the present time. His views on the business situation, incidentally, were highly encouraging.

RESPONDING to an advance in cigaret prices by the Liggett Drug chain, tobacco stocks developed greater activity at rising prices yesterday. The increase in prices was seen as the first step by retailers to restore prices to a level that would afford reasonable profits. This would stabilize the tobacco industry even if the development does not mean larger income for the manufacturers. Upon the present low retailing prices the manufacturer makes a profit, but there is little or nothing left for the jobber and retailer. A further price advance by manufacturers is considered a possibility.

The outstanding influence in the stock market during the next two months will be the business situation. For that reason, the news from the steel industry is receiving much attention. If the steel industry is still a barometer of future conditions in other lines, it must be admitted that recent developments have been favorable. Substantial increases in operations as a result of the larger specifications from consumers are always important. It remains to be seen what the next few weeks will bring. If the current rate of buying continues there will be further expansion in steel mill activities. The motor trade also is being watched, but it will be necessary for any spurt in this industry to be sustained for at least two or three months before many will believe that the outlook is entirely satisfactory.

THE bull pools are doing very little because it is hard to get a following. This is due to the indifference of the public and the fact that many traders cannot follow bull tips because of losses sustained in the October and November decline. And then there are many accounts that are in a frozen condition, the market not having advanced far enough to permit them to thaw. In view of the lower prices for stocks, compared with the highs of last year, and the inactivity of the market, some brokerage houses are becoming more liberal in the matter of required margin.

Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies is one issue which has been in a definitely bullish trend for a long time—nearly a year. Earnings have been running at the rate of $12 a share, of which approximately 50 per cent is said to represent favorable government mail contracts. In some quarters it is contended that there are chances of the preferred dividend being increased to the full rate of $5, from $4, within a month or two, and such action probably would be viewed as putting the common in line for distributions later in the current year if business continues favorable.

International Shoe Business Greater

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 14.—International Shoe Company's production and shipments are well ahead of a year ago although output is not up to the peak of several months ago when more than 200,000 pairs were being manufactured daily. Production at present is nearer 192,000 pairs.

AUSTIN HIGHER ON CAR SALE REPORTS

Demand Lifts Quotation On Auto Company Stock In Quiet Market Here

A little flurry in American Austin Car marked the early dealings on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today, when the stock forged ahead in response to buying orders which appeared in larger volume than had been noted for a week or more.

Buying was based on reports that the company had contracted with dealers to take 52,000 cars and had tentative orders for 34,000 more.

In other quarters the local list was steady to firm, but there was no noticeable increase in the volume of transactions. Lone Star Gas was in moderate demand, but held close to its recent trading range around 35. Arkansas Gas was up a small fraction, but only a few shares were handled.

The heavy industrials were quietly firm, with United Engineering showing a small gain and Pittsburgh Forgings holding firm around 13¾. Rustless Iron was quiet in the early dealings, selling again around $2 a share.

In the late trading a buying movement got under way in Pittsburgh Forgings, apparently a revival of demand from the same sources that put the stock up suddenly several days ago. The stock moved up more than a point as the Street heard further favorable comment on the 1929 earnings, estimated at around $2.50 a share.

Oil Field Activity Down in December

OIL CITY, Pa., Jan. 14.—The Derrick says that 483 fewer wells were completed during December of last year than in the preceding month in the fields east of the Rocky Mountains. New production for December was 339,320 barrels, a decline of 31,124 barrels.

A total of 1,180 wells were completed in December, including 585 dry holes and 306 gas wells. New work under way at the close of the month was less than at the close of November.

PROMOTER RAPS WRITER FOR CRITICISM

Attempted Retaliation For 'Christmas Check' Attack Held Typical

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Pride is a dangerous trait, which often leadeth but to a fall. As a matter of policy, I try to give pride a wide berth, yet I cannot help being proud of the enemies I make. In my efforts as an observer and critic of the panorama of financial events, I have persistently alienated the affections of questionable stock promoters and other exploiters of the public.

Garfield Crawford, executive vice president, organization board, Universal Oil and Gas Company, concerning whose promotional activities I animadverted in a recent column, is the latest to join the group which finds me lacking in qualities of brotherly love. In high pressured stock campaigns waged by promoters along unsound lines against the credulity of the public, there can be no neutrality.

Mr. Crawford, who originally had my name on his sucker list of prospects, now does me the honor of making me the subject of an extended personal letter to a reader of this column who resides in a town near the financial center of the world.

RETURNED CHECK

Having read my original comment on Mr. Crawford's attempt to merge Christmas greetings with a stock selling appeal, the reader returned the proffered check sent to prospects, with the subjoined pencil notation on the back of the instrument: "I am returning the check you so kindly sent me as a Christmas gift, as I cannot accept so generous a gift from one an entire stranger.

"I could hardly control my feelings when reading your letter to know of the great interest you have in my financial welfare.

"Tears came to my eyes when I saw the checks you so kindly reproduced showing how your members have prospered. Really you are a great benefactor to mankind. I am enclosing clipping by Stanley Rukeyser. Isn't he a mean old thing to write such an article about a nice man like you and the Universal Oil and Gas Company?"

This comment gave Mr. Crawford, executive in the Oklahoma City oil promotion, an occasion for writing on the anatomy and physiology of this financial writer. I do not want to overdignify the incident by taking notice of it, yet I think Mr. Crawford's attempted retaliation is significant because it is typical.

"After thanking my reader for his thoughtfulness in sending him the clipping of my original article which he read 'with a great deal of interest,'" Mr. Crawford added: "I consider this a very fair statement considering the amount of facts this gentleman had in hand. He is the hired official pessimist of the newspaper group in which his columns are syndicated every day. He is probably like the son of a farmer, who, seeing a giraffe in the menagerie, exclaimed: 'There ain't no such animal.'"

PROMOTIONAL SKEPTICISM

If skepticism toward flamboyant promoters who make extravagant emotional claims and eschew giving concrete facts is pessimism, then I'll make the most of it. Is it pessimism to deny that the moon is made of green cheese, to deny that two and two make six, no doubt that I will ever live to be 150 years old, to question my ability to take an automobile in my arms and left it from the ground, or to be dubious of the fact that all January 1 resolutions will be kept?

Later in his letter Mr. Crawford, weakening his earlier charge that I was hired as an official pessimist, implied that perhaps I just turned pessimistic since the late October-early November debacle in Wall street. Those readers of my column who have no ax to grind will recall that since the panic I have been distinctly more optimistic concerning the standard stocks at prevailing prices than for many months before when I characterized the levels at which overexploited industrial and public utility stocks were selling as fantastic.

Yet Mr. Crawford remarks: "Due to the recent landslide in Wall street, which took listed securities from high peaks to low levels and squeezed billions from these so-called A-1 securities millions were ruined. This condition did not apparently worry Mr. Rukeyser prior to the collapse."

GAVE WARNING

This writer ever since the panic has sedulously avoided shaking his fingers at readers and saying: "I told you so."

Yet the record shows that almost immediately after my return from Europe this fall, I pointed out in my column of September 30: "The rise of brokers loans to new peaks in recent weeks without a corresponding upturn in prices suggests most forcibly that the character of the selling has been better than that of the buying. The statistical implication is that outright holders—institutional and individual—have been passing along part of their portfolios to marginal speculators. . the public should not fool itself. The Federal Reserve, which has been fighting bull extravagance in Wall street for a year and a half, will not feel obliged to come to the rescue of the lambs who who ignored its oft-repeated advice."

Investment Houses to Change Policies

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE bond trade may be on the verge of making a radical change in its methods of pricing new issues. Bond men have been almost universal in their praise of the handling of the $150,000,000 issue of American Telephone and Telegraph 5s. The belief is general that a similar policy should be adopted by all houses on all new issues.

The telephone issue was met with an exceptional demand yesterday as a result of the fact that the bonds were priced at 99½. They were identical with a previous issue which sold at 104 on Thursday before the terms of the new offering were known.

Such an offering is in sharp contrast to the practice of bond houses during the past few years and represents an attempt on the part of J. P. Morgan & Co., leader in the offering syndicate, to reawaken the public appetite for fixed income securities. Instead of trying to squeeze the last fraction of a point out of the issue the house of Morgan is giving bond buyers a chance to realize a profit.

Market Rigging

IN the past it has been the custom for offering houses to boost the market for a company's older issues in order to create an apparent enhancement of the value of a new issue under the same mortgage but of a different series. The immediate result was to give the bond houses a larger profit but the practice was frequently followed by less satisfactory developments.

The dissolution of the syndicate was often accompanied by a pronounced drop in the market price of the bonds with a consequent feeling of dissatisfaction among the clients. Bond houses often found themselves with large blocks of bonds which could not be sold at the inflated offering prices.

Bonds Moving Slowly

ALTHOUGH the telephone issue is passing rapidly into investors' hands, the market for new security offerings is poor. The break in stocks has been followed by cheaper money and an advance in the price of bonds but the ability of the public to pick up new investments is still curtailed. The predicted January revival in the bond business has not materialized.

One explanation lies in the fact that most investors still have a large share of their funds tied up in stock commitments. They are unwilling to switch these into bonds so long as the stocks would have to be sold at substantial losses.

Many of the large investment houses which a few years ago transferred their efforts from bonds to stocks are now turning back to bonds in their plans for new issues. While the investment public will still retain a great part of its interest in equity securities, there appears to be little doubt that an active market for new bond issues will develop before any very long time has passed.

May Revive Market

IN an effort to hasten the revival of the market for bonds, it is quite probable that other issues will be offered at attractive levels and without a previous rigging of the prices. The general attitude in the bond trade is that the former practice has been distinctly to the disadvantage of the business in general.

That brokerage and investment firms are convinced that very marked alterations are due as a result of the stock market break last fall is evident from the large number of changes in personnel which have taken place during the past month. The curtailment in trading activity has been followed by cuts in the staff of some of the brokerage houses. The lack of a revival in demand for bonds has also resulted in numerous changes in that field. Some of the local houses have passed out of existence. Many of the branch offices of national houses have undergone far-reaching reorganizations. On the other hand several New York investment houses are planning to open branches here which indicates strong faith in the fact that Pittsburgh's ability to absorb new securities will show gains very shortly.

This Town of Ours

AN attorney in the MGM legal dep't is handling Ina Claire's abrogation from John Gilbert. . .Edna St. Vincent Millay, the love poem writer, just bought a new set of store teeth. . .The James Hazen Hydes are having it Reno-vated in the Deadly Feud Malone manner. . .Barbara Newberry, one of Mr. Ziegfeld's better-lookers, is that-waying it with a Brave from the Stotesbury tribe. . .The Carl Forsman-Bee Jackson romance has curdled already. . .Joe White head and Laura Schofield will centre-aisle it soon. . .It's a girl at the Fred Lawrence's. . .There are so many speakeasies on West 54th Strasse that the owner of No. 39 has posted a sign out front reading: "Private House."

James A. Stillman is building a manse in the Almandarez sector of Havana . . . Elsa Lazarus, who plays the consumptive in the play, "At the Bottom," is the frau of the guy who coughed up the coin . . . Stewart Baird, who once yodel'd in the Shubert musicals, has slipped into the Sussill Register and certain eyebrows are Away Up to Here . . . Incidentally, John C. Wilson, sec'y-mgr. for Noel Coward, can point to a line in that tome . . . Richard Rodgers will Lohengrin it the first wk. in March . . . Betty Compton will not return to the "Frenchmen" show . . . It is all set for Gilbert Miller to be Sir Gil when he returns to London in the spring.

LOOK WHO'S HERE!

HERMAN MANKIEWICZ, who didn't even have an accent before the Horrorwood invasion, is in town, honey . . . One of the better known drama defender's magazine reviews will stop with the March issue . . . Doubleday-Doran will put Russ Crouse's Nieu Yaukur pieces between covers . . . The George Warrens (Blanche Harte) have phffft! . . . It's a lad over at the Maurice (Norma Mason) Malletts' . . . S. N. Behrman and George Gershwin are plotting a musical romance . . . Britain has changed Vina Delmar's "Loose Ladies" to "Ladies of Fortune" . . . Lindy's press agent, Harry Bruno, and Nydia D'Arnell will positively be welded in Manhattan this week.

Instead of ejaculating "I thought I'd die!" the locals now put it: "It left me in sections!" . . . Walter Huston, who will play Abe Lincoln for D. W. Griffith, is a Canuck . . . The Avon Theater, where B. Pemberton's "Strictly Dishonorable" is a smash, has eliminated its $1.50 seats and titled the others . . . The producer being one of the leaders in the movement to "save the public from the brokers' high prices" . . . Incidentally several managers are waiting until the middle of February to renew their long distance "buys" . . . That ultra night place, the Candle-Light Room at 10 E. 60th, folded up after the first week . . . The Lester Ladens (Edith Babson) are telling it to a judge after a year . . . The 25-cent wrist-watch business is flourishing on Broadway, the so-called "Wise Sector," these days.

THE FLAMING DECADE

RECOMMENDED to diversion seekers: Seward Collins' sizzling sock at People You Know, titled "Farewell to the Twenties," in the January Bookman . . . Feet's Hot Spot at 142 W. Houston, a torrid jernt . . . Iturbi, the Spanish pianist, at Carnegie on the 16th.

The James Hanleys (Belle Doyle) anticipate another blessed event . . . Harry Sommers, 25 yrs the manager of the Knickerbocker Theater, soon to be razed, has shifted to the Avon Theater, where he brought along the Knickerbocker's plush curtain . . . There's sentiment for you . . . The not so gay White Way night club chiefs are frequently the no couvert charge restaurant revues to learn how it is done . . . They are calling B'way "The Street of Forgotten Faces" . . . E. Selwyn can punch us in the nose, as he threatens, but we're warning him —he'll have to take his turn in line!

The pay-off is the latest sulking of certain managers who would have you believe that the Warner Bros. paid handsome sums to dramatic critics to give "Top Speed" good notices. How! Grace George had to go to Equity to make A. E. Matthews shave a beard he grew for the role in the Ervine play. Most taxis rent tires at $5 per week, the renter paying repair fees. Howard Brubaker of The Nyorker writes pieces for the New Republic under the absurd tag of Felix Fay.

THE HEIGHT OF SOME'P'N

Helen Chandler, by the way, cannot dine in Sardi's any more (she will tell you via the lorgnette manner), because her Holywood contract prohibits her from mixing with "ordinaries." Peter Arno is being coaxed by an ante-meridian rag. The Sime (Variety) Silvermans are plotting a West Coast holiday. Loretta McDermott, the divorcee, has a new "heart." Will Rogers just made the Bremen to cover the Disarmament Conference "where" he says, "all they'll sink will be a lotta blue-prints!"

A Kober says it must be a tough life being P. Whiteman—you gotta be pricked with a pin at night to let the air out, and in the morning you gotta be blown up all over again. The Tom Mixs, who were On The Verge, reconciled at the Mayfair. "What Is This Thing Called Love?" has been released On The Air and you know what that means. The Musicians' Union is spending $500,000 to stop "debasing of musical taste" by the talkies. As soon as it begins to to show results the buggy painters' union is going to do something about the automobile craze.

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES
DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate," by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d," to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

HYMN FOR A COUGHING CHORUS

A plague upon these gastrophiles
Who wander down theater aisles
Late, and murmur soft and sweet,
"Beg pardon,"—then step on your feet,
And if they have a slight mishap
They plop down in your sweetie's lap.
Blase, they never mind your curses
Although, of course, what seems much worse is
How they mumble, snear and pout
And growl when you go in or out.

Congress Should Aid Voluntary Mergers by the Railroads

The report of the Interstate Commerce Commission suggesting the merger of all our railroads into 21 groups, is a step towards the creation of a true American transportation system.

When that system is finally formed it will consist of a union of carriers by rail, ocean, river, lake, highway and air, all welded into a great machine for public service.

It is a fair criticism to the commission's plan to say that the commission is not qualified to to draw up such a plan. It is a body intended and selected to supervise, not to create. Its proper job in the field of mergers is to examine the proposals of railroads themselves and apply to them the test of public interest. If they pass the test, the mergers should be approved.

Consolidations should accord with the natural development of business and the natural flow of traffic. Railroads naturally seek unions along these lines. When formed, they are profitable to the roads and can be and should be profitable to the public served. It is not likely that unions as advantageous can be dictated by a governmental body of regulators.

Hence it is not surprising to find the commission's recommendations weakened by a string of dissenting reports by its members, with further dissents announced for publication later. It is not surprising that the entire document is rejected by the commission's chief adviser in these matters, Prof. William Z. Ripley, of Harvard, who prepared for them a widely published consolidation plan in 1921.

It is fair to say that the commission recognized its own unfitness for the job imposed on it by the transportation act of 1920. It has repeatedly asked to be freed from the task of proposing these consolidations. The commission ought, therefore, not to be offended if its suggestions are treated as nothing more than the starting point and occasion of further discussions and proposals by the railroads themselves. The public should regard the commission's report as important only in this respect.

Congress should do nothing to make the commission's plan as a whole binding in any way. It should offer every encouragement to the progress of voluntary consolidation by the roads themselves, subject to the commission's stringent investigation and approval.

Get Big Racketeers in Drive Against Lotteries!

If Public Safety Director Clark succeeds in his so-called crusade to wipe out the clearing-house lotteries, all well and good. But if the crusade reaches only the small-fry operators and neglects those racketeers who might have political influence, not much will have been accomplished.

Director Clark probably has heard the rumors of the last two months that the same powerful influences which control the slot-machine ring were to take over the clearing-house racket. He should see to it, then, that the current drive does not, in effect, simply clear the field for the political racketeers.

Foster Is Given Honor; Memorial Plans Grow

Coincident with observance of the one hundred and fourth anniversary of the birth of Stephen Collins Foster, composer of heart melodies, under the auspices of the Civic Club of Allegheny County and the Tuesday Musical Club, the latter organization has made public a sketch and description of the Foster Memorial, sponsored by the club.

The architect's drawing shows that it will be an attractive structure, to be erected as a unit of the Cathedral of Learning of the University of Pittsburgh. The main part of the building is to be an auditorium with capacity to seat 1,200 persons. In a wing will be a library of music by Foster and other Pittsburgh composers.

It is a fine thing, this recognition given to Foster, reflected in exercises at the grave of the composer, an organ recital by Dr. Heinroth, program of Foster music by the Tuesday Musical Club and a radio broadcast. More significant will be the enduring memorial that will symbolize the living qualities of the simple Foster tunes that have touched the world with love and pathos.

Those Kindly Turks

Use Advanced Method of Obtaining Confessions.

Lawyers have been trying to get American police to abandon third-degree methods—the traditional beating of prisoners to obtain confessions.

From Constantinople comes news of a more advanced method of obtaining confessions. A prisoner told the court that he had confessed to things that were not true because the police commissioner called him to look upon a platter of chicken with rice, a dish of applesauce and a bowl of dessert. The prisoner told how he immediately agreed to an elaborate confession in order to enjoy the offered dinner.

Turks, not generally credited with tender-heartedness, appear to advantage when compared to American police in the technique of confession torture. It is much nicer to sit down to a platter of chicken than to take a crack on the jaw. There is something decent and sporting about the Turkish approach to trickery.

Aroused to Action

Senators Investigate Questionable Literature.

Few of us appreciate the zest with which United States Senators sometimes approach their work. Right now, for example, party differences are cast aside in a sudden determination to delve deeply, cost what it may in time and energy. We refer to the matter of censorship of questionable literature by customs guards.

By two votes it was decided, some time ago, to abolish this form of censorship. But Senator Reed Smoot unselfishly assigned himself to make a complete study of the issue and perhaps call for another vote. So he arranged for the Customs Bureau to supply him with 739 columes of blacklisted literature, with naughty passages marked.

Majority Leader Watson then did a noble thing—he volunteered to help Smoot study smut, and even offered to take some of the books home with him over Christmas. Other Senators hurried to Smoot's office, eager to do what they could about naughty literature. And the least they could do was read it.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

DOES life bore you?

Same old grind—same old story, day in and day out, year after year. No variety for you, and you can't seem to make any difference.

You express yourself as not having time to do the things that would bring a deviation from the monotony. But why always think of time and money when you contemplate a change in your line of endeavor, thought and enjoyment?

If it is a fact that you do not make enough money to get recreation of the sort you most wish, why not get enjoyment out of less expensive things? Is it sensible to refuse to enjoy anything because you cannot do just what you would like to do?

Few persons can do exactly as they wish, regardless of the money and time question. Yet the world is full of those who do get a lot of good times out of just living.

What a lot of happiness you miss by taking such an attitude that you won't enjoy anything if you can't play when and where you please. You can make your own good time depending upon your point of view.

Why think of money as being so necessary to enjoyment of life?

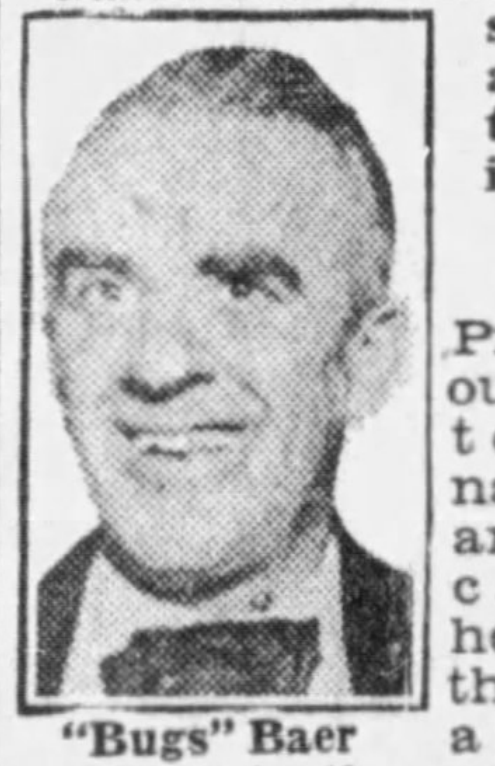
"Bugs" Baer Says:

The Cradle Rocks Again

THE old Colonial dignity of our New England boiled states is is now about 90-proof.

Indignation over the Coast Guard has reached the manuscript state and the patriots are up in signatures.



"Bugs" Baer

Unless the President asks our Coast Guard to join the naval parley we are going to cancel that health trip to the seashore and do our drinking in the mountains.

Thanks to the machine-gunning along the rock-bound detours of the Atlantic the collecting of sea-shells is now listed as a major sport and frowned upon by the Life Extension Bureau.

The reparations board has raised the semi-annual premium on clam digging and other hazardous occupations and we advise the Maine lobster fishermen to carefully remove the claws and labels.

New England only gets angry at the rate of one grouch per century. But when she does she makes the torch of Liberty look like a child playing with matches.

But we do know that a coast guardsman is a public servant and that we ain't the lunch for his dinner hour.

It is the duty of the Coast Guard to protect our rugged shore line against invasion. Also against breakage and evaporation in transit.

When an American citizen staggers by he is entitled to all the honors of peace and the royal salute of a clay pigeon.

If he has a bottle in his hand that means nothing. He may be the official launcher in a busy shipyard.

If that citizen is skimming the waves in a deep-dish dory no revenue cutter has the authority to caress him with a two-ton torpedo. The freedom of the seas has been guaranteed by pen, pencil and eraser and should include bays, peninsulas and shore dinners.

The last time New England got real hot was in 1776 and there wasn't a cheer in the Navy that didn't have a nasal twang.

NO further word having been received from the test-tube endeavoring to extract the secret of longevity out of "royal jelly," we must conclude that Dr. Banting hasn't YET isolated the peculiar element which enables QUEENS to live so much longer than COMMON bees.

But, depend upon it, science won't indefinitely permit a mere insect to monopolize such PRECIOUS knowledge.

When the riddle IS solved, we'll probably learn that some universally-present field plant conceals the extension ladder upon which we may ALL some day climb beyond the Biblical "threescore and ten" allotment of years.

Meanwhile, other snoopers are fast looting Nature of her closest-held formulae and laying bets that the Twentieth Century will graduate from the construction of MECHANICAL robots into the manufacture of plastic creatures.

IN brief, chemistry DARES to prophesy the artificial production of animal tissue—and PERHAPS synthetic animals.

That STILL animate chicken embryo which Carrel evolved at the Rockefeller Institute, certainly lends support to recent claims that the sources of vitality are NOT supernatural.

The authors of Frankenstein and The Golem may have built better than they knew, in their respective adaptations of the Pygmalion legend—just as Jules Verne and Edward Bellamy UNWITTINGLY wrote textbooks in the belief that they were stretching imaginations to the BREAKING POINT.

No wonder the publishers of the Encyclopedia Britannica found it necessary to pitch half the contents of previous editions into the "hell-box."

EVEN that supposed KNOW-IT-ALL was so out of line with development, that it required cover-to-cover revision to bring it back in step with the fast-moving procession of thought.

But encyclopedias, however authoritative, can never again be mobile enough to capture the latest facts or phases in ANY field.

Therefore, if you haven't painstakingly followed the NEWS, you're not YET aware:

That raw vegetables are now available for diabetics:

That a process has been discovered to change the deadly carbon monoxid from automobile exhausts into harmless carbon dioxid:

OR that sound has been translated into light waves for communication with the deaf, and also trained to detect the chemical constituency of liquids.

We're building radio back-fences over which Australia and Kansas nightly exchange neighborhood gossip.

We're gradually conquering EVERY problem but the CUSSEDNESS OF HUMAN NATURE and the don't-give-a-damnness of ninety-nine per cent of folk EVERYWHERE who have never exercised a single latent ability and apparently can't be inspired by example, opportunity or self-advantage to use initiative, or give originality the SLIGHTEST chance to better their lot.

If one person out of TEN were thinking as hard as one out of a HUNDRED, there wouldn't be a social grouch, a disease, an inequality, or a pessimist left on earth.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

ANOTHER kind of cephalopod, the pearly nautilus, is found swimming near the bottom round the shores and coral reefs of the South Pacific—it lives in a beautifully coiled spiral shell, a shell very different in structure from the perambulator shell of the female argonaut, and its numerous tentacles are not provided with suckers.

The fossils known as ammonities are the spirally coiled shells of a vast parallel group of cephalopods that has long been extinct.

H. G. Wells

The cephalopods breathe by rhythmically inhaling and exhaling water into and out of a large "mantle cavity," where it passes over their plume-like gills. By suddenly ejecting water from this cavity they can squirt themselves rapidly backward; this is their method of flight from danger.

The cuttlefish have an ingenious additional method of evading their enemies, depending upon their astonishing powers of rapidly changing color—powers that put a chameleon to shame—and upon the inky fluid, sepia, which they can emit when they wish.

A closely pressed cuttlefish tries at first to mislead its pursuers by changing as it flees from white to dark brown, then to a mottled color and so on. If these devices should fail it has another resource.

First it becomes very dark indeed, and for a few seconds remains so. Then abruptly it turns off to one side, escaping in a direction at right angles to its original line of flight; as it does so it suddenly turns white and at the same time it belches out a puff of sepia, which travels away in the opposite direction.

The pursuer, which has been chasing a dark object, follows the black puff; by the time it has realized its mistake the cuttlefish has made good its escape.

These cephalopods are undoubtedly the most intelligent looking invertebrates. They have well-developed and grimly expressive eyes, and the subtle coiling movements of their arms and the rapid and very striking color changes that they undergo when stalking their prey or when pursued are suggestive of mental accompaniments.

Observers who have watched the very elaborate courtship of these animals or who have noted the voluptuous writhings of the tips of their arms when a hungry octopus devours its prey find it easy to believe that these creatures can experience a rich variety of intense emotions—though it must be admitted that we have as yet no clear evidence of memory or forethought on the part of a cephalopod.

Echinoderms; Nature's Pentagonal Experiment.

MOST of the animals that we have considered so far bear a certain very crude resemblance to ourselves in the way their bodies are laid out.

But with the phylum Echinodermata things are different: with a few exceptions they do not know front and back, right and left. They are not bilaterally symmetrical, as we are. They do not "look before and after." One cannot imagine oneself a starfish or a sea urchin however hard one exerts one's mind.

A starfish consists of a number of arms—usually five—radiating out from a central disc—but the so-called "arm" of a starfish is no more like our own arms than a lobster's "liver" is like our livers—indeed, hollow as it is and containing viscera, it is more like a belly than an arm.

Its mouth is exactly in the middle of that disc, on the lower side, on which it crawls; its anus is in the middle of the upper surface.

Its mouth opens into a loose, baggy stomach; that leads into a short intestine; from the intestine 10 long branches run off, two into each arm—branches not unlike the liver of a lobster, for the finer food-particles go into them to be digested and absorbed.

If we turned a starfish on to its back we should notice five broad grooves radiating away from its mouth, and one running along the whole length of each arm; in each groove there is a serried double or quadruple row of little tubes that end in suckers.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Custom spies have garnered a rich harvest this season. Such snoopers are found where you least expect them—the casual passenger, deck chair neighbor on ship board, the humble clerk abroad, hotel porter, femme de chambre, barmen and others working where people gather.

In a way, the government is forced to this unworthy espionage, for it is the only way to cope with smuggling. The informer is paid 25 per cent of the fine imposed for information, and in no instance is his identity revealed to those whom he betrays.

Thus the valet or nurse in a wealthy family may keep tab on purchases abroad, file the list with officials and receive a handsome reward without even losing his job. Clerks in European jewelry houses are the biggest profiteers in getting their divvy of smuggling fines.

Even in reputable establishments clerks have been known to jockey customers into a trap. They whisper ways and means for evading duties and immediately dispatch information to proper authorities and later receive the rewards of their treachery.

The biggest smuggling malefactors—outside of the professionals—are the extremely rich. They are forever taking chances and forever being caught. At times they are permitted to get away with loot for several voyages and then one day their baggage is sealed and carted off to warehouses.

Custom inspectors and appraisers are usually tolerant with petty infractions. Each passenger is permitted to bring in dutiable goods to the amount of $100. But where frugal passengers have saved for years for the Big Splurge and bring in a trifle above that amount the official eye is winked.

Human equation governs custom inspection. The professional is shown no mercy. If he has offended before, he is taken into the inspection quarters, stripped, and often detained 24 hours incommunicado. His luggage goes under a microscopic examination.

Those who have dallied with a champagne cocktail and potato chips at the 5 o'clock hour in the intimate and stuffy room of the Ritz lady's bar in Paris are again transplanted into that atmosphere in the New York theater this winter. Two sophisticated comedies—the sort dubbed "smart"—reproduce the scene accompanied by the usual accolade of wise cracks exploding there.

Where the Knickerbocker hotel bar stood 15 years ago is a drug store. In the old bar one thirsty noon time I recall receiving a bartender's scowl for asking for a lemonade. The other day in about the same spot I asked for a lemonade and received a soda jerker's smile. And yet there are those who say prohibition has made no changes.

* * *

I like to reminisce about the Knickerbocker. The place is haloed with first thrilling memories of New York. In its lobby I saw Caruso swing out the revolving door, a feather in his green Homberg hat and his cane held in the military fashion he affected, for his afternoon stroll on the avenue. I lunched there once with Weber and Fields and it was at the Knickerbocker I learned to call a napkin a "serviette"—that is in those moments when I am putting on the lug. Its dining room taught me the charming mysteries of encasserole dishes and also the menu name for chicken under glass. And the Knickerbocker had the grandest gold embossed stationery of all the hotel writing rooms into which I dropped to write to brag to the folks how I was getting on.

Harris Merton Lyon, that brave literary spirit whose span was so tragically brief, introduced me to my first pousse cafe at the Knickerbocker. I watched the expert barman build it tenderly and carefully into its rainbow beauty, downed it at a gulp and strolled outside to watch Times Square turn a somersault.

If they can forget this one, they are honys.
